COL. M'CORMICK TELLS HIS CREED FOR AMERICANS

Offers Confession of Faith.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15 [Special].—Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, presented his creed of Americanism and his views on international affairs in an address today before the Detroit Athletic club. He advocated a forthright and realistic foreign policy based on this nation being true to itself, and he called for an amendment to the United States Constitution limiting the number of terms a President may serve.

"Last spring I was invited to address this meeting," he said. "Then, a few weeks ago, letters from some of the members protesting my coming were sent to me. A few days later a friend called on me and suggested that I speak on inflation or on labor conditions in war plants.

"I replied that I am no authority on either subject and that insofar as I am known at all it is for my opinions on Americanism and international affairs.

Clears Up Misrepresentations.

"He then observed that these were difficult subjects in your club because a number of your members are from Windsor. I then said that if I should speak in Detroit I should wish to present my views and the information upon which they were based in the fullest possible form so there could be no further misapprehension as to my opinions—and especially would I like to do so before the members from Windsor because their press, under the censors' control, has been compelled to misrepresent them.

"Let this then be my confession of faith:

"I believe in the American political doctrine as conceived by the great Virginia philosophers, as expressed by Thomas Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence, codified in the Constitution, perfected in the Bill of Rights, interpreted by John Marshall, and expounded by Abraham Lincoln.

Favors Fixed Presidential Term.

"Since later amendments have extended the Bill of Rights to all citizens, I see the need of but one more amendment—a provision to limit the Presidential term.

"Lincoln, at Gettysburg, epitomized our American doctrine when he said: 'Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.'

"I believe in this doctrine—all of it. I believe in the first principle of the Declaration of Independence, 'that all men are created equal,' as strongly as the men who wish to rule others and those who buy into the foreign nobility—and their hangers-on—disbelieve in it.

Haven of Equality.

"Millions of men have come to this country in search of equality. Some thousands have gone abroad to avoid it and to assert arrogant superiority over the many by accepting servile subserviency to the few. Many of them are back here now as refugees and prating, of all things, of patriotism.

"Where else in this world will you find the doctrine that all men are created equal? Perhaps in Switzerland and possibly in Norway. Elsewhere the doctrine of superiors domineering over inferiors is universal.

"The doctrine of equality never was attained in France. Oceans of blood were shed in the attempt to establish it, but every Frenchman retains in his own mind his own particular place upon the social ladder. That is why the French republic could not last.

German Marriages Dissolved.

"During the period of the German republic the courts held that marriages contracted between the high born and the low born were illegal.

"I believe that 'all men are created with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.'

"At times of clear and present danger, these rights have to be suspended where the danger exists. Many lives are taken in war. When our fleet was surprised and de-

HOPKINS GETS REFRIGERATOR; HOSPITAL CAN'T

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Rep. Alvin F. Weichel [R., O.] took the floor of the house today to inquire mildly if the freshness of Harry Hopkins' butter and eggs is considered more important by government agencies than the health of hospital patients.

The apparent answer was in the affirmative, Weichel said, and proceeded to tell a story of the ease with which Hopkins, President Roosevelt's right hand man, obtained a brand new refrigerator for his new home in Washington while Weichel was vainly endeavoring to get a similar refrigerator for the Good Samaritan hospital in his Sandusky, O., district.

Refrigerator Waits for Hopkins.

Hopkins hasn't moved from the White House into his new home yet, Weichel remarked, but the refrigerator is there waiting for him. He showed a picture of the large, gleaming white cabinet to interested members. The photo was a part of a display of the charms of the Hopkins dwelling printed in a national magazine.

Under WPB rulings household refrigerators are generally unavailable for ordinary citizens. They are reserved for army and navy use and for the use of army or navy personnel or war workers going into public housing units.

"While Mr. Hopkins was securing his refrigerator without any apparent trouble, I was trying to get one for the hospital, the facilities of which have been taxed to the utmost in caring for the sick among the thousands of extra war workers in my district," Weichel said.

Told to Get Ice Box.

"The hospital's application to Washington for a refrigerator to preserve food for the sick and infirm was rejected and I was asked to intervene. The agency informed me domestic refrigerators are not being allotted to hospitals.

"When I asked what could be done, I was told to get an old fashioned ice box and get deliveries of ice. The latter is impossible. The hospital is unable to find a person willing to go out on Lake Erie and chop out a cake of ice.

"I was already pretty disgusted with this attitude when I happened to see the pictures of Hopkins' brand new electric refrigerator for his new home in Georgetown. For some reason, my constituents can't understand why the freshness of Hopkins' groceries comes ahead of the food for the sick and infirm."

Butcher Tells About a Steak OPA Forgot

Whether there is a cut of meat called a pinbone porterhouse was debated yesterday in an office of price administration hearing at which attorneys and investigators for the OPA, and attorneys and witnesses for the respondents, verbally dissected a carcass of beef with minute precision.

The respondents were Henry Fields and Lewis Abrahams, owners of the Community Grocery markets, which operates meat markets in Winnetka, Lake Forest, and Highland Park. The hearing was the last of six, filling more than 1,000 typewritten pages of testimony.

Ceiling Violation Charged.

The OPA charged that the Lake Forest market had sold a pinbone steak [ceiling price 44 cents a pound] to an OPA investigator for the porterhouse ceiling price, which is 53 cents.

Experts in meat cutting were placed on the stand. John A. Wadd, a meat price specialist for the OPA, pointed out on a colorful chart where a pinbone steak comes from and the origin of porterhouses.

Ah—Pinbone Porterhouse!

John Waber, the butcher accused of selling the meat to the OPA investigator, Miss Celia Obeler, then testified. He also employed charts.

"There is a definite area of a beef carcass which produces pinbone steaks, and an equally definite area yielding porterhouse steaks," he asserted. "But at the junction of the two areas there is one steak which is neither porterhouse nor pinbone. That, gentlemen, is a pinbone-porterhouse.

"And that is what I sold the young lady."

The OPA decision will be announced later.

RECORD CITED FOR REASON TO DISTRUST F. D. R.

Yank Voting Bill Stirs Tempers.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—President Roosevelt's capture of the third term nomination at the 1940 Democratic convention in Chicago was cited today as justification for lack of confidence in the President during a hot tempered senate debate that brought from Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] the exclamation:

Sen. Scott Lucas.

Sen. E. H. Moore.

"White House palace guard! God, that's all I've heard in the last year around here—the White House palace guard."

The "palace guard" is the designation by critics for the Roosevelt advisers they credit with operating the government from behind the scenes.

Says G. O. P. Is Afraid.

Sen. Lucas said—boasted, according to the Republicans—that the Republicans are afraid of President Roosevelt.

The debate, which senators said was as savage as they have heard in the senate chamber in many years, began with an address by Sen. E. H. Moore [R., Okla.] on the recent senate defeat of Sen. Lucas' bill to place the machinery for balloting by the fighting services in the hands of President Roosevelt.

Sen. Moore questioned the advisability of permitting a possible fourth term candidate to control the soldier vote system and charged that the 1940 Democratic convention had flouted a cherished national precedent against a third term "to satiate the greed of a man ambitious for more power." Sen. Moore also warned that the nation is in danger of a "fourth term dictatorship that can never be dislodged short of revolt."

Calls Bill Illegal.

Sen. Moore explained that he had voted against the Lucas bill because it was unconstitutional, altho he was a warm advocate of voting privileges for service personnel.

"All the sparring and maneuvering in connection with this voting bill has been partisan," Sen. Moore said. "It became so definitely partisan that bitterness developed, which is lamentable and inevitable. The direction of the voting machinery finally was left in the hands of the President [in the bill], who will presumably be a candidate to succeed himself. This in itself is unprecedented, to say the least.

"If it be urged that to raise this question manifests a lack of confidence in the President, I cite his record concerning nominations and elections that he has heretofore been conected with as a possible justification for not having full confidence in him with respect to elections.

"I cite the spectacle of the so-

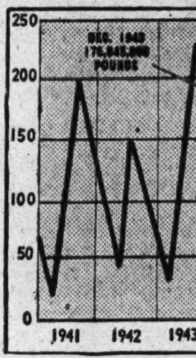
BUTTER IN STORAGE SETS DECEMBER HIGH; MEAT HOLDINGS RISE

Cold storage holdings of butter in the nation totaled 176,045,000 pounds on Dec. 1, a record high for December, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. The supply a year ago was 45,937,000 pounds and it was 211,229,000 pounds on Nov. 1, this year. Almost all the stocks are held by government agencies.



The graph shows cold storage holdings of butter in millions of pounds.

Other produce holdings on Dec. 1 included 1,762,000 cases of eggs, compared with 1,170,000 a year earlier; American cheese, 177,110,000 pounds, compared with 134,332,000, and 197,382,000 pounds of poultry, against 193,263,000.

[Flouting of economic laws assailed by dairy association manager. Story on page 39.]

Substantial increases in cold storage holdings of meat above the Nov. 1 totals were shown also by the department's report of supplies on Dec. 1.

Beef totaled 183,096,000 pounds, the largest stocks since Jan. 1, 1937, and the biggest Dec. 1 total since 1919. The Nov. 1 total was 134,684,000 pounds.

Lamb and mutton holdings were 31,074,000 pounds, the biggest since last January and the second largest on record for Dec. 1.

Pork stocks increased from 341,432,000 pounds Nov. 1 to 376,072,000. This total compared with 291,841,000 a year ago, and was the second largest for Dec. 1 since 1936.

BIG BOMB PLANT AFIRE; DAMAGE IN THE MILLIONS

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 15 (AP)—Stocks of magnesium valued at several million dollars were destroyed as the incendiary bomb casing plant of the Austin Bridge company burned tonight with dazzling white flames casting a glow which could be seen 70 miles away.

There were no reports of injuries. Reports from Camp Howze, near Gainesville, 70 miles northward, and from Decatur, Tex., 65 miles north and west, said the blaze was discernable there.

J. W. Williams, engineer of the plant, said that thousands of completed bomb cases were burning in the machine shop.

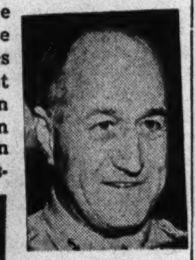
The fire started in the foundry, where the magnesium is melted and molded into rough shapes for the shell cases, at a time when most of the workmen were out to dinner. Explosions sent chunks of blazing metal into the air, sometimes more than a block.

U. S. Mission Talks Oil and War in Arabia

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 15.—Into Saudi Arabia, home of almost the last absolute monarch, the United States has sent its first military mission at the invitation of King Ibn Saud. The mission's purpose is said to involve such subjects as the modernization of the Arabian army, the installation of signal equipment, the improvement of public health, and the further extension of United States influence, already strong thru its oil interests, to include possible lend-lease arrangements.



Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce.

King Ibn Saud.

Recalls Exchange of Visits.

The arrival of the American military mission, headed by Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce, middle east commander, was considered of unusual importance in the oil rich Arabian peninsula for it was the first time in many years that foreign military personnel had been received in the closely guarded kingdom. It underscores the visit of an emissary of President Roosevelt last summer and the subsequent visit to the United States of two of the king's sons.

[The visit of the two Arabian princes was recalled Tuesday when a demand for a congressional investigation of the oil situation was voiced. The two princes had been entertained in Washington several weeks ago by Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, who was President Roosevelt's emissary on a visit to Saudi Arabia last summer. In an address in the house Rep. John M. Coffee [D., Wash.] said Hurley had been general counsel, "and, for all I know still is, of the Sinclair Oil company."]

Gen. Royce and his mission of 11 arrived in the diplomatic capital of Jidda last Saturday and were received in regal fashion. Royce, his aide, Maj. John W. Dregge, and Maj. R. L. Putnam returned here Monday, leaving the remainder of the mission headed by Col. Alton W. Howard of the inspector general's office, who expected to stay on for several weeks.

Others in Museum.

Others in the mission include Col. Charles N. Bellim, economics expert; Lt. Col. Robert J. Halliday of the signal corps; Maj. Joseph Waldman, medical corps, and Lt. William A. Kaliff, interpreter.

After an audience at 10 a. m. Sunday, Royce, American oil representatives, the American minister, and British ambassador were entertained at night with a sumptuous state banquet amid the oriental splendor of the royal palace. The table for 50 was laden with 10 whole sheep and numerous Arabian dishes, but all visitors observed the royal Moslem custom of abstaining from alcoholic drink and tobacco.

Some Americans were especially favored by drawing the Arabian piece de resistance, a dash of sheeps' eyes. Out of respect for all his guests, the 63 year old king used knives and forks.

Robes to Guests.

Saud, in true Arabian hospitality, bestowed an exquisite camel's hair robe and a cashmere headdress bound with strands of camel's hair and adorned with gold knobs of the nobility upon each member of the mission. Royce also received a wristwatch adorned with the king's name and a gold and gem encrusted saber. Gold daggers were given to several members of the mission.

Gen. Royce's gift to the king was equipment for a radio installation, a commentary on this monarch's interest in improving his kingdom with western ideas. Royce also suggested that this would be a good time for the king to send some of his subjects to the United States for education in our universities which are not now crowded.

Gen. Royce had hoped to be the first to take the king for an airplane ride, but the king said he did not believe it wise to ride in a military plane at this time and deferred to his brother and four ministers.

Green Studies Calling Session on Soldier Vote

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Gov. Dwight H. Green intimated yesterday that he will call a special session of the legislature to enact laws to facilitate absentee voting in the November general election by men in the military service. He warned, however, that action may be impracticable if the Democrats delay their national convention too long.

The governor, while eager to provide voting facilities for all men in service, said he will not call a special session to amend the primary election laws so as to allow more time for mailing ballots overseas. It now is too late to take that action, he said.

Democratic Coöperation Necessary.

Gov. Green made his decision about the April primary after conferring with election law experts. His decision did not take into account the difficulties which might be encountered at an early special session if the Democrats did not favor the proposed changes. Two-thirds of the members of the senate and house must support emergency legislation to make it effective, and this would require many Democratic votes.

Under the Illinois constitution, if Gov. Green were to issue a call for a special session today, the legislature could not convene until Jan. 17. That date would be later than the first date in a proposed primary election calendar which was advanced 30 days to allow sufficient time for ballots to be sent to Australia, India, and other far off places, and returned.

All Dates Must Harmonize.

The present election calendar sets Feb. 5 as the first day for filing petitions for county offices, senatorial committeemen, and Municipal court judges. Were the calendar to be pushed up a month, these filings would open on Jan. 5—12 days before a special session could be convened.

"Unless all of the 20 dates in the election calendar were brought forward, the whole election machinery would be thrown out of gear and the result would be a mess," said John F. Tyrrell, veteran student of election laws and vice chairman of the Republican state central committee.

Strike of 2,000 Clerks Looms in Montreal

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 15 (AP).—The metropolis of Montreal, its population of 890,000 making it Canada's largest city, pulled safely thru a spectacular 14 hour strike of some 5,000 police, firemen, and public works employes today, but tonight faced a new difficulty, a threatened strike of 2,000 municipal clerks.

These workers, members of the National Syndicate of Municipal Workers, asked pay increases of about $500 a year which they expected the other departments to get, and they set 3 p. m. tomorrow as a deadline for their demands to be met.

The strike of the city's service employes was called off early this morning when city officials agreed to recognize the Canadian Congress of Labor as bargaining agent for the three departments.

Report Two Commissioners Quit.

There were reports tonight that at least two members of the government appointed municipal commission had tendered resignations because of dissatisfaction with the strike settlement.

The settlement was described by J. O. Asselin, chairman of the Montreal executive committee, as "the most disgraceful surrender and the most shameful abuse of power ever perpetrated by the provincial authority in this province."

"It means complete discredit of the authority of the Quebec [province] municipal commission and its trusted officers," he said, and added that it also meant the "guillotine" for Honore Parent, director of city services.

Raises Subject to Negotiation.

Parent had said earlier that the pay increases which had been offered the strikers no longer applied since the CCL had been granted recognition as their bargaining agent—the only issue at stake originally—unless agreed upon at collective bargaining negotiations.

CCL Organizer Paul Marquette declared that a proposed contract, including union demands and the $500 annual increase, would be presented to the city.

U. S. ACTS WHEN UNIONS VOTE DEC. 30 TIEUP

Officials to Meet in Chicago Monday.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 15 (AP).—The national mediation board acted today in an effort to avert a nationwide rail walkout which operating railroad brotherhoods set earlier in the day to start Dec. 30.

A. F. Whitney.

The board, in Washington, D. C., invited railroad officials and leaders of the 350,000 unionists—97.7 per cent of whom voted for a walkout to enforce demands for wage increases—to meet Monday in Chicago.

"Strike Against Inflation."

Presidents of the five brotherhoods, declaring this was "a strike against inflation for the privileged few and deflation for the many," announced they would attend. John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, said in Washington the carriers also had accepted the board's invitation. He said he "just couldn't see a nation-wide railroad strike."

[The railroad brotherhoods are free to strike when they please, having complied with all provisions of the railway labor act for handling disputes. Demands for a 30 per cent wage increase, with a minimum increase of $3 a day, were submitted by the unions to the railroads last Jan. 25. Negotiations, begun Feb. 15 in Chicago, were broken off twice. An emergency board held hearings in New York between June 7 and Sept. 10 and recommended, President Roosevelt announced Sept. 28, an increase of 4 cents an hour—32 cents a day. The unions rejected the increase, but the railroads put it into effect "in order to comply with the law."]

"Aware" of Strike's Effect.

The brotherhood presidents, declaring they were "thoroughly aware" of a strike's "immediate effects," contended "in the long run" such action "will redound both to the military success of the war and the present and post-war welfare of the common people of this nation."

The presidents are A. F. Whitney of the trainmen, D. B. Robertson of the firemen and enginemen, Alvanley Johnston of the locomotive engineers, H. F. Fraser of the railway conductors, and T. C. Cashen of the switchmen.

"It is a strike against inflation for the privileged few and deflation for the many," they asserted in a joint statement, adding that the railroad workers "do not believe that swollen railroad earnings, larcenous profiteering, soaring prices, and depressed real wages are necessities of the war effort.

"Frantic and Cheap."

"They inhere in the nature of things only when congress passes bad laws and administrators interpret good ones wrongly and execute them badly. All the frantic and cheap appeals to patriotism issued by the offices of war mobilization and war stabilization cannot obscure this issue."

The strike was ordered to start at 6 a. m. Thursday, Dec. 30, affecting approximately "one-fourth of the nation's railroads," and to spread to other groups of railroads the same time each of the three succeeding days. Such plans now are being printed and will be mailed tomorrow to union officials, the brotherhoods announced.

The 15 nonoperating unions, including machinists, clerks, and others who do not run trains, also have taken a strike ballot, but are awaiting final congressional action on a resolution which would give them a raise of 8 cents an hour—the same amount vetoed by Fred M. Vinson, stabilization director, after it was recommended last May by an emergency board.

DOUBT UNIONS WILL STRIKE.

Altho a strike date has been set, leading Chicago railroad officials yesterday said they doubted there would be a walkout. Even should the national mediation board fail to bring about a settlement, they said it is unlikely that the Washington administration would permit the railroads to be idle during the war.

RUSSIANS LINK 2 DNIEPER FORCES; WIN 65 MILE LINE

Join Bridgeheads; Nazis Report 2 Red Drives.

LONDON, Dec. 16 [Thursday]—(AP).—The Russians announced early today that they had linked their Cherkasi and Kremenchug bridgeheads on the west bank of the middle Dnieper river, clearing the Germans from a 65 mile stretch of vital territory.

"Southeast of Cherkasi our troops, continuing the offensive, captured several populated places and joined hands with groups operating west of the town of Kremenchug," said the Moscow midnight war report, recorded here by the soviet radio monitor.

Seizure of the 65 mile line along the Dnieper gave the Russians control of a 250 mile stretch from Nikopol northwest to Cherkasi.

Meanwhile, the Nazis reported two powerful soviet drives had been launched in White Russia, while Moscow told of the capture of 18 more towns in the Ukraine, where the soviet tide rolled to within five miles of Smela, an important railway junction.

Repel Nazis on Kiev Front.

The Russians also reported that German forces pushing toward Kiev were rolled back from several populated places and that a soviet drive toward Kirovograd in the south Ukraine gained.

In their drive on Smela, the Russians seized a railway station only five miles from the Ukraine communications hub and now stand within easy artillery range of their goal. In hammering back German blows in the Kiev bulge south of Malin, 55 miles northwest of Kiev, the Red forces wrecked 48 German tanks and 97 trucks, in addition to seizing several hamlets. In scoring new gains toward Kirovograd, the Russians said they killed 1,400 Germans and destroyed 46 Nazi tanks.

Berlin said that for the second day large Russian forces attacked south of Nevel, where the Red army is only 70 miles from Latvia. The Germans admitted 16 waves of attack in one sector and conceded some breaches in their lines, but said these were "sealed off."

The second reported attack was northwest of Gomel, where 100,000 soviet troops and two tank brigades were said to be pushing toward the rail junction of Zhlobin, 10 miles west of advanced Russian positions.

Big Winter Drive Predicted.

On these German reports the Russians maintained silence, but the Moscow radio said:

"This winter will see a soviet offensive on a larger scale than ever before. Winter is a most convenient time for Red army operations, as the last two war winters have shown. It is the best time for outflanking movements, surprise raids, encirclement and annihilation of the enemy."

The Berlin radio and Stockholm dispatches said the Germans viewed the Russian offensive south of Nevel as a preliminary to a tremendous winter offensive south of Leningrad in an effort to drive a wedge to the Baltic sea.

Berlin quoted some military circles as seeing in this move an effort to lay the groundwork for other offensive thrusts by American and British troops into northern Europe.

The Moscow radio noted an increase in soviet aerial activity at Leningrad,

BRITISH COAL MINERS DEMAND A MINIMUM PAY OF $24 A WEEK

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Britain's 690,000 coal miners demanded immediate wage increases ranging up to $6 a week in some districts tonight. The mine workers federation's executive committee voted to press demands for a national minimum of $24 a week for underground adult workers and $22 weekly for surface workers.

If owners reject the demands, the federation announced it would call on a national wage tribunal to meet immediately and hand down a ruling before the miners hold a national conference scheduled for not later than Jan. 14.

There is no national minimum at present, but the Laborite Daily Herald said the present minimum for a normal work week without overtime averages about $16.60 for underground workers and $13.40 for those on the surface.

SHELLINGS HINT NEW LENINGRAD FLARE-UP: LANZA

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

[Regular contributor to the Field Artillery Journal and recognized authority on military matters.]

For a long time little has been heard from Leningrad. Now comes a Russian dispatch dated Dec. 6, complaining that German and Finn barbarians have, during the last many months, been shelling Leningrad dwellings. During the last three weeks, this had greatly increased. As there were no military objectives in the city, it was clear the enemy's object was to destroy habitations and kill peaceful people.

Last January a Russian offensive along the south side of Lake Ladoga broke the German lines east of Leningrad and cleared the road and railroad into that city. This ended a siege which had started in the autumn of 1941. It did not stop the investment of the city, which continued with the Finns to the north and the Germans to the south.

The road and railroad have had only restricted use, since these are close to the German lines and can be shelled. Still, Leningrad has since managed to get along fairly well.

Make Raids Only.

There has been little fighting this year on or anywhere near this front. From time to time each side has made a raid to assure itself that its opponent isn't preparing some kind of surprise. For a few hours the front would flare up. As soon as the desired information was obtained it quieted down.

When Russia complains there is a reason for it. She has taken lots of punishment without emitting a sound. Finland regularly reports small raids opposite Leningrad but has not mentioned any shelling.

The German lines are about 15 miles from Leningrad. No confirmation of the shelling comes from the Germans either, but that is no reason to doubt the Russian report. The Germans also must have a reason for such prolonged shelling. This costs considerable ammunition. With the great battles which have continued in central and south Russia for five months and with great intensity, it would have been natural to expect that as little ammunition as possible would be expended in inactive sectors.

May Foreshadow Attack.

It may indicate an intention to attack Leningrad. On the German side, the autumn would not be a good season for an offensive, for much of the ground is marshy and difficult to cross. After winter sets in this freezes over, and it then becomes very good country for operations. The Finns could attack at any time, but it would be hazardous to do so unless the Germans attacked simultaneously on their front.

Another reason for the German shelling might be that it is of an experimental nature, testing out new guns and shells.

Prior to this year, when the Germans were closer to Leningrad and actively besieging it, its citizens took an unusually active part in the defense and made their own tanks and ammunition. They so well succeeded in defending themselves as to win general admiration for their bravery. But they were not "peaceful." If they have now become so, as the Russian statement says, and no military objectives remain in that former great and wealthy city, this is a change.

It would be advantageous for the Germans to take Leningrad if they have the means to do it. It would shorten their lines, free troops for use elsewhere, remove a dangerous spot on their front, open land communication with Finland, and end Russian naval activity in the Gulf of Finland and the Baltic sea.

In view of the reported revival of activity in this sector, it will be worth while to watch it for future developments. The good winter season for action is at hand.

Cuspidors Hurled at Axis in Hotels' Salvage Drive

Curtain rods, scrub pails, metal waste baskets and cuspidors were thrown into the war scrap heap yesterday as Chicago area hotels began a special salvage drive. Such items were in addition to contributions of waste paper, fats and tin cans which hotels have been collecting as part of the WPB's continuous scrap campaign. The Greater Chicago Hotel association could not estimate the tonnage salvaged as each hotel sold its collection thru regular channels.

LASH 'SHAMEFUL CIO POLICIES' IN NAVY PLANE LAG

House Probers Rap Union Boss at Brewster.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—The major blame for production failures of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation was placed by a congressional committee today on "shameful and shortsighted" policies of CIO union leaders at the plants.

Thomas V. De Lorenzo.

The group, a house naval subcommittee investigating Brewster production, declared the union heads did a disservice to the country by impeding the output of vitally needed navy planes thru "strikes, slowdowns, work stoppages, and organized loafing."

"Power Drunk Leader" Cited.

Chiefly responsible, the report said, was Thomas V. De Lorenzo, president of the CIO local at the plant, whom the committee described as a "power drunk and irresponsible" leader who placed the right to call strikes and other union "prerogatives" above winning the war. Federal prosecution of De Lorenzo for making false statements under oath was demanded in the report.

The "sordid conditions" at Brewster, as detailed in the report, recalled production failures resulting from union interference at the huge Studebaker plant in Chicago. An expose by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE recently disclosed that slowdowns and idleness instigated by local CIO officials had cut Studebaker's production.

In the case of Brewster, the committee found that only one-third of the man power of the 22,000 employes was being used, and that consequently at least $2 or every $3 paid for labor by the navy under its cost plus plane contracts was "wasted."

Sleep, Gamble on Job.

"Persistent and continuous idleness became quite commonplace," the report said. "There were instances of gambling on the wings, and actual immorality. Workers spent long hours in washrooms and were often found asleep. Others spent their time fashioning personal articles such as fire screens and andirons out of government materials. Lewd pictures and jokes were printed on the interior of planes."

While blaming union heads chiefly for Brewster's failure, the committee found both the navy and the company management partly responsible.

The navy was charged with adopting a vacillating policy instead of insisting on a solution or carrying out its many threats to cancel its contracts. The report criticized Navy Secretary Frank Knox for commuting sentences of four Brewster guards [members of the coast guard] who were ordered imprisoned by court martial for failing to take their posts. The report said Knox' action was an invitation to irresponsible union leaders to defy the navy's authority in war time.

Hoarding of Workers Found.

The management, the report found, has been consistently weak and has hoarded workers.

The committee urged the navy and management to obtain revision of the present union contract to eliminate the union's "restrictive" powers to hire and fire workers and otherwise impede management. It also proposed that draft officials investigate all Brewster deferments and cancel those for unproductive workers.

The report asked the navy to investigate payments of "excessive" salaries to executives and called upon the justice department and navy to investigate possible sabotage hinted at in committee hearings.

The committee said the navy contracts should be canceled unless the present management, under Henry J. Kaiser meets production schedules. Kaiser has said he will increase output of Corsair fighter planes, Brewster's chief product, to 150 a month, compared with 28 in November.

POST-WAR PLANE DESIGN AWAITS PACT ON BASES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—In the absence of diplomatic decisions on the eventual use of American built military air fields thruout the world, aircraft builders cannot determine the type of commercial planes to build for post-war use, Wellwood E. Beall, vice president in charge of engineering of the Boeing Aircraft company, said at a press conference today.

"For example, air fields built on the west coast of Africa would be very valuable in intercontinental operations if American planes are allowed to use them," Beall said. "But if our air lines are not permitted to use those fields, we will have to design ships with much greater flying ranges."

British Work on Model.

Beall recently returned from England where he observed the performance of military aircraft built by his company. He said that while there, he learned the British Bristol Aircraft company already was working on a large transport plane for post-war commercial use.

The American 8th air force in England is "really slapping the Germans," Beall reported. He said there are increasing indications that the German air force is losing ground because of repeated bombing of aircraft factories and the plane losses sustained in battles.

American bomber pilots have developed evasive tactics to minimize the effect of the rockets with which German fighter planes have been equipped recently, Beall said. Further, the rocket tubes under the wings cut the speed of the enemy fighters by 50 to 70 miles an hour, making them easier targets for American gunners, he said.

Rocket Is Filmed.

Beall said the rocket devices on German fighters had been revealed in motion pictures taken by a Thunderbolt fighter. The plane was trailing a German ship when a burst of the Thunderbolt's machine gun fire set off a rocket on the German ship. The film showed the rocket leave the German plane and traced its trajectory, according to Beall.

"We can expect more drastic defensive measures from the Germans," Beall asserted. "Their inventive and scientific genius has paced most of the developments in allied weapons."

M. P.'S TOLD BRITAIN SEEKS PROPAGANDA TIE-UP WITH RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The government is doing everything it can to coördinate British propaganda with soviet propaganda, parliament was told today by Ernst Thurtle, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of information.

At the same time Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden asserted that he as well as American Secretary of State Cordell Hull had been consulted regarding the newly signed Czecho-Russian mutual security pact, and that he felt "it is desirable that treaties of this kind should be encouraged.' '

German propaganda has pooh poohed the treaty as invalid since no Czecho-Slovakian state exists, but cited the signing as proof that President Edward Benes had abandoned Britain as a protector and was being used by Russia as a spearhead for establishing her sphere of influence in Europe.

ROYALTY VISITS TO U. S. ARE AT ALL-TIME HIGH

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.] declared today the administration has entertained more royalty during the last two years "than in all the other years of this nation's history put together."

Conducting a mild form of filibuster against a bill to limit the filing of civilian suits for damages for frauds against the government and reducing the informer's collections from 50 to 10 per cent of such judgments, Langer got around to the Blair house, official residence for visiting notables.

He said "kings and queens and princes and duchesses and ex-kings, ex-queens, ex-princes, and ex-duchesses" have been having breakfast in bed there.

TARAWA LANDING STRIP FALLS ON 3D DAY OF DRIVE

Yanks Take No Prisoners in Pillbox Mop-Up.

[In the fifth of six dramatic stories Warrant Officer John F. Leopold, marine combat camera man, today tells how the American marines captured the air strip on Tarawa atoll in the Gilbert Islands of the South Pacific.]

BY WARRANT OFFICER JOHN F. LEOPOLD.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The third day at Tarawa was the day our men fanned out from our tiny beachhead. We flushed the Japs from cover or forced them to commit suicide. We took no prisoners. It was the Japs or the marines.

During the night more reënforcements had slipped in. More fought their way in at dawn. Amtracks towed in tanks and guns on rubber boats. Men carried 75 pack howitzers on their backs. Heavy stuff was being rolled in over the coral. Ammunition and plasma and rations were slipped in, and bulldozers were starting to clean away the rubble, working most of the time under heavy sniper fire.

The first dash was for the Japs' air strip—a strip of solid concrete a mile long. Our planes had bombed it mercilessly. It was pocked with shell craters. We hit some of their heavy bombers in the center of the field. Others were behind log and sand revetments. They kept their fighters at the end of the strip, and we splashed them to bits.

Take Half of Isle by Night.

All we held when the men started sneaking out at dawn was our dot on that beach covered with dead. By night we held half the island. We won it inch by inch, Jap by Jap.

It's strange how, when men know the chances are nine out of 10 they're going to die, they still go ahead. That's the way it was with those patrols that took the air strip.

The Japs had only beach defenses, but they had row after row of them behind their seawall, and we could not dent them.

A 16 inch shell hit the Jap command post on the northwest beach, the post that finally fell the third day and turned the tide our way. Its roof was six feet of concrete reënforced with steel rails. On top of that were four feet of oil drums filled with coral sand. On top of the drums was more sand.

Pillboxes Well Protected.

Their ammunition dumps were of reënforced concrete covered with sand, and their pillboxes were of concrete, coconut logs, corrugated iron, and sand-filled oil drums, layer on layer. They were connected by protected communicating trenches, and all their mobile equipment was underground.

We destroyed their big guns, their searchlights, every building except an aerial torpedo shelter near the air strip which we captured with seven intact aerial torpedoes inside.

We destroyed everything except the pillboxes and the bombproofs, and that's where the Japs were—in them, in holes, and strapped to the tops of the coconut palms.

That's the way it was when the drive for the airstrip started. The strip was halfway across the island, and concealed Jap machine guns mowed our men down as they slipped and twisted their way toward it. They moved out slowly, got machine gunned, and hit for cover, but they didn't stop.

Air Gray with Smoke.

On the way we passed a blazing Jap truck. It was loaded with ammunition. The Japs had set it on fire.

At the airstrip the air was gray with smoke and sand. You couldn't see 20 feet in front of you. We moved our medium tanks up and before it was over we hardly had any left. I don't think the Japs ever got any of their light tanks into operation. We found plenty of demolished ones.

One boy's pal was knocked down there on the strip. He raced back to the rear for a jeep, drove it back thru the thick of the firing, jumped out, picked up his pal and took him back to first aid.

I don't know how long the fighting lasted there. Hours maybe. Possibly 15 minutes. We were there, taking pictures, the smoke so thick we barely got any.

Try to Blast Pillboxes.

But two hours later the Seabees were on the strip, using bulldozers to dig coral to fill our shell craters. The Japs still had half the island.

During this time other patrols were out trying to flush the Japs from their pillboxes. They used flame throwers, TNT, and 75's. Nobody could go into one. It was suicide. The only thing you could do was blow them up—and we couldn't do that—or force them out.

The only way you knew a live Jap was in one was when he threw a grenade out or sniped at you.

They poured 10 gallons of gasoline into the entrance of one and fired it. The Japs shot out a rain of bullets. They dumped incendiary grenades, hand grenades, TNT, in it, and the Japs still fired out.

Finally eight live Japs came out. They'd been in there three days. Inside was one dead one. They came out shooting. They didn't live.

These Japs Died.

Our boys learned of another pillbox when a shot hit a man on the beach when it was considered safe. They fired hundreds of rounds at the opening. The Japs shot back at them. Several grenades were tossed in. The Japs shot back. They threw 12 sticks of dynamite on top of the mound. Smoke billowed up, and our boys closed in. The Japs fired out at them.

They used more dynamite. The explosion blew a helmet out of the mound. We thought every one was dead. Then out was tossed a hand grenade. Our men poured gasoline in the hole and ignited it. Out came more hand grenades.

Finally one of our interpreters crouched near the hole and yelled in to the Japs to surrender or be killed.

A minute later we heard a grenade boom from within. They had committed suicide. Why men would do that I can't figure out. If they're going to die for their country, why not take a couple of marines with them?

This Pillbox Was Tough.

The next day, when the island was practically secure, the men were checking all bombproofs. A captain and a corporal went into one thru its entrance, a hole about 2½ feet square. The corporal went first, and at a curve in the passageway the Japs got him.

The captain went back to the beach and got the Seabees and a bulldozer. They blocked the entrance in front with dirt and sand and went to work to cut a hole in the top.

That pillbox was something. The top was two layers of thick coconut logs covered with sand. Under that were 10 feet of sand. Then came a layer of oil drums filled with sand. Finally were more coconut logs, two logs deep. Outside as a stockade, logs and six feet of sand leveled to the top of the logs. Then more logs and more sand.

TNT Ends Japs.

It took the bulldozer about an hour and 45 minutes to get down to the final layer of logs on the roof and knock a hole in them. Then the marines piled hand grenades in.

The bulldozer drivers went back to work, thinking the Japs were dead, and removed three logs. A couple of Japs began shooting up from below. One shot nicked the helmet of a marine.

Then we dropped two dozen blocks of TNT into the hole and blew up the works. After that the bulldozer covered up the hole.

Each bombproof, we later learned when we got inside them, had many partitions. Each partition was an armored cell. That explained why we didn't kill all the Japs with those first firings of gasoline. The Japs went out one by one, and we moved on inch by inch.

[Concluded tomorrow.]

Burglars entered the home of Joseph O'Connor of 7839 South Wabash avenue, and took a $300 fur coat and men's clothing and luggage valued at $100 yesterday, he reported to police.

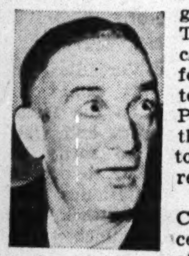
CARRIERS NEAR TRUK DARE JAP FLEET TO FIGHT

Saratoga's Skipper Tells of 'Guinea Pig Run.'



Capt. J. H. Cassady.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Literally daring the Japanese fleet to come out of its great base at Truk, an American carrier task force sailed close to that central Pacific island, but the Japs refused to fight, it was revealed today.

Capt. John H. Cassady of Spencer, Ind., skipper of the aircraft carrier Saratoga, told a press conference:

"We were sent up on 'guinea pig' runs on Truk trying to get the Japs to poke their noses out, but they stayed securely behind their nets in the harbor."

He declined to estimate how close the Saratoga sailed to the biggest Japanese base in the central Pacific, but said, "We went into areas where they normally run air searches, but I don't believe we were picked up."

Stronger Than Rabaul.

A veteran flyer, Cassady predicted that if the American campaign of pushing the Japanese back from the South Pacific should be carried to Truk, that enemy base will be found much more strongly defended than Rabaul.

He knows of the strength at Rabaul, for the Saratoga—dubbed "Saracobra" by her crew because she has proved deadly in action—participated in two air assaults on that Japanese base on New Britain Island.

As a result of the attacks, he said, the Japanese have abandoned use of Rabaul as a naval base. But, he added, Rabaul still is a potent base for air and land operations, with its three or more "excellent landing fields and probably large numbers of troops."

With loss of Rabaul as a naval base, Cassady said, the Japanese fleet has been "forced to withdraw from that part of the ocean." Presumably the warships blasted in Simpson Bay, principal harbor at Rabaul, moved back to Truk, 800 miles distant, for repairs.

Sank Two Warships.

Ultimate capture of Rabaul by allied forces would provide a long step toward immobilization of Truk and open the way for further advances into Japanese held territory. Cassady, apparently recognizing this, expressed the opinion that Rabaul will "make an excellent advance fleet base for us."

Now on temporary duty in Washington, Cassady told also of the record set in about a month by the Saratoga, her planes and her escorting warships, in destroying four enemy air fields, sinking two Japanese warships and damaging 12 others, shooting down 25 enemy planes and possibly 23 others and destroying 24 Japanese planes on the ground.

CHRISTMAS MAY BE WHITE FOR YANKS ABROAD

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—War news got second play today in "Stars and Stripes," the official U. S. army newspaper.

The big headline was "Ice cream sodas soon in European theater of operations." On page one was a picture of a heaping dish of ice cream with the caption, "I'm dreaming of a white Christmas."

Ice cream went off the market in England about a year ago. The army canteen announced ice cream freezers and ingredients were en route to Britain.

Oh, Yeah?

COL. M'CORMICK TELLS HIS CREED FOR AMERICANS

Offers 'Confession of Faith in Speech.

stroyed in Pearl Harbor, and great peril came upon the Hawaiian Islands and the Pacific coast, many liberties were suspended and many unavoidable injustices were done, but soon the American spirit asserted itself, the courts began to function, and liberty is being restored where it is due.

Held in Check by Courts.

"In other parts of the country, efforts to invoke arbitrary arrest and banishment were overcome. Attempts by the department of justice to imprison political dissentients have been defeated by the courts up to the present. The tyrannies of the unconstitutional alphabet-governments are meeting with increasing resistance and will be swept away.

"Compare this with all of the other warring countries, where imprisonment without warrant and without trial is universal.

"I believe that 'in all criminal prosecutions, the accused should enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed,' and I regret that our courts have seen fit to violate this amendment.

Recalls Personal Experience.

"I have personal reason to believe that 'no person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury.'

"I believe that governments should 'derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.'

"I believe in the republican form of government. I believe in an elective senate and house and an elective President, and that the President is President, not 'the chief of state' nor 'the ruler of America.'

"I believe in courts empowered to interpret the Constitution.

"I believe in separation of the powers of government into legislative, executive, and judicial, and in the right of the first to impeach the other two.

Opposes Titles of Nobility.

"I do not believe in any one supreme governmental body, and I do not believe in titles of nobility such as are forbidden in our Constitution.

"I rejoice in the provision of our Constitution that the terms of members of congress and of the President are fixed and cannot be extended. A self-perpetuating government, under whatever form, is not a free government.

"I believe that 'the United States should guarantee to every state a republican form of government,' but I do not believe that it should guarantee this form of government to any outside state. If we do not guarantee our own form of government to an alien state, certainly we cannot guarantee to an alien state any other form of government.

Indorses Certain Freedoms.

"I believe in freedom of religion, which I distinguish sharply from mere toleration of dissent.

"I therefore, of course, believe that all citizens should have the right to bear arms and that this right should not be a privilege limited to any religious or political faction, as obtains elsewhere.

"I believe in freedom of speech and have spent a large part of the last 20 years defending the freedom of the press.

"Freedom of speech and of the press include freedom to remain silent. Therefore, if you, or I, or any one ask candidates or ask publications what is the backing behind them, they have the right to refuse to answer, and the public has the right to put its own interpretation upon this refusal.

Not Afraid of Truth.

"I believe, with Jefferson, that 'here we are not afraid to follow truth wherever it may lead, nor to tolerate any error so long as reason is left free to combat it.'

"Do we not perceive that the smears of the Winchells and the Ickeses, the misstatements of the Willkies, and the falsification of history of the Lippmanns have served at great expense to them to furnish audiences for men to refute them which otherwise might not have been obtained?

"I have no inclination to repudiate the sage advice of Washington when he said in his farewell address:

"'We may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies. It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world.'

Welcomes Battle Allies.

"In war I believe in taking allies where we can find them. In the Revolutionary war we had as allies France and Spain, nations with more tyrannous governments than that of Great Britain. I recall that these allies interfered in our political affairs, and that, in consequence, we went to war with both of them.

"I believe in very definite commitments with allies, such as we had with France during the revolution, but I do not believe in making commitments which we cannot fulfill, as we did in that war. In that treaty with France, we guaranteed to maintain the French in possession of the islands she occupied in the Caribbean sea. Later, when the war arose between the French directory and Great Britain, we could not and did not attempt to carry out this obligation, and the failure caused us both ill repute and humiliation.

Czar's Fleets in U. S. Harbors.

"During the Civil war we had an agreement with autocratic Russia, revengeful for the Crimean war, that in the event of English and French intervention Russia would make war on them. The czar went so far as to send his navy to New York and San Francisco harbors to be in places where they could oppose a British landing in Canada and could prey on British commerce. This prevented the intervention, and in compensation we purchased Alaska.

"In the last war our government not only made no arrangements with its allies, but refused to inform itself of the arrangements made among them.

"In the early days of our participation in that war, when I was the American liaison officer with the French army, its liaison officer handed me all of the secret treaties, and I, in turn, delivered them to our headquarters.

Reasons Set Forth.

"The reason for the French action was obvious. The British empire and its ally, Japan, had agreed to divide the German held islands in the Pacific. The French army, charged with defense of French islands in that part of the world, felt it would be in a better position to hold them if the United States insisted upon possessing its fair share of the German held islands.

"I do not take any exception to the French and British foreign offices double-crossing our state department—because they thought it to their advantage to keep us in the dark, and the doctrine of diplomacy is to 'see to it that the sucker never gets an even break'—but I cannot forgive the officials of our government who refused to take advantage of the momentous information brought to them by the army, a refusal which, of course, primarily was responsible for all of the catastrophes in the Pacific.

Belongs to Its Citizens.

"Lincoln said in his first inaugural address: 'This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it.' It does not belong to the mendicant group of nations whose representatives lately have been living lavishly in Atlantic City at our expense.

"I will say this much of the post-war world: We should insist on retaining such of the islands as we have saved from, retaken, or taken from the Japanese as will secure our future safety from attack; we should retain air bases wherever we have built them; and we should secure now, by treaty, the right to fly directly everywhere we want to go. We should make such other arrangements as will provide for our security. After that is taken care of, we may do what we can for the general welfare of the world.

"As one means to that end, I think all European governments should be required to liquidate their holdings in this hemisphere.

Blame Where Blame Is Due.

"I have no sympathy and little patience with people who blame all the evils of the world on my country. If they are foreigners they are objectionable, but their attitude may be natural. If they are American citizens, their conduct is unnatural. There is much precedence for them to copy. Millions of men born abroad, but preferring this country, have become naturalized American citizens. Therefore, let those born Americans who prefer other countries become naturalized aliens. It is not to be countenanced that they remain here and use their citizenship to betray your country and mine.

"The league of nations failed because its members would not stand by their agreements. It is utterly false to say that our nonparticipation had anything to do with the failure.

"We became one of the parties to the nine power agreement to protect the integrity of China. When we wished to act in accordance with that agreement and stop the Japanese aggression, all the other parties, including the British empire, refused to keep their agreements.

"Nothing could be more fatal to our country, and for the countries which some of our citizens prefer to our own, than some grandiose scheme of world government.

"Our soldiers are enduring great hardships in this war, and after it is over they will not allow themselves to be used as Hessians to carry out the ambitious views of people at home who are thoroly enjoying the war.

Homesick Soldiers Rule.

"You will remember that with the armistice in 1918 the army in this country practically disbanded, and that altho the high ranking officers overseas wished to prolong their tenure of power, the insistence of the soldiers was such that they were hurried home as fast as shipping could be provided.

"This history will repeat itself when this war ends.

"You also will remember that Winston Churchill wrote in his autobiography that there was mutiny in the British army immediately after the armistice. There also were mutinies in the British navy.

"There were two other incidents following the peace, which not many people remember. The first was the attempted Communist revolution in the United States in 1919.

Gen. Wood Quells Strike.

"The Communists incited a strike at Gary, Ind., and planned to disrupt the railroad center of the country by violence in order to break down our economic life and open the country to revolution. Gen. Leonard Wood, by tact and firmness, suppressed the attempt without bloodshed.

"You may have forgotten the tremendous tension that arose between Great Britain and this country over our naval building plans before the treaty limiting our navy was adopted. Both countries regret the treaty now, but Great Britain's insistence forced it.

"At that time the tension was so great that our general staff feared an army of 300,000 regulars, then in England, would be landed in Canada and marched against this country, which had completely demobilized.

"The idea appears fantastic, but it did not appear fantastic to our general staff at that time. I know, because I worked with the general staff on plans of defense—for the defense of Detroit.

"As long as our foreign policy was realistic and patriotic, it was enormously successful.

"During the Revolutionary war it brought France and Spain into the war on our side. At the conclusion of the war it achieved a highly satisfactory peace. Later it purchased Louisiana, expelled the Spaniards from Florida, annexed Texas, secured Oregon, and occupied all of the territory to the Pacific.

"The Monroe Doctrine, which was a distinctly unilateral American declaration, and by no stretch of the imagination could be called a treaty, firmly backed up by Presidents Johnson, Harrison, and Cleveland, has prevented the many attempted aggressions of European nations upon this continent.

"In our time an American foreign policy drove Spain from the western hemisphere and Providentially secured the Hawaiian Islands.

Senate Protects Canal.

"Since then the record has been as uniformly bad. The Hay-Pauncefote treaty provided that the Panama canal should not be fortified. Fortunately, the senate corrected that. It is terrible to think what would have happened to us after the fleet at Pearl Harbor had been sunk if Panama had been left unfortified.

"Later, the United States government, unknown to its citizens, notified France and Germany that if they came to the aid of Russia, hard pressed by Japan, the United States would join the Japanese-British alliance and make war on them. In consequence, Japan won the war and occupied Corea. The United States government thus was largely responsible for launching Japan on her career of conquest.

Powerless to Block Transfer.

"In the treaty of Versailles, the Shantung province of China and German-held islands in the Pacific were yielded to Japan, and while the senate refused to ratify the treaty it had no power to prevent the transfer of the islands from which the successful attack upon Pearl Harbor was launched and from which we still are threatened.

"Is it not plain that the trouble in which we find ourselves came from overambitious Presidents who fished in troubled waters?

"I can see no encouragement for further grandiose operations from the two futile invasions of Russia in 1918.

"Russia's failure to aid in our war with Japan may be due to our three uncalled-for aggressions against her.

Assails Foreign Isms.

"Our history appears to me plain. As long as this country was true to itself, it prospered and waxed as no other country ever did; but when it accepted foreign tutelage, when foreign ideologies and foreign systems of government were pressed upon it, it fell into these catastrophes, the end of which is not in sight.

"However, I believe devoutly in the American system. I believe in the American spirit. I believe that we will recover from the calamities that have been brought upon us and that we will continue, long after the foreign isms have been forgotten, to be the free Republic of the United States.

"To this end let us: '. . . here highly resolve . . . that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.'"

BOMB JAP BASE IN NEW BRITAIN WITH 356 TONS

All Day Assault Carried Out at Arawe.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC HDQ., Dec. 16 [Thursday]—(AP).—American bombers ripped Arawe, New Britain, Tuesday with the heaviest bomb load ever carried on a single mission by southwest Pacific air forces.

The bombers, supported by attack planes and numbering more than 100, loosed 356 tons of explosives on the Japanese barge base, which is midway between Cape Gloucester at the western tip of the island and Gasmata on the south central coast, which was subjected to a 248 ton attack Sunday.

Not even the big enemy base at Rabaul, with its concentration of supplies, aircraft, and shipping, ever had received so massive a weight of explosives in a single day. Rabaul had held the record for bomb punishment, with 350 tons dropped there last Oct. 12.

Assaults Last All Day.

The planes lashed at Arawe thruout the day, Gen. MacArthur's bulletin said, and with the bombs the Japanese were sprayed with more than 174,000 rounds of machine gun ammunition. There was no interception from enemy fighters, and but little ground fire. None of our planes was lost.

The assaults, almost continuous from 7:48 a. m. to 10:30, and then intermittent to 3 p. m., were centered on Amulut plantation, west of the village of Arawe, and on a chain of small islands guarding the harbor.

Barges, installations, personnel, stores, and communications were believed destroyed or "devastated."

Patrol activity was reported in the Ramu valley, above Huon peninsula in New Guinea, where the Australians are heading for the Japanese base at Madang on the coast.

An enemy cruiser caught off Kavieng, New Ireland, by American naval Catalina bombers at night received two 1,000 pound bomb hits on the stern.

Air Fields Bombed Out.

Adm. William F. Halsey's headquarters in the Solomons said Japanese air fields on Bougainville have been bombed out to such an extent that American bombers, now monopolizing the air, are concentrating on supplies and ground defenses. Halsey's spokesman said the net result was "continued improvement of our position" on Bougainville.

The spokesman reported a "steady deterioration of the Jap supply position, especially the perimeter of supply lines, supply staging points, heavy anti-aircraft batteries and heavy mechanical equipment."

"We locate the enemy's artillery during the raids," the spokesman explained, "and follow up by destroying them. Great quantities of stores daily go up in flames."

Bomb Marshalls' Atoll.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Dec. 15 (AP). — Seventh American airforce Liberators bombed the airdrome and started fires in the hangar area on Taroa in the Maloelap atoll of the Marshalls yesterday, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today. Seventeen Zeros intercepted. One was shot down, four others probably were destroyed, and five damaged. Three Liberators sustained slight damage.

The Japanese made nuisance raids on Tarawa Dec. 12 and 13 and at Makin Dec. 13 and 14. The navy said no damage was caused at Tarawa. On Makin four men were wounded by bomb fragments.

CHINESE ANNOUNCE FURTHER GAINS IN RICE BOWL REGION

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 15 (AP).—Important Chinese gains in the rice bowl region of central China were announced today by the high command, which said Chinese forces had reached the suburbs of three major Japanese held towns—Lihsien, on the highway running from Changteh to the Yangtze port of Shasi, and the Tungting lakeside towns, Ansiang and Nanhsien.

Japanese remnants east of the highway town of Linli, 25 miles north of Changteh are being "killed off relentlessly," the Chinese said. Fighters and bombers of the 14th American air force kept up their support of the Chinese, an American communique announced.

It gave a belated account of an air fight over Changteh on Dec. 6 in which American fighters escorting Mitchell bombers were jumped by 15 Japanese fighters, one of which was shot down and two probably shot down. The Mitchells completed their mission.

ASSAILS ALLIED MOVES IN ITALY AS AID TO NAZIS

Laborite Tells Commons of Many Blunders.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aneurin Bevan.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Winding up two days of debate on the war situation in the house of commons today, Anthony Eden, who is leader of the house as well as foreign secretary, encountered severe criticism by members of parliament over the government policy. Aneurin Bevan, leader of the so-called left wing ginger group, asked what strategic conception behind the war put the American armies in Italy to fight their way up and down hills and up the whole peninsula during the autumn and winter rains.

"The allied high command has approached the problem of attacking the mainland of Italy like an old man approaching a young bride—fascinated, sluggish, and apprehensive," Bevan said, amid loud laughter. "We are told we're attacking the soft under belly of the axis. We are climbing up its backbone.

Sees Plan as Aid to Nazis.

"The greatest crisis the German high command has faced since the battle of Stalingrad is now over and the Germans can transfer first class troops from the Italian front to Russia."

Eden replied it was quite impossible to defend the present allied strategy "without giving some indication of our future strategy."

Eden appeared in the absence of Prime Minister Churchill, who still is in the middle east. The Cairo radio reported Churchill had met Prime Minister Emmanuel Tsouderos of Greece last Friday, and the two had discussed the whole field of relations. The broadcast said they had discussed particularly "Greek participation in the war."

Bevan flatly called the government's military handling of the war, except for the North African campaign, one blunder after another.

"For three years," he said, "Hitler has put our forces in a series of concentration camps and immobilized them. We have been unable to concentrate against the enemy at any vital point and have never employed more than 30 divisions at any one point against them, because we have so dispersed our forces."

Denounces "Ambiguity."

Bevan cited Eden's speech in commons yesterday as a "masterpiece of ambiguity" and declared that when Eden "engaged in world tours" they brought back "merely ambiguous sentences because we have not the necessary military successes to back our diplomacy."

Bevan had complained that the house was almost becoming irrelevant because "the house had to deduce what the government proposed to do from what the government has done." To this criticism, Eden replied that the main results of the Teheran conference and the Cairo conference were military and insisted no secret political agreements were made.

Teheran, he said, convinced him that there was a common foundation on which "we, the United States, and Russia can work together." The bombing of Germany was an integral part of the major war strategy, Eden explained.

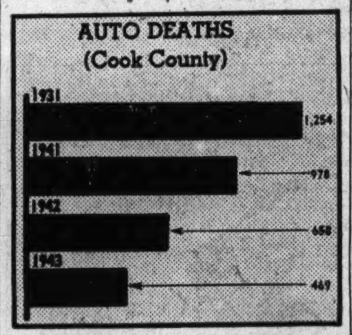
French Policy Attacked.

The foreign secretary's statement that reconstruction of France can only be achieved "from within," an event which he declared as "not only desirable but necessary" for Britain, turned but did not fully answer the series of sharp questions raised over the government's attitude toward France generally.

Harold Nicholson, considered one of the most valuable friends of French democracy in the house, said he was mystified that the government, having adopted a policy of "supporting France," should appear in all its actions to run contrary to it.

Eden also denied the charge that Britishers did not realize the importance of the war with Japan. He admitted there had been a lack of realization in this country of the significance of the far eastern war.

Auto Toll Drops



Comparison of automobile accident fatalities in Cook county during four years.

War time conservation of rubber and gasoline, plus more careful driving to lengthen the life of automobiles, has reduced the number of traffic fatalities during 1943 to the lowest figure in nearly 25* years, Coroner A. L. Brodie said yesterday in his annual report.

Thus far, there have been only 469 automobile fatalities in Cook county, Brodie said, as compared with 1,254 deaths in the peak year of 1931. Last year there were 658 deaths in Cook county from automobile accidents, and 978 deaths in 1941.

David Baldwin, statistician for the National Safety council, said that national figures on traffic deaths this year, show a 23 per cent decrease under the figure for 1942. The decrease is greater in rural areas, he said.

GERMAN PLANE PRODUCTION CUT, BRITISH ASSERT

LONDON, Dec. 16 [Thursday]—(AP).—The heavy bombing of German industry is steadily choking the production of warplanes in the reich, with the output of fighter planes—the best weapon against aerial attack—falling below 650 monthly, it was reliably reported here today.

It has been learned that the Nazi aircraft industry was able to turn out only 1,250 bombers and 650 fighters each in August and September. With the results of the summer bombing campaign now catching up with the Nazi industry, observers said there is no doubt that production fell even lower in October and November.

In addition to smashing sources of German aerial strength, British-American raiders have been taking a heavy toll of German fighters.

FEWER FLOWERS PLUS HIGHER COSTS AFFECT FLORISTS' PRICES

Who's your florist?

John Smith, of course. His name is on his window, his delivery truck, his packages— and his bills! You've looked it up in the telephone book many times. And just recently you've been writing it on such whopping checks that sometimes you wonder just who this guy Smith is anyway, to charge such prices!

Here's who he is. If he's like the majority of florists in this country, he's the son of another John Smith, florist, and perhaps the grandson of still another John Smith, also a florist. Perhaps the first John Smith wasn't a florist in the same sense that his grandson is. More than likely he was a greenhouse owner, proud of his small sea of shiny glass but prouder still of the lovely new varieties he was developing under it. Today his grandson may be selling you improvements of those very varieties, and with equal pride. The flower business is like that. It's like diamond cutting and watch making. It belongs to a family, it's grown into that family, it is a heritage and a trust!

It's a Long Term Business

Most of all, so far as you're concerned, it's a long term business. The same family which furnishes you with flowers today may have served your parents yesterday and certainly hopes to serve your children tomorrow. No man in a business like that is likely to be an opportunist. When his costs go up, he must charge accordingly, of course. And when he does raise his prices, you can be sure it is because his costs have gone up, to such a degree that he cannot hope to remain in business to serve your children or anyone else's unless he does make the necessary adjustments.

War has affected the florist two ways. Not only has it increased every cost of handling flowers but it has increased the cost of most flowers themselves. Meanwhile, it has reduced sometimes by as much as 35% the number of flowers available for retail sale. The results are inevitable. To survive, the florist must ask you to pay more per flower.

Not All Flowers Affected

Theoretically this should affect every flower he handles. The fact that it does not is just one more angle on John Smith, florist. War is a time when everybody needs to splurge a bit to brighten the corner and gladden the heart with flowers. Your florist knows this as well as you do. He is consequently, often at considerable sacrifice, keeping available even today some flowers, usually the season's most abundant, at reasonable, even low prices. These are the flowers he hopes you will remember when this thing is over. And because you remember them, he hopes, you will then continue your patronage as now, thus making it possible for John Smith to make his post-war living charging only the prices you want to pay.

NOTE: The articles about flowers and kindred subjects that appear in this paper from time to time are the cooperative endeavor of retail florists, flower growers and wholesalers in the Chicago area.

8TH ARMY GAINS 5 MI. BRIDGEHEAD ALONG ADRIATIC

Indians and Canadians Breach Nazi Line.

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Dec. 15 (AP).—Indian and Canadian troops of Gen. Montgomery's 8th army have carved out a five mile wide bridgehead north of the Moro river on the Italian Adriatic coast, it was announced today, while the 5th army front, relatively quiet militarily, was marked by complaints by Nazi prisoners that they were forced to fight against "tough wild men from Texas."

Veteran Indian troops captured the village of Caldari, six miles from Ortona, against fierce German resistance and seized 200 prisoners. This merged the Moro bridgehead with that won by the Canadians along the coast.

It was disclosed that the Canadians staged a night raid on the village of Berrati in which they captured nearly 150 Germans, including the commanding officer of an armored division.

Weather Improves.

Berrati is about two miles south of Ortona, coastal anchor of the Nazis' present defense line. Ortona must be taken before Montgomery can proceed with his "back door" advance on Rome.

Among Canadian units revealed to have been engaged in the Italian fighting up to Dec. 1 were the 4th Princess Louise Dragoon guards.

The weather improved across the front, but activity along the 5th army sector still was confined to patrol clashes. It was a Nazi prisoner seized in one of these "feeler" stabs by Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops who winced at the mention of Texas.

During questioning, he declared that Germans fighting in the St. Maggiore sector near Mignano were faced by "tough wild men from Texas with a knowledge of field craft," and said his feelings were shared by his comrades.

Yanks Bomb Rail Junction.

Among Clark's divisions is the 36th, composed largely of Texans, which was the first American division to hit the beaches at Salerno.

American B-25 Mitchell bombers struck at the railway junction at Orte while American Bostons bombed a bridge over the flooded Liri river which has been the scene of intense fighting. Warhawks carried out a number of close support missions.

More than 100 German planes were over the 5th army's positions in one of the greatest day's air activity since the fighting at Salerno. Three were destroyed and four damaged.

MIDWEST HEROES WIN MEDALS IN CRUISER BLAST

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Dec. 15 (AP).—Ninety-nine medals and commendations have been awarded to officers and men of the cruiser Savannah for heroism when that vessel was hit by an enemy bomb Nov. 9 while protecting the 5th army's landings in the gulf of Salerno, Italy.

The presentations were made in a North African port for innumerable acts of heroism by men trapped when the bomb penetrated the ship's turret and exploded below and by those who helped rescue them. Among those honored were:

Two Months' Progress in Italy

REPORT ROMMEL MAY BE NAMED NAZI ARMY CHIEF

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—High Nazi leaders were understood today to be considering vesting supreme command of the German army in Field Marshal Erwin Rommel in an effort to tighten anti-invasion defenses as well as to forestall any anti-Hitler coup by the professional generals of the Junker caste.

Rommel recently has been reported touring northwest Europe and there are indications that Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt may soon be removed from command of western defenses.

Von Rundstedt, a leader among the military aristocracy, repeatedly has been reported waiting for the opportune moment to attempt an anti-Nazi coup and extend a peace bid to the allies in the hope of winning terms which would permit salvaging of enough of Germany's war machine to set in motion another try at world domination in the future.

Refugees from Germany recently said the Germans feel certain that the allies will launch a major invasion of Denmark and Norway almost any day. That is one reason why Rommel was sent to inspect defenses in the two countries, they said.

Machinists Firm Owner Is Found Dead in His Auto

Hitzeman & Sons, machinists of 1734 North California avenue, was found dead in his car yesterday afternoon under the Belmont avenue bridge across the Des Plaines river in River Grove. A hose attached to the exhaust pipe led into the rear of the car. A cloth soaked with ether was beside the body. He is survived by his widow, Ruby, and six children.

WAR FOES TRADE FILMS TO SHOW PRISON CAMPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16 [Thursday].—The American and British governments are interchanging films with the Germans for exhibition in prisoner of war camps, it was disclosed this morning. The scheme is being operated via Stockholm, Sweden, and Geneva, Switzerland.

John Barwick, secretary of war prisoners aid and world alliance of Y. M. C. A.s in Britain, said, "We are sending the boys films of sheer entertainment value," while the Germans are sending mostly educational films for German prisoners in Britain.

The United States, said Barwick, is sending Italian films to Britain for use in Italian camps here.

Iran Cabinet Resigns to Let Shah Form New One

TEHERAN, Iran, Dec. 15 (AP).—Premier Ali Soheily of Iran, who has held the office since July, 1942, has presented his resignation to the shah. Persian cabinet members also submitted their resignations, and political circles said the shah was expected to ask Soheily to form a new government which would show few changes.

U-Boats Failing; Hitler Calls Admiral to Explain

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 15.—It was announced tonight from Berlin that Hitler has called in for consultation his U-boat admiral, Karl Doenitz, for a "discussion of the present U-boat warfare." Recent German claims for sinkings in the Atlantic have dropped to new lows.

YANK AIR FLEET RIPS NAZI BASES IN ATHENS AREA

300 Planes Hit Airfields and Key Greek Port.

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Dec. 15 (AP).—More than 300 Flying Fortresses, Liberators, and escorting Lightning fighters of the American 15th strategic air force in the Mediterranean yesterday made smashing attacks on three big Nazi military airdromes near Athens and the harbor of Piraeus, gateway to the Greek capital.

It was the greatest aerial blow struck at Hitler's Balkan holdings and fulfilled Sunday's promise by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of United States air forces, that "terrible blows" would be launched from this area at Germany and her satellites.

[Dispatches did not disclose whether the bombers in Tuesday's raid took off from their old North African bases or from fields newly prepared for them in southern Italy.]

Hit 10 Miles from Athens.

Returning flyers said heavy damage was inflicted on Kalamaki, Tatoi, and Elevsis air fields and on merchant shipping at Piraeus. All four targets are within 10 miles of Athens, from which the Germans support their grip on the Aegean Islands.

About 35 German fighters challenged the raiders and 12 were destroyed. One Fortress was lost.

Elevsis, Kalamaki, and Tatoi fields have been the Nazis' principal mainland air bases in the Aegean area, while Piraeus has been their chief port for supplying the islands by sea. The several hundred islands in the Aegean, with innumerable bays and landing fields, constitute the Germans' principal barrier to any allied offensive from the middle east into the Balkans.

Partisans Retake Island.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Supported by a strong allied air arm, the Jugo-Slav Partisan army under Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz turned back one wing of the German offensive in Bosnia today and regained the Island of Uljan in the approaches to the enemy's major port of Fiume.

Tito's war bulletin saluted allied air action as having helped drive the Nazis from Uljan and in having aided in "heavily" defeating German forces occupying the near-by coastal city of Zara.

Aground in Jugo-Slavia, the most significant fighting was in eastern Bosnia, where one German column was thrown back and the town of Kladanj was recaptured.

The Germans claimed they had beaten off a sea-borne allied thrust against the Island of Pag, just north of Uljan.

Yank Interviews Recorded.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 15 (AP).—More than 300 recorded interviews with American soldiers of the middle east and Persian gulf service commands have arrived here for transshipment to the United States to be broadcast around mid-January over 80 stations. Men representing 35 states took part in the interviews made with a mobile recording unit. The unit traveled 80,000 miles to do the interviewing.

Swiss Elect Dr. Stampfli Federal Council President

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP).—Dr. Walter Stampfli was elected president of the Swiss federal council for 1944 today, a broadcast from Berne recorded here said tonight. Dr. Stampfli served as vice president of the council this year. Dr. Marcel Pilet-Golaz, present minister of foreign affairs in the council, was named vice president for next year, the broadcast said.

FINNS DISCUSS PEACE ON RADIO, BRITISH REPORT

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Finnish radio "discussed peace proposals" in a broadcast beamed to the soviet union, according to a British broadcast recorded here today. The broadcast quoted the Finnish "president of the foreign affairs commission" as saying:

"Our country must make every effort to have peace as quickly as possible. Certain great powers have often declared that peace would not come before a long time. But if this is the case, a small country forced to fight a numerically superior enemy will find itself in a situation very different from that of a nation who has not awaited the end of the war to make peace, and whose frontiers have been defended by all armed forces."

Soldier May Head Bulgar Regime.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Army support of demands in Sofia for a new regency as well as a new government for Bulgaria were reported today in neutral dispatches.

A soldier—Col. Damian Veltchev, who is said to be pro-ally and once was involved in attempts to overthrow the government in 1923 and again in 1934—was mentioned in reports from the Balkans as the probable successor to Premier Dobri Bojilov if Bulgaria's government should be reorganized.

The British foreign office disclaimed any knowledge of peace feelers as reported in a Cairo dispatch which said the Bulgarians had officially communicated with Washington, D. C., and London thru Moscow.

Peace Feelers Dime a Dozen.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Balkan peace feelers are a dime a dozen and the allies aren't buying any, it was believed here today.

When Bulgaria, Hungary, and Rumania want to get out of the war badly enough, they will have to come forward with a different kind of article, labeled "unconditional surrender."

Bombed by allied planes and bombarded by propaganda, shaken by threat of political upheaval at home and convinced that Germany is doomed, Hitler's Balkan satellites desperately want peace—but not desperately enough to take the only avenue the allies have opened to them, full surrender.

Believe Balkans Will Crack.

One belief is that the Balkans—possibly with Bulgaria leading the way—will crack, just as Italy did, when Anglo-American troops establish a beachhead on their soil. Another is that a resumption of the Russian advance in the south will bring a showdown.

Turkish entry into the war, or obvious evidences of an allied blow from Turkey, would bring matters to a head in a hurry. European Turkey has a common border with Bulgaria.

The main point is tho, that while German diplomacy in the Balkans is steadily deteriorating, the Balkan governments are not yet sufficiently convinced of complete defeat and loss of position of their ruling classes to accept unconditional surrender.

GEN. PATTON'S PROMOTION HELD UP BY SENATORS

Langer Charges Issue Is Evaded by Stimson.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.

Sen. William Langer.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—The promotion of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., to the permanent army rank of major general has been formally delayed by a senate military affairs subcommittee, Sen. A. B. Chandler [D., Ky.], chairman of the subcommittee announced today.

The announcement came as Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.], in a statement called on the senate to investigate further the now famous "Patton incident," particularly in respect to the alleged "pro-Vichy" company with whom it has been charged Patton associated at Casablanca.

Act Over Slapping.

Patton's present permanent rank is that of a colonel in the cavalry, tho he holds the temporary rank of lieutenant general as commander of the United States 7th army. Chandler said his committee's decision to delay action on the promotion was influenced by war department confirmation that Patton slapped two shell shocked soldiers in Sicilian field hospitals during August and berated a third for failure to wear leggings, and by the possibility there may be other similar but unreported incidents.

Langer in his statement today asserted that letters from service men indicate that the opinion of Patton in the army is now such that troops refer to him as "our blood, his guts, Patton."

"The American people, asked to give their sons to the American army, have a right to know the caliber of the men under whom they serve," Langer said. "If the war department continues to be evasive, it is up to the senate to see that the public gets the truth, not a continuation of semi-denials and the denunciations of newspaper men who try to give us the truth."

Answer Called Evasive.

The people of North Dakota, Langer said, are not satisfied with the reply of Secretary of War Stimson, which was made at the request of the senate military affairs committee. Asserting that Stimson's statement was "just as evasive" as the war department's "original cover-up," Langer asked that the military affairs committee go back to Secretary Stimson and "ask him to be specific and concrete."

Langer asked for answers to these questions:

"When Gen. Patton berated the soldier with swollen ankles whose leggings were off, did he pull out his revolver?

"Who were the members of the pro-Vichy social circle who mingled with Gen. Patton at his Casablanca villa?

"Was it true that one member of this group had been on intimate terms with the German armistice commission, and that United States military intelligence was concerned over this in the Patton villa?

"Was it true that when the United States army was unable to break up Patton's social circle, the British finally arrested this person, following which Patton protested vigorously?"

The holding up of Patton's promotion by the subcommittee also means a delay in approval of all other names on the list of nominations. Among these is the name of Brehon Somervell, a temporary lieutenant general, who is listed for advancement to the permanent rank of major general. Somervell's present rank is colonel.

Sen. Mon C. Wallgren [D., Wash.], member of the military affairs committee, disclosed that he has drafted legislation to prohibit further promotions in permanent army rank of members of the general staff. He said the proposed bill was not aimed primarily at Patton.

"We don't know how large this army is going to be," Wallgren said. "I think it is about time for the military committee to call a halt to these promotions."

DRAFT OF WOMEN DISRUPTS HOME LIFE IN BRITAIN

Care of Children Stirs Discussion.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Altho conscription of women war workers has increased factory production, it has had the inevitable effect of depriving hundreds of thousands of British children of a normal home-life, with a consequent increase in juvenile delinquency.

Godfrey Elton recently told parliament that the family was the "first and most tragic casualty of the war," and asserted that "divorce flourishes and bigamy is almost a national industry."

Elton opposed continuation of state care for children after the war. "Beware of the illusion that a child is born for the state or even for the ministry of education," he said. "That way lies race suicide."

Children under age 5 are cared for in state operated nurseries at a cost of 20 cents a day for each child. Some older children are cared for in sessions which continue after school hours. In some quarters there has been a tendency to advocate the continuance of full time day nurseries after the war, but this has savored too much of the Nazi and Communist idea of the substitution of the state for the home, to win general approval.

"Brain Trust" Stirs Talk.

When the British Broadcasting corporation's "brain trust" advanced the view some months ago that the importance of parents to children was greatly exaggerated and stated most children would be better off if there were little or no contact with their parents, a wave of protest was aroused. Dr. Vernon Braithwaite, in a letter to the Daily Telegraph, asserted children need the intimate contact of parents, brothers, and sisters for a normal physical, psychological, moral, and spiritual development.

Elton called attention to the hundreds and thousands of children who had been whisked from the parents in the evacuation of London and other big cities during the blitz. In many cases, he said, "the father was in the services, the mother in a factory, and the child parked in a day nursery, boarded with strangers, or merely running at will in the black-out."

With millions of fathers in the services and one mother in four in full time occupation, many children have no option but to roam the streets part of the day.

Rations Cause Difficulties.

At a recent convocation of Canterbury in London, the bishop of Derby, Dr. Alfred E. J. Rawlinson, referred to "latch key children," whom he said were adrift on the streets with a latch key hung on a string around their necks while their mothers worked.

Basil Henriques, chairman of the East London juvenile court, said the disruption of homes brought an increase from pre-war juvenile delinquencies of from 3 or 4 per 1,000 to 8 or 9 per 1,000.

War time rations, which make it difficult for families to eat adequately at home, also are a factor in disrupting home life. Practically all workers are obliged to take at least one meal away from home. All factories employing more than 250 workers are compelled to have canteens, of which there are 10,462 plus 173 on the docks and 767 on building sites. The children are fed a noon meal at school.

BRITAIN REJECTS PLEA FOR GRAIN TO MAKE WHISKY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Col. J. J. Llewellin, minister of food, refused a request voiced in the house of commons today to allocate more grain for the manufacture of whisky on the ground that it cures influenza. When one member of parliament objected that if the government pursued its present policy there would be no whisky for at least eight to 10 years after the war, Dr. Russell Thomas, a Liberal National, retorted: "Whisky has no curative effect in influenza except in the imagination of those who drink it."

Salvation Army Kettles Help in Penny Shortage

The Salvation Army's Christmas kettles are helping stave off a near-critical penny shortage in Chicago. Maj. George F. These quickly were converted into currency at nearby stores, he said, as were those contributed since.

ARTIST FOR LIFE MAGAZINE DIES IN BURMA CRASH

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 15 (AP).—Lucien Adolph Labaudt, 65, Life magazine artist of San Francisco, Cal., was among 12 persons killed in an American plane crash in Assam near the Burma border Sunday. Labaudt was the first war correspondent killed in this theater. He was making his first plane trip.

The names of the other victims, all army personnel, were not released.

Before joining Life magazine, Labaudt had been a civilian employe of the army in its art program, assigned to depict war scenes, but he had not started when the program was dropped. He joined Life and left on Sept. 20 for India, arriving there Nov. 1. None of his war pictures has arrived in this country as yet.

END ONE MAN RULE OF PRESS, BRITAIN URGED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Annulment of defense regulations 2-D and 94-B, which empower Home Secretary Herbert Morrison to suppress a newspaper on his own authority, was demanded in a motion submitted to the house of commons tonight by Richard Acland, leader of the Commonwealth party.

If the motion is adopted Morrison will be required to take to court any newspaper which he decides is being conducted in a manner prejudicial to the war effort and which he desires to suppress.

The motion, which was supported by 10 other Independent, Liberal, and Laborite members of parliament, urged the curtailment of Morrison's powers over the press "in view of the improvement in our military fortunes."

Third Princess Is Born to Egypt's Royal Family

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 15 (AP).—A 21-gun salute, instead of the hoped-for 101, announced the birth tonight of a third daughter to Queen Farida and King Farouk I of Egypt. The longer salute would have hailed the arrival of a boy.

PERSONAL

FOR NOXZEMA USERS ONLY!

WHY write an ad just for you Noxzema users? Because it's you who have made Noxzema famous. By discovering its many uses. By telling others about it. That's why we want you to know what's happening to Noxzema now—it's not only helping workers in war plants, but going—by the millions of jars—to our men in the services. Just read what a few of them say about it:

FROM A SOUTHERN CAMP: "... I'm a mass of prickly heat interlaced with chigger bites. We thank God for Noxzema—it's a life saver here."

FROM THE MOJAVE DESERT: "... When the temperature climbed to way over 100 we all got bad sunburns—but we all used my Noxzema and boy, did we ever appreciate the cool, soothing relief it gave us ..."

FROM THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: "... I had to find something to stop the awful itching of red ant bites, so I tried Noxzema. It helped relieve it after the first application. You can guess how Noxzema rates with me."

FROM GUADALCANAL: "... My boy writes, 'I sure have been using the Noxzema; my skin wasn't seasoned to this weather, but Noxzema helps keep it smooth and comfortable.' "

FROM SOMEWHERE OVERSEAS: "... My two boys asked for Noxzema and I sent it. One writes 'I was sure glad to get the Noxzema—my face has been red and sore, but Noxzema helps it feel much better.' And the other says, 'Could you please send another jar of Noxzema? I can't do without it' ..."

FROM A TANK DRIVER IN ENGLAND: "... Be sure to send me more Noxzema. This damp windy weather is hard on my face, but Noxzema sure helps soothe that sore, windburned feeling."

FROM THE PACIFIC: "... my shipmates and I use Noxzema Specially Prepared for Shaving, and we want all seafaring men to know what a swell shave it gives."

P. S. Extra big orders for servicemen may occasionally have made it hard for your druggist to get all sizes of Noxzema. However, we believe we've got Noxzema flowing freely now—both to you and to your boys on the fighting fronts.

THROUGH many years of courtesy and helpfulness to travelers, men who operate Wabash passenger trains have built up a tradition of personal service.

Many times this means special assistance to women traveling with children, help for old folks or youngsters riding alone, aid for inexperienced travelers or attention to details that add comfort to trips of those who go by rail often.

Today, when Wabash trains often are crowded, trainmen are busier than ever. But men in Wabash uniforms still follow their tradition of personal service. It is part of their Service For Victory.

When Betty Hutton caught one on the Button

Lusty, lively, lovely Betty (next to be seen in Paramount's "Miracle of Morgan's Creek") had just slayed the boys with her terrific rendition of "Murder, He Says"—sung over and over again.

As she came off the platform, a dark-eyed boy with a shock of curly hair took her firmly in his arms and kissed her—kissed her in a manner that would have sent the Hays office reeling for a schooner of smelling salts.

It happened so fast that Betty was unable to forestall it, and the impact was so profound that it took her a few minutes to begin to struggle.

Then, with words massed on her tongue like bees ready to swarm from an outraged hive, all Betty's ire was dispelled as the boy asked pardon.

"You're the first girl I've kissed for nearly a year," he said. "And," he confessed, "I won a bet big enough to take me home on my next furlough, so I can kiss my OWN girl."

This little adventure—reported for you in the January issue of MODERN SCREEN—just shows you what a real person Betty Hutton is.

OPA SUITS SNARL GLOVE INDUSTRY; CUT WAR OUTPUT

WPB Appeals for Price Increases Spurned.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 [Special].—Suits seeking an aggregate of $630,000 damages are being pressed by the office of price administration against four of the nation's leading manufacturers of work gloves despite the fact that resultant confusion in the industry has contributed to a shortage of work gloves hampering war production.

This was revealed here today when officials of the war production board said some war plants have had to shut down for short periods because of this shortage and that only prompt action on the part of WPB staff members prevented serious production delays.

Emergency Conference.

So serious has the situation become that glove manufacturers were called to Washington last week for an emergency conference in an effort, so far unsuccessful, to get a compromise agreement between the OPA and the industry, a WPB spokesman said.

The suits, which demand triple damages, charge violations of OPA price ceilings, altho the companies deny violations have taken place and blame the trouble on complex regulations concerning which OPA legal heads are themselves in disagreement.

Officials of the OPA and the WPB are at odds over government policy toward the glove manufacturers, it was said, and the OPA has turned down WPB appeals that price ceilings on gloves be readjusted and that the price violation suits be dropped or settled. WPB made this appeal without expressing opinion on the merits of the suits, it was explained, but stressed the necessity for resumption of full glove production.

Montana Mine Closed.

A WPB spokesman said a mine of the Anaconda Copper company near Butte, Mont., was shut for two days for lack of gloves and that the A. C. Spark Plug division of General Motors was shut a few hours for the same reason.

Slowdowns and delays in war production were reported to the WPB, the official said, by aircraft plants on Long Island, Pacific coast shipyards and metal refineries in Michigan. He said the Florida orange crop was endangered for a while by the glove shortage and the fish catch in New England was threatened. In all such instances, he said, the WPB has moved promptly to get gloves for the workers.

Deep concern is felt for future months by the WPB, however, because the work glove output for 1943 is expected to be less than 10 million dozen pairs, compared with normal annual production ranging from 18 to 25 million dozen pairs.

Workers Leave Industry.

The decline in production is blamed by the WPB on the fact that workers in the industry have deserted it for higher wages in other lines and on confusion among manufacturers resulting from price regulations and the court suits. Normally employing about 12,000 workers, the nation's glove manufacturers now employ about 4,000, it was said.

Defendants in the actions brought by OPA and amounts sought are: Good Luck Glove company, Carbondale, Ill., $300,000; Wells-La-Mont corporation, Chicago, $150,000; Indianapolis Glove company, Indianapolis, Ind., $150,000, and the Boss Manufacturing company, Kewanee, Ill., $30,000.

A statement explaining the position of the Good Luck Glove company was issued today by C. T. Houghton, president; George Lurie, vice president, and Dan Lurie, secretary.

Injunction Is Sought.

"OPA has sued the Good Luck Glove company for $300,000 and is also seeking an injunction against the company," the statement said. "The company issued a new price list on March 20, 1942, generally raising prices. This price list was issued in good faith and in May, 1942, the OPA froze prices at the March, 1942, level.

"The OPA admits the company never has charged more than the prices announced in the March, 1942, price list. The OPA contends the company is liable on the technical ground that as to certain kinds of gloves the company made shipments in March, 1942, under contracts made in 1941, which contracts provide for a lower price than the March, 1942, price list. OPA contends that delivery under these contracts constitutes the ceiling price. The company says it may charge the prices in the March, 1942, price list. If the OPA contention is upheld in the courts glove production will be very seriously affected."

Similar to Other Cases.

The situation outlined in the Good Luck case is said to be similar to that in the case of the other three glove manufacturers. In a hearing two weeks ago in Indianapolis on an injunction application in connection with the suit against the Indianapolis Glove company, however, evidence was offered by the company that the state OPA office gave written approval to its price policy and that this was countermanded several months later by the Washington OPA office.

Thomas I. Emerson, enforcement chief of the OPA, today said all suits against the glove manufacturers were based on actual violations of the overcharge provision of OPA regulations. He said in the Indianapolis instance the regional OPA office did not know the correct interpretation of the regulation and had asked Washington to interpret it.

One of the witnesses for the government at the injunction hearing was Caulman Gottesman, 34 years old, who described his duties as "coördinator of interpretations." Gottesman was rebuked by Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell when he testified interpretations were phrased simply for operators of "papa and mamma stores."

Asks Him What He Means.

"What do you mean by papa and mamma stores?" the judge asked.

"I mean small business, such as those run by small families," said the coördinator of interpretations.

"Do you mean these people can't understand English?" Judge Baltzell demanded. "Why, don't you know they are the backbone of the nation? Many of us are 'papas and mammas.' Such a statement makes my blood boil."

Baltzell demanded that Gottesman reveal his age and placed it in the record.

Asked Previous Experience.

A 24 year old law school graduate, Norton J. Conne, who said on the witness stand that it was his job to establish price ceilings for wearing apparel, was asked by the judge what his previous business experience had been.

"I sold real estate during school vacations," Conne answered.

Judge Baltzell took the injunction application under advisement and ordered an answer to the damage suit by Jan. 20 and oral arguments Feb. 16.

WEATHER HELD A GREATER PERIL THAN JAPANESE

Wisconsin Ace Believes Yanks Getting Better.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—A 23 year old flyer from Poplar, Wis., the army's leading air ace with a score of 21 planes shot down and six more probably destroyed, believes Japanese pilots are not as good as they used to be and that Southwest Pacific weather causes more trouble than enemy pilots.

Capt.Bong.

Capt. Richard Ira Bong, son of a Swedish immigrant, came home on leave from the Southwest Pacific after more than 14 months overseas during which he flew 365 hours in operational combat on 146 missions over Milne bay, Huon gulf, Bismarck sea, Oro bay, Buna, Wewak, Lae, and Rabaul.

After a deer hunt in Wisconsin he came here. Next month he will return to the Southwest Pacific, after spending Christmas with relatives.

Weather Worst Hazard.

"Jap pilots today are not as good as they were before or else we're getting better," Bong said at a press conference. "I don't think they're as good as they were. I imagine they've lost most of their first line pilots and I don't think their training course is as good as ours. We have more trouble with weather than we do with the Nips."

Bong related his most successful score for a single mission was four enemy planes downed in 10 minutes last August. His P-38 [Lightning] was covering group troop action over Salamaua when his squadron was informed by radio the Japanese fighters were coming.

"We had 10 planes in our group," he said. "We met them, probably 30 of them.

Last Mission Uneventful.

"Our boys shot down 10 and we lost none. Capt. James Watkins of Crystal Springs, Miss., got four and Capt. Gerald Johnson of Eugene, Ore., got two."

His last mission on Nov. 7 was uneventful. But two days before he destroyed two enemy planes while on a bomber escort mission to Rabaul.

"We didn't see any Jap planes," he said. "Our bombers were not being molested so we took a jaunt on our own and finally saw about 15 enemy planes. They were old ones and fairly easy picking. The first guy didn't see me when I came up behind him and he caught fire. But I had to shoot about three-fourths of my ammunition on the next one."

After the war Capt. Bong intends to keep on flying.

CHINESE PAPER URGES FORMOSA BE MADE STRONG NAVAL BASE

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 15 (AP).—The newspaper Ta Kung Pao said today that the island of Formosa, a Japanese possession since 1895, must be converted into a powerful Chinese naval base after the war to avert possible future Japanese aggression.

"China must make Formosa and Hainan Island twin eyes on the China sea watching her own safety as well as the safety of the Pacific," the paper said.

It also urged the allies to help China build a defensive navy. China must have enough warships, the publication asserted, to defend her own coasts as well as her section of the Pacific.

Adm. Merrill Decorated for Augusta Bay Battle

ABOARD A U. S. CRUISER IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Dec. 11 (AP) [Delayed].—Rear Adm. Aaron Stanton Merrill today received the navy cross for brilliant command of the task force which sank five Japanese warships off Empress Augusta bay, Bougainville Island, the night of Nov. 1. The battle turned back a Japanese thrust at marines who established a beachead at Empress Augusta bay.

FEAR POST-WAR CONTROL BY U. S. OVER EDUCATION

School Men Ask Study of Plans for Fighters.

The executive committee of the American Vocational association, meeting here this week, yesterday urged extending consideration of a senate bill to provide post-war training for men and women in the fighting forces on the ground that education is "in danger of being federalized" under the proposed legislation.

The bill, now before a senate committee, is known as the Thomas bill, sponsored by Sen. Elbert Thomas [D., Utah]. Committee consideration was scheduled to end yesterday. L. H. Dennis of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the vocational association, signed a telegram to Sen. Thomas, asking that a committee of the association be allowed to appear before the senate committee before the bill was put in final form.

Fear Administration.

"While the association agrees in principle with the bill designed to assist veterans to complete interrupted educational training, it is not satisfied with the provision for administration," Dennis said.

"Under the present bill, the President could create a new agency or use a noneducational agency to administer an educational program," he declared.

"This might well lead to creation of additional federal bureaus and increase both taxation and confusion in administration, Dennis said.

"The American Vocational association," he said, "stands for administration of educational programs for veterans and every other educational program thru established federal, state, and local educational agencies. [The United States office of education, state departments of education, and local school authorities.]

Danger of Federalization.

"It also stands for maximum decentralization which puts the largest responsibility on the local school, college, or university. Any other course means grief for the men and women fighting for the United States and extravagant expense for the federal government as well as the danger of federalization of education."

The convention opened Monday and got into full swing yesterday with half a dozen affiliated national groups attending sessions. More than 2,000 delegates were expected for various sessions, which continue thru Friday in the Morrison hotel and the Palmer House.

Louis V. Newkirk, director of the bureau of industrial arts education in Chicago public schools, speaking before the industrial arts education section, said industrial arts education must be expanded to meet post-war needs of a machine society.

FIRE ATTACKS THEATER; MANY FLEE TO STREET

About 50 residents in a building at 1832 South Wabash avenue were driven to the street in near zero temperatures, some of them in night clothing, when fire attacked the adjoining building housing the Wabash theater at 1836 South Wabash avenue early today.

The fire apparently started on the third floor of the six story theater building, the upper floors of which are used as lofts and warehouses. Streams of water from hose lines coated the building with ice.

Firemen, summoned by a 5-11 alarm, were hampered by billows of smoke which drove them from the roof of the two story building housing the Goldenberg furniture store to the south.

Wabash avenue cars were halted, but service on the elevated, which runs behind the theater building, was uninterrupted.

Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney directed the fire fighters.

BLAZE DESTROYS WINNETKA HOME; LOSS $125,000

Fire, believed to have been caused by an oil burner explosion, yesterday destroyed the 20 room home of H. Stanley Johnson at 745 Sheridan road, Winnetka. Firemen estimated the loss at $125,000.

Capt. Adolph Bucher of the fire department was burned on the face and hands when embers fell upon him from the ceiling of a third floor bedroom. He was taken to Evanston hospital.

The Johnsons' dog, Coco, a cocker spaniel, was rescued from the second floor by Magnus Harding, 21 years old, a University of Chicago student, who scaled a fire ladder to the window, entered the room, and carried the dog to safety.

Occupants of the house were absent when the fire was discovered and reported by a mailman. Johnson, a furniture company executive, was at his office in Chicago, and his wife, Anne, was shopping. The home is owned by the estate of the late Franklin Rudolph, former vice president of the American Can company.

Mystery Blast and Fire Cause $50,000 Damage

A 4-11 fire raged for two hours yesterday in a two story brick building at 3839 Roosevelt road after an explosion of undetermined origin. Damage was estimated by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan at $50,000. He directed 17 engine companies and five hook and ladder companies in battling the blaze. Fifty persons fled to safety from a first floor furniture store owned by Sol Schlesinger and the Douglas Park branch of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and other offices.

A YANK IN INDIA ASKS WHERE ALL GOOD FOOD GOES

Certain detachments of the United States army stationed in India are obliged to eat food of very poor quality, Joseph Khuen, of Washington, D. C., a member of the quartermaster corps, has written in two letters to his brother, Dr. Edward C. Khuen, 3237 Thayer street, Evanston.

One letter, dated Sept. 29, 1943, "somewhere in India," said in part: "The food we have gotten so far is pretty bad but expect it to improve when we reach our destination and an American outfit. Any statements you may have read to the effect we are getting the best of food are purely imagination as far as we are concerned here. Where it is all going we do not know, but we are not getting it."

Cook's Efforts Futile.

The other, dated Oct. 31, 1943, "somewhere in India," said in part: "At mass this morning it was the earnest prayer of each of us that we move from here at the earliest possible date. The food is just as bad as ever in quality and quantity, despite all the efforts of our cook. He does his best, but what can he do if the rations he receives cannot be improved by cooking, etc.?

"Each day we count the jackasses around our place to see how many are missing. Another favorite dish we receive is old goat meat. The goat must have died of old age, it is so tough. Green vegetables are something we've seen once since we arrived in India. They were in cans which I believe we brought ourselves. Balanced diets are totally unknown here. This is the beginning of our fourth month without a word of mail also.

Tells Need for Action.

"We want to get on a job that we feel is doing something to win the contest. Sitting around doing little does not do us any good and gives us far too much time to think about things that would have to be forgotten for awhile if we had jobs to do each day."

8TH FLOOR FIRE IN HOTEL ROUTS SEVERAL GUESTS

Fire starting in an unoccupied room on the seventh floor of the Planters hotel at 19 North Clark street last night drove half a dozen residents on the 8th floor down fire escapes to lower floors, and inflicted damage estimated at $1,000.

Miss Evelyn Harden, 42 years old, an employé of the treasury department, was partly overcome by smoke while making her way down the stairway from her eighth floor room. She was revived by a hotel physician.

Chief Thomas Powers of the 1st battalion, who estimated the damage, said the cause of the blaze was undetermined. Damage was confined to the room where the fire started and a portion of the adjoining hallway.

TIGHTEN RATION RESTRICTIONS ON NEW AUTO SALES

Michael F. Mulcahy, area director of the office of price administration, yesterday instructed ration boards to issue permits for the purchase of new automobiles only when applicants show immediate need. The dwindling supply of new cars, said Mulcahy, has brought an increase from 40,000 to 60,000 miles in the minimum mileage an applicant's car must be driven before it can be considered unserviceable.

Less than 65,000 new cars are available, he said, compared with 532,000 in February, 1942, when rationing began.

Preferred gasoline rations—460 miles a month—were extended yesterday to persons engaged in recruiting and training construction workers and in adjusting labor-management relations in that industry. Each will be entitled to a B coupon book.

ELROD ENDORSED BY DEMOCRATS OF 24TH WARD

The regular Democratic organization of the banner 24th ward, which seldom gives a Republican 10 per cent of the vote, announced yesterday that the 61 precinct captains had unanimously indorsed Arthur X. Elrod for election as ward committeeman April 11. Elrod is serving by appointment to fill the vacancy left by Lt. Col. J. M. Arvey. The ward action was inspired by the circulation of petitions for ward committeeman in behalf of Ald. Fred Fischman.

RE-OPEN INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF ARTIST-DANCER

A coroner's inquest into the death on Nov. 23 of Avlyn Landholm, 20 year old artist and dancer, 4947 Medill avenue, was abruptly continued to Dec. 22 yesterday when Policeman John Sloan of Cragin station disclosed that no complete investigation of the case has been made. He testified that he had started questioning witnesses when he was summoned back to the station and was told that the coroner's office had stopped his investigation.

Deputy Coroner Eugene F. Ingles said a complete investigation would be made and ordered the policeman to bring in several more witnesses.

The erratic behavior of Miss Landholm before she was found dying in Blackhawk park was described by Mrs. Irene Schilling, her landlady.

"Avlyn's roommate, Ellen Sernau, noticed her standing at the window, a bedsheet over her head, her hands clasped in prayer," she said. "Then Avlyn removed all her belongings from the closet and said to burn them. Weeping, she announced that 'I'm going to get married to God.' A physician was called, who prescribed for her and said she needed rest and quiet."

Dr. Samuel A. Levinson, coroner's physician, attributed death to gastric hemorrhages.

RECORD CALLED GOOD REASON TO DISTRUST F. D. R.

Soldier Voting Debate Stirs Tempers.

called Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1940 at which he was 'drafted.'

"I was a helpless delegate at that convention. One of the authors of this bill [Lucas] was also a delegate. And I remember well the inadvertent statement made by Lucas that—

"'If this had been a free and open convention, I would have allowed my name to go before the convention as a candidate for Vice President.'

"I remember one of our delegates from Oklahoma placing the name of Paul V. McNutt before the convention in the form of a draft for the Vice Presidency. And I remember Paul V. McNutt said that he could not under any circumstances allow his name to be placed before the convention, because 'My commander in chief has spoken.'"

Recalls Glass' Remark.

Sen. Moore said Sen. Carter Glass [D., Va.] got from a sick bed to nominate James A. Farley for the Presidency, and that Sen. Glass commented:

"I never expected to live to see the day when the name of Thomas Jefferson would be hissed in a Democratic convention."

"I remember," Sen. Moore went on, "when the order came, thru Harry Hopkins, that Henry A. Wallace was the demand of Franklin D. Roosevelt [for the Vice Presidency].

"When memory is on her knees, there returns the nightmare of that tragic mockery as played at the Chicago convention, where a precedent as strong in the minds and hearts of the people as if it had been written in the Constitution was arrogantly flouted to secure a third term to satiate the greed of an ambitious man for power.

Led to Dictatorship.

"And now, his appetite having grown by what it fed on, we are being led, thru sophistry, into the danger of a fourth term and dictatorship that can never be dislodged short of revolt.

"Is there any justification then, or any reason, for lack of confidence in the candidate for a fourth term? I cannot see how any American devoted to the principles of Thomas Jefferson can help but hang his head in shame when memory of that convention comes to him.

"I cite the conduct of the affairs of the people by the administration under the New Deal as a possible reason why there should be a lack of confidence in the administration of this voting machinery.

Shares Distrust of Millions.

"I share a distrust, with millions of others, of the honesty and integrity of the New Deal administration."

Sen. Moore at this point asked the senate's consent to place in the record a copy of an address made in 1936 by James R. Reed, former Democratic senator from Missouri.

Sen. Lucas objected. Most of the Democrats had by that time left the chamber, but Republicans shouted:

"Read it."

Sen. Moore, who had planned to insert the speech in printed form, thereupon circumvented Sen. Lucas by reading the speech aloud.

"Politician Roosevelt."

"The rest of Roosevelt's record," Sen. Moore read, "is one of broken promises. . . . On the face of his record, I cannot trust Politician Roosevelt any longer, because I cannot trust any man who breaks his word to me and does not even apologize for it."

Sen. Lucas promptly took the floor when Moore concluded, saying:

"Why he [Moore] took particular delight in referring to the 1940 convention is something that he knows better than I. The senator was at that convention, and he did not like the way things went, so he became a convert to the Republican party.

"The truth of the matter is that you do not want the soldiers to vote."

Sen. Lucas then began reading a newspaper story quoting Sen. Moore to the effect that "the White House palace guard knows that the fourth term jig is up."

"Well," said Sen. Lucas, "if the fourth term jig is up, you ought to welcome Mr. Roosevelt as a candidate."

Reads More of Article.

Sen. Lucas read on from the newspaper quotation of Sen. Moore that "the people are determined next year to rid themselves of the Roosevelt-Frankfurter burocrats."

Reading another reference to the "palace guard," Sen. Lucas shouted:

"White House palace guard. God, that's all I've heard in the last year around here—the White House palace guard."

EX-RHODES SCHOLAR NAMED ASSISTANT SOLICITOR OF U. S.

LYONS PICTURES U. S. CARRYING UNRRA BURDEN

Asked to Give Two-Thirds of the Money.

Richard J. Lyons, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, last night questioned the wisdom of plans for mammoth expenditures by the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, with the United States footing most of the bills. He spoke at two G. O. P. organization meetings.

"Any man who will take his pay and put it in the poor box when his own children are starving is not a Christian but a fool," Lyons declared.

Lyons reviewed official anouncements that the United States is expected to contribute more than three times as much as all other nations combined, while having only one vote of the 44 controlling actions of the UNRRA.

United States to Carry Load.

"This is what we are up against as citizens in the crisis year of 1944," Lyons said. "Here we have the UNRRA. I do not criticize the purpose of feeding the unfortunates of the devastated nations, but you should examine the means of doing so.

"As a starter, UNRRA is demanding of the United States 1,500 million dollars—I do not glibly say 1½ billion because I want the picture to be clear. The total asked of the United Kingdom, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, India, the Latin American countries, and others is 495 millions—less than a third as much.

U. S. Gets One Vote of 44.

"At the same time we are to have just one vote out of 44, and I can't help wondering whether this is the highest standard of democracy and equity. Is it a sample of what is to be our fate under proposed world super-government—paying the bills and having practically nothing to say?"

At both meetings Lyons hailed the militant spirit of Republicanism on the march toward the test of 1944. He reviewed a decade of G. O. P. history culminating in the leadershi of Gov. Dwight H. Green, which he said is producing "victorious party harmony."

A 6th congressional district meeting in the Oak Park club attracted all of the 19 ward and township committeemen of the district except two detained by business, plus the leaders of former independent factions. John F. Tyrrell vice chairman of the state central committee, presided.

Other speakers included Arnold P. Benson, president pro tem of the Illinois senate and candidate for the nomination for secretary of state; Ben Berve, Republican state chairman; Mrs. Bertha Baur, Illinois national committeewoman, and Mrs. Helen Griffin, head of the women's division of the state central committee.

The state "harmony ticket" was indorsed and Tyrrell was voted support for reëlection to the state central committee. Approval of the state ticket also was voted later at a meeting headed by Frank Leonard, 47th ward committeeman, at 624 Wrightwood avenue. Leonard was indorsed for reëlection April 11.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Joan McGuire and Billy Connet found ice to their liking on Midway plaisance yesterday.

Ice skating was opened yesterday in 36 Chicago parks and 10 fields were flooded last night to be ready today or tomorrow, George J. Ehmann, park district landscape maintenance supervisor, announced. If cold weather continues, park lagoons are expected to have the required six inches of ice for skating. The lagoons had four inches of ice yesterday.

Rinks will be open today in the following parks:

South side—Bessemer, Grand Crossing, Midway plaisance, James R. Mann, Russell square, Trumbull, and Tuley.

Southwest side—Hamilton, Palmer, Ridge, Gage, and Mark White square.

West side—Altgeld, Dvorak, Jefferson park No. 1, Union, and La Follette.

North side—Waveland in Lincoln park.

EXPERT TRACES 215 BALLOTS TO SINGLE PENMAN

A handwriting expert testified yesterday in the trial of five election officials in the 105th precinct of the 5th ward that he has examined 215 applications for ballots in the precinct election last Feb. 23 and that all were signed by the same person. The five officials are charged with permitting 186 fraudulent votes in a total of 421 cast in the precinct.

The witness, Atty. Rudolph Salmon, 7073 Clyde avenue, said that none of the five defendants has handwriting similar to that found on the 215 applications in question.

DORIS GOES ON WITH RENO SUIT FOR A DIVORCE

Defies Injunction by New Jersey Court.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 15 [Special].—Defying an injunction of the New Jersey Court of Chancery, Mrs. Doris Duke Cromwell, 31 year old tobacco heiress, proceeded here today with the trial of her divorce suit against James H. R. Cromwell.

Possessor of a 220 million dollar fortune and known as the world's richest woman, Mrs. Cromwell came to court in a wool beige topcoat over a brick wool jersey suit. When the case was called she went behind closed doors in the court of Judge William McKnight to give her testimony.

Depositions on Way.

Her Reno attorney, William Woodburn, said the case could not be ended today because all requested depositions that had not yet arrived. The judge then recessed the hearing until Monday.

Mrs. Cromwell was in good spirits as she awaited the start of the trial. When some one in an anteroom introduced her as "Miss Duke," she smiled and said, "Not yet, but, I hope, soon."

After the morning session a reporter asked Mrs. Cromwell if she would marry again if she got the divorce here.

"Good Lord, no!" she exclaimed.

Her suit charges extreme cruelty and alleges a financial settlement between the parties failed because Cromwell, former United States minister to Canada and unsuccessful New Deal candidate for the senate in New Jersey in 1940, demanded 7 million dollars of her money.

Cromwell Fights Residence.

The New Jersey injunction was issued yesterday in Newark on petition of Cromwell, who contends both he and his wife are residents of New Jersey and that her attempt to establish residence in Reno is a fraud on both the New Jersey and Nevada courts. He has a suit pending in New Jersey for a limited divorce which would not permit either party to remarry.

Meyer E. Ruback, attorney for Cromwell, said in Newark yesterday that if Mrs. Cromwell obtains a decree in Reno he will ask the New Jersey court to declare it void.

CHARGES HULL HIDES WASTE IN LATIN AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Sen. Hugh A. Butler [R., Neb.] charged today that Secretary of State Cordell Hull has played into the hands of the New Deal in its attempt to block further investigation of waste in Latin American spending by this country. Furthermore, Butler said, Hull himself is aware of the waste.

Secretary Hull yesterday criticized Butler's report made recently after a 20,000 mile inspection tour of this government's enterprises in Latin America.

In the report the senator said New Deal ideas, outlawed in this country, are being transplanted to Latin America at tremendous cost to citizens of the United States in an attempt to "buy" Latin American good will.

Butler, in a statement today, said that only a sweeping investigation of all costs in Latin America will satisfy the American people.

Lake County Jail Breaker Will Be Sent to Chester

Edward F. Thomas, 54 years old, a Negro watchman under three indictments for armed robbery and one for rape, was transferred from the Lake county jail at Waukegan yesterday to the Illinois Security hospital for criminal insane at Chester. Thomas escaped in 1940 from the state hospital at Kankakee. He was arrested last Sept. 12, and the next day escaped from the Lake county jail. Three days later he was recaptured in Chicago.

STEEL AND RECONVERSION.

The trade magazine Steel discovers that the buying of steel products is falling off and predicts that steel production, in consequence, will decline within the next few weeks.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and of its steel workers' union, makes the same assertion in more detail, coupling with it a plea that to prevent the decline in production the restriction of purchases of steel for civilian use be lifted. Mr. Murray, of course, would rather see the steel workers continue in the steel industry and pay dues to his union than work in some other industry over which he has no control, but he is interested also in seeing that the steel workers work, an objective which the rest of the nation shares.

Executives of the war production board follow up these assertions with a statement that they would like to release 20 million tons of steel for expanded civilian production in 1944, but their efforts are being blocked by a clique of government officials who are maintaining an artificial steel shortage so that they can keep control of the industry and hang on to their jobs.

These are the greedy boys who serve the government that they may better serve themselves, and they are to be found in every agency the New Deal ever set up. They care not a whit how much the nation suffers as long as their pay checks are not interrupted and their burocratic power remains undiminished. They are the reason why WPA was as hard to kill as a barnyard snake and why NYA, HOLC, and a good many other useless and outlawed agencies survive every congressional death sentence and live on in a state of eternal liquidation.

In spite of confusion in the war man power commission more people probably are being fired in this country today than are being hired. We have more of many types of munitions than the army and navy can use, and the plants making them have been shut down. Some of these plants are in the automobile industry, and some of the leaders of that industry have suggested that they be permitted to start retooling in order to resume civilian automobile production as quickly as possible when general war production stops. That, of course, is sensible. The automobile industry, because of its organization for mass production, is going to require considerable time to reconvert to its peace time uses.

At the same time there is a rather general misunderstanding of the problem of reconversion, both as it appears in specific industries and as it applies to the nation generally. There seems to be an idea in Washington that between war and peace time production we shall have a considerable gap during which unemployment may be widespread. That is not necessarily true, and it need happen to only a limited degree if the planners in Washington can be restrained from aggravating the problems of reconversion.

There are many industries, now wholly or principally engaged in war production, that have no reconversion problems. It makes no difference to a packing company whether it is sticking pigs for the army and lend-lease or sticking them for American civilian consumers. It makes very little difference to a steel company whether its products are going to a war plant or to manufacturers for civilian use. It may have to change the formulas of some of its steels and the sizes and nature of its rolled products, but the basic production facilities are at hand and in use and the changes are no greater than are made in many mills as a matter of daily routine. Reconversion is no problem to most textile mills. They will use the same looms, altho they may have to readjust them.

In the machine industries, particularly those organized for mass production, some time will be required for changeovers, but probably not as much as many people believe. The machine tools, or a very high percentage of those necessary, are already at hand, and the principal job will be to rebuild assembly lines. Obviously, it is not going to take any plant as long to get back to the production of something that it made before as it was for it, last year or the year before, to stop making a product with which it was familiar and start making one about which it knew nothing and which, in many instances, required more accurate and intricate manufacture.

The only great problem of reconversion lies in the plants that have never made anything but war materials. Those concerns not only have to reconvert physically but they have to find a product to make and a market in which to sell it. Yet the whole problem of reconversion is treated as if all industries face this same difficulty.

The administration has been hostile to any increase in production for civilian use because, its spokesmen have contended, this would lower morale and the determination to win the war. This argument comes from the school that believes in making people fight harder by beating them over the head. Its members obviously are not quite bright. To delay reconversion where it can be effected because it is not possible to reconvert everywhere is foolish and will hamper the prosecution of the war. The danger of inflation lies in the fact that people have more money than they can find goods to buy with that money. An obvious method of combating the price increases that result from overbidding in a sellers' market is to make more things for people to buy.

Those who stand in the way of reconversion because they delight in making people suffer inconvenience, because they refuse stubbornly to recognize that the production facilities of the country have become greater than can be used for war purposes alone, or because they want to keep their New Deal jobs are also standing in the way of victory and of the successful readjustment of the country after victory.

DIKOBS AND 1649.

The item, "dikobs and soses," found in the notebook of the German immigrant of a hundred years ago about whom we wrote yesterday, meant to him "teacups and saucers."

And, while we're about it, we'd like to add that the date of the toleration act was not 1649, the year in which Charles was beheaded, but 1689, the year of the so-called glorious revolution. We don't know who made the mistake: the professors who compiled the list of dates that every schoolchild should know, or our own young men of the news department. Either way the incident is very satisfactory because it proves that we know lots more about everything than all of them together.

EMPIRES IN THE PACIFIC.

Mr. Eden, British foreign minister, in making a report to parliament on the Cairo and Teheran conferences, did not, as has been noted, add anything to the public information regarding the agreements reached, if any were. Whatever may have been the failure of the get-togethers, particularly the one in Persia with Mr. Stalin, is left undisclosed. Silence implies an embarrassment of opposing views on post-war questions or a decision not to resist what Russia demands.

Some people think that the silence regarding Germany, the failure to make any declaration at all explicit as to the future of that country, and the deferring of nearly all other vital political decisions, indicated that the conferees saw the impossibility of getting into accord and that Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt saved face by ignoring the awkward subjects, being content to satisfy Stalin that they would soon employ the idle allied armies now held in leash at various widely separated stations.

Mr. Eden did undertake, however, to commit Great Britain unequivocally to the war with Japan in which to date the United Kingdom has had only a flag raising participation in the wake of the victorious American troops in the Gilberts. It is a noteworthy feature of this world conflict that the fate of empires is not being directly decided in Europe, wherein all of Great Britain's attention is centered. Germany does not possess any of the lost imperial possessions of the European nations and the defeat of the Nazis will not restore any of them.

Contrariwise, the United States, which has only a few islands, such as Wake, Guam, and the Philippines at stake, is conducting the only campaign now designed to restore the possessors. The Australians are fighting in defense of their homeland in the territory Japan took away from them, but at present America is carrying the burden for repossession of alien empires and it has only promises of support.

Altho material interests are but slightly involved, America regards the war with Japan as one which must be carried to a completely satisfactory settlement. Japan has offended too deeply, the injuries received have been too serious, to be forgotten or forgiven. This country owes a debt to itself to teach Japan that the conduct of which it has been guilty is not profitable and that the ideas it has entertained will not work. In Washington officials say that the way is now clear for a major undertaking against Japanese posts which have been merely approached by the operations to date. It is, of course, to be hoped that the Philippines are within these plans and that the force available will be sufficient.

It is, however, to be suggested that the actual recovery of Malaya, Singapore, Burma, French Indo-China, and the Netherlands East Indies cannot be the primary object of the United States. If our operations cut the supply lines but leave nests of Japanese garrisons which will require fighting similar to that needed in the Gilberts, or on a much larger scale, it should be understood that the actual occupation of these imperial possessions is not a burden devolving upon American troops. There is where European forces should be employed if the empires are to reëstablish themselves.

A nonimperialist country should not be expected to expend its men and resources in the recovery of imperial possessions.

ONE MAN'S LIFE.

[Boston Herald.]

Release of Coast Guardsman Clifford Johnson from the Boston City hospital after nearly a year of treatment for burns received in the Cocoanut Grove disaster means something more than the final escape from death of a single man. Experimental treatments received by Johnson have been followed with extreme interest by the medical profession all over the country. What was learned in this case will be applied to the saving of other lives.

Mr. Johnson suffered injuries from which no person could have recovered a few years ago. Sixty-five per cent of his body was seared and blistered. Without modern treatment, he would have had to be given up as a hopeless case. But sulfa drugs have been developed within the last decade. New ways of applying human albumin, triple aniline dyes, and amino acids have been devised. Even other victims of the night club fire contributed to Johnson's continuing recovery thru their reactions to new treatments.

Important tho all these elements undoubtedly are, a further quantity of human determination and patience was necessary. The doctors and nurses who worked over this young coast guard recruit against mighty odds supplied it in good full measure, and there was the further addition of his own will to live. In this slow, patient battle against death on the home front, we have one more example of how mankind may pull together and a fruitful indication of further progress in medical science.

STARS OF THE WINTER NIGHT.

It was a brilliant midnight of starlight and moonshine; a fine wintry night, indeed, in spite of talk about zero before dawn, for the tonic air was windless. So we walked the dog with enthusiasm in the great open spaces of Evanston's 8th ward [home of the football team of the year, St. George's High school], and contemplated the stars with amateur admiration. Every so often the editor of this column should discuss astronomy with feeling, if not with accuracy; the tradition was established by B. L. T. and we strive to carry on according to the custom of the founder.

* * *

B. L. T. was entranced by a star named Canopus and wrote a poem about it, well remembered by its line, "a star that has no parallax to speak of conduces to repose." We believe that he made Canopus famous among laymen; astronomers, of course, were fairly well informed about this exceedingly remote, second brightest star before B. L. T. became its press agent. We must confess, however, that we have never seen Canopus, and we have a sneaking suspicion that its literary spokesman was also deprived of this blessing.

* * *

Canopus cannot be seen north of El Paso, Tex.; Vicksburg, Miss., and Savannah, Ga. We doubt if B. L. T. ever took a winter vacation in the southlands; when he rusticated he preferred summer outings in the north woods. Its name and reputation fascinated him, and he saw it in the mind's eye only.

* * *

Therefore let us dismiss Canopus as AWOL and consider the greatest star-show of the two hemispheres, the constellation Orion, king of the winter heavens. It is a great, glittering tangle of stars, with a nebula to boot. It carries Betelgeuse, Bellatrix, and Rigel, first degree sparklers, and many lesser stars to make the Hunter's belt, dagger, club, and bow. For neighbors it has such big timers as Aldebaran, Sirius, and Procyon.

* * *

For a Christmas eve star you can't do better than choose one from Orion. He is on view every night at this time of year; no charge. Betelgeuse is a variable star; he might have been in an extra burst of brightness That Night over Bethlehem.

LETTER TO S. CLAUS.

Dear Santa: There's not much I want
For Christmas when the papers flaunt

In screaming headlines, "Stocks are low
And prices high!" (How well I know.)

As it's more blessed, I believe,
For one to give than to receive,

Forget the hints, both tall and broad,
I've dropped for trinket, toy, and gaud.

Forget the streamlined motor-car,
Golf clubs, rod, reel, gun, cocktail bar,

And all those rationed gifts, anon,
That I had set my heart upon.

But if you find there is enough,
I'd like a fraction of this stuff.

A fraction, did I say? Right now
I'd settle for a "fifth"—and how!

History of the Gold Coast—LIII.

Chicago increased one million in population between the world's fair and 1910. Its busiest parts were still along the river and its branches, lined with freight houses, lumber yards, factories, and elevators. The river and the south branch were once more streams of clean water, due to the reversal of flow by the ship and sanitary canal. It was still covered with shipping. In the early morning hours this neighborhood was wakened by the clanging of bridge bells and a chorus of whistles as the fleet of freighters made its way to and from the lake. Rush street bridge was still the principal connection between the south and north sides. Over it during the waking hours poured a tremendous traffic of vehicles of all kinds, greater in volume than that crossing the famed bridge of Londen Town.

The city was agreed that something should be done about relieving the congestion. The north and south sides must be linked by a wide, safe bridge and boulevard. At this time the Chicago Commercial club financed the preparation of a city plan by a group of architects headed by D. H. Burnham. These showed an impracticable civic center at Congress and Halsted streets, in the center of which was a tremendous city hall with a top-heavy, foolscap dome. From it radiated numerous diagonal boulevards.

The other main feature was a link boulevard connecting Michigan avenue and the stub end of Pine street, by-passing Rush, the oldest street in the city. This plan also provided for the beautification of the river, but forgot that it had made Chicago what it was. The docks were replaced with pretty quais and bridges, and on the river were to be dinky, quaint barges à la Seine at Paris. At the mouth was a steamboat captain's nightmare of a harbor. The plan was high pressured on the people and steps were taken to make it a reality. Captain John.

EPISODE AT A DINNER.

(For the Line o' Type's men in uniform.)

"A moment of silence," the great Duke said,
"For the seven who went to the wars!"
And the tumult died as our thoughts were sped
To our faraway troubadours.

We toasted the valiant in memory's wine,
Our jesters, and poets, and seers;
Friends and companions, bound close by the Line,
In the camps and the tented frontiers.

The moment soon passed, and the merriment rose
In the quest of our curious lore,
But the seven away where our bright banner blows
Were nearer than ever before!

IN RICKETS, GIVE SUNLIGHT.

THE story of rickets is a tale involving ignorance of adequate feeding. It is our most striking deficiency disease. The victims lack vitamin D and, in addition, receive too little of Old Sol's rays.

What we know about sunlight has been taught us by primitive peoples. Early explorers failed to find this condition among the children of nomadic tribes. It was only when population crowded into urban areas, with the coming of smoky, dusty atmospheres which effectively filtered out the ultraviolet, that the ailment became common. The sun can manufacture D in the skin and this source is even better than that provided by cod liver oil.

In our own large cities, we find the malady particularly among Negroes and the offspring of immigrants from along the Mediterranean. Only rarely will it be encountered in rural districts where the diet is better. In addition, small town youngsters are likely to be out of doors more days of the year.

Symptoms include sweating about the head, fretfulness, and constipation. But these signs are usually incidental. They come because the child is weak and rundown. X-ray films will reveal that the bones are not developing properly.

A characteristic indication is the recognition of craniotabes—thin spots in the infant's skull which can be felt with the finger. Light pressure may elicit crackling. While there are other causes of this phenomenon, if it is present, a careful examination of the skeleton will usually reveal the typical changes.

Altho the spine is seldom affected in mild cases, the joints of the wrists and the ankles may be enlarged until they appear double. Bending occurs in most of the long bones and that of the upper arm may present an outward and forward curve. The legs are bowed, as all the ligaments are loose and overconstricted.

Are muscles disturbed? Yes, they are small, flabby, and poorly developed. Not infrequently, the little one will be unable to sit erect, stand, or walk at the normal age. It is this inability to toddle which occasions a visit to the physician.

The same measures which will prevent rickets will cure it—namely, vitamin D and direct exposure to actinic rays. The rapidity of healing will depend upon how vigorously treatment can be pushed. Almost every one can take cod liver oil and a good grade should be selected. Irradiated milk may be employed and other foods can be enriched with vitamin D. The physician may prescribe from five to ten thousand units a day of a concentrated preparation. Furthermore, liver soup and egg yolk may be included in the diet.

During the summer, outdoor exposure may be arranged for. In the colder season, artificial light is easy to administer. In fact, all the children in the family will benefit with a substantial dose of ultraviolet each day. Most mothers start cod liver oil when the newborn babe is two months old. If this is continued, there is no danger that this crippling, deforming disorder will gain a foothold.

Travel Notes.

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 15.—The waiter on the train out of Washington was pre-war stock. He set down the snappy service plate luncheon with an air of indignant sorrow and leaned back against the diner wall to see what happened to it. On it were three thin slices of tomato baked on toast and floated in a mealy yellow liquid advertised as au gratin. The liquid congealed around a mashed vegetable that seemed to be spinach roots, also au gratin. All moved smoothly into a field of lumpy mashed potatoes. This, together with coffee and cold bread and butter, was yours for $1.10.

"Like it, ma'am?" the waiter finally asked in wonder. "No," came the prompt reply from this quarter. "Well, ma'am," he said softly, sadly, "I been regardin' that, and I been saying to myself, boy, I nevah seen so little for so much."

The train was half an hour late pulling into New York. About 10 minutes out the conductor lent a sympathetic ear to an account of how we were about to miss the only plane to Canada. He volunteered to open a side door and hail a red cap. "Then you run for a cab," he cautioned. He leaned against the chair a minute to reflect. "Flying to Canada," he mused. "Know where we are now, ma'am? We're under the water. Going thru the Holland tunnel under the river. If you catch that plane, you can just sit back and say to yourself, 'Well, science is wonderful.'" In the space of one hour I was on land, under water, and in the air.

Now a hair raising ride to the New York airport, always on the lookout for a free clock with the correct time. New York has a dearth of free clocks. Of the two we spotted, one had stopped. "A person can get killed on a ride like this if he ain't careful," the cab driver observes comfortingly as he weaves dexterously in and out of traffic, thru underpasses and over arching bridges. New York wheels by in a haze of Christmas trees, gemlike shop windows, and curbstone fruit stands with oranges at 10 cents apiece. "Practically any driver can lose his way getting to the airport," the driver says chattily. "We still got 15 minutes not to get lost in." So we get there.

The airport looks somewhat like a Christmas tree itself. The field is dotted with landing flares of sapphire blue and deep red, and thin horizontal lines of red stream out from the various buildings.

You're in the airport proper only long enough to be weighed in, to get a fleeting vision of the lovely bronze signs of the zodiac embossed in a circle above a slowly twisting globe of the world. Then you're walking miles out to Gate 1 thru covered corridors to see the immigration authorities, produce evidence that you are an American citizen, thank the courtly official when he says your identification picture is unflattering, and tell him why you are going to Canada anyway and how long you expect to stay. "It's cold there," he warns you. "Better put on your stockings."

Then you are 8,000 feet up and looking at the lighted jewels made by the habitations of grounded people. The man behind you says, "It's wonderful to be able to look down at those lights and know they don't have to be dimmed, isn't it?" He pauses and adds, "Haven't seen that in England in four years. I just left there."

Suddenly the moon is up, golden, lopsided, and refulgent, leaping along above the clouds with you, its light making a golden lane along their fluffy tops, and the plane is descending. Airport attendants, girls in fur lined parkas and slacks are running around to attend the plane, and you are being led to the customs authorities. A typewriter is as valuable and controversial an importation as liquor. You have to declare it, and, after a long telephone conversation, it is admitted. So are you, but for a minute or two the whole episode makes you feel decidedly like a spy.

NO MILITARY VALUE.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Your editorial, "Sinatra Gets a Pass," in today's TRIBUNE hit the peg. I am 36 years old, in the army since March 25, 1942, was with a division now in Italy, and had a leg operation before they left this country. So here I am down at Fort Knox in a "dead head" outfit. I have a good job waiting at home, but as you say, the army is full of us fellows. No use at all! Just sit by and wait—for what? A. H.

SPECIAL HANDLING.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—The "shortage of help" excuse is used nowadays for all errors, but I would like to let people who intend shipping Christmas gifts, especially to soldiers, know just what happened to my parcel. This is an excerpt of a letter which I received from my father, who is in Texas for his health.

"I received the parcel you sent me, for which I am very grateful, and appreciate your thoughts which surround the contents, but you should have seen the contents of the box. The center jar of jelly was completely crushed and the cover on one jar was bent and loose. One jar was O. K. One was broken so badly I don't know what was in it. I took the mess to the postoffice and asked them what they could do about it and they said nothing could be done. I told them to keep it and walked away feeling pretty blue.

"I showed the mess to a soldier's wife and she said, 'O, my gosh, my mother is sending me an alarm clock and I hope they don't break that. She got the clock next morning, which was wrapped in a blanket, and the glass broken in pieces. I recently received a box of cookies and when I opened the box it looked like sawdust. I surely would hate to be shipped in a casket. If you should send anything else to me be sure to put it in a steel drum."

This package was examined by the clerk in the postoffice and I paid 69 cents for first class and special handling charge. It was marked "fragile" all over the package. Will some one please tell me how I should wrap my next package? We are told daily to conserve, but does this omit the people handling shipments? DISGUSTED.

HOW THE JAPS BATHE.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Everett L. Dakan of the war relocation authority spoke truly when he said that the Japanese could teach middle westerners something about bathing. Any one who knows anything about Japan knows that the average Nip family does not have a bath tub in their home. They have community bathing pools where both the men and women bathe at the same time in the nude. This would indeed be an innovation for we conventional middle westerners. Perhaps, after the war, the WPA will be busy building community bathing pools for us. Of course, the New Deal would ban the manufacture of bathing suits.

YANCY WILLIAMS.

PRIVATE ON GEN. PATTON.

Alamogordo, N. M., Dec. 11.—A great deal of heat seems to have been generated by the "Patton incident"; in fact, as Woodrow Wilson might have put it, more heat than light. Some extremists would have Gen. Patton shorn of his rank without questioning its legal and moral aspects. Still other less enlightened extremists would have the incident closed without further discussion.

To any soldier familiar with the articles of war, Gen. Patton's action in striking an enlisted man, under the circumstances that he did, renders him subject to the 96th article of war which specifically states that "all disorders and neglects to the prejudice of good order and military discipline and all conduct of a nature to bring discredit upon the military service shall be taken cognizance of by a general or special or summary court-martial and punished at the discretion of such court." As far as I have been able to determine, there is no authority for according a man any degree of immunity because of his rank or position.

Apart from the purely legal aspects of this case, there is another point to be considered. Is the man himself personally qualified to guide and control the destinies of some odd thousands of men? General Patton may know his business as a soldier and from all reports, he may know it exceedingly well. But a man's utility as an officer and concomitantly, a leader of men, can be seriously impaired by any action on his part that may raise the question as to his ethical soundness of mind. In Gen. Patton's case, his greatest weakness would seem to be of this character. In addition to his abuse of an incapacitated soldier we have a reported instance of his inhumane treatment of animals. We have also heard reports of his tendency to fire his revolver into the air while calling down subordinates, not to mention his predilection for great mouth-filling oaths.

In the face of this evidence, there is but one action to initiate. Gen. Patton is a victim of war nerves. He should be relieved of his command and hospitalized until such time when he may regain full control of his emotions and the judicious exercise thereof.

FLY PROMISES PLAN TO MERGE RADIO SERVICES

FCC Head at ICC Quiz on Press Wireless Charge.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—A merger of international communications facilities will be recommended to the senate interstate commerce committee by the federal communications commission, James L. Fly, chairman of the FCC, told the committee today.

Fly appeared to answer charges made Dec. 1 by Joseph Pierson of Wilmette, Ill., president of Press Wireless, Inc., that the FCC had discriminated against it in refusing licenses to transmit news matter from overseas points.

The committee is holding hearings on the Wheeler-White bill to amend the federal communications act.

Calls It New Company.

"It complicates the international communications picture to have new companies moving into the commercial field on the eve of unification," they said. The United States is the only country that tolerates such a condition."

Press Wireless, indirectly referred to by Fly as a "new company," was organized in 1929 for the independent transmission of foreign news to American newspapers, press associations, and radio stations direct from its source. When the war started, the company had world-wide transmitting facilities, was sending between 300,000 and 400,000 words daily, and had started to build its own equipment. Last year the company handled 6.6 per cent of the press copy coming into the United States.

Pierson had told the committee, headed by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], that Press Wireless had applied unsuccessfully for permission to transmit North African war news from Algiers in December, 1942, but that Mackay radio had been granted the right in that area without a hearing.

Willing to Do Full Job.

The FCC had held that Mackay had a contract with the French government, altho Press Wireless held a similar contract. The FCC further ruled that only companies equipped to handle commercial messages could be granted the right to transmit from war zones. As a result Press Wireless recently applied for the right to handle commercial business.

Fly told the committee today the FCC had suggested a hearing to Press Wireless on the company's commercial application but that Press Wireless had "worked on the outside and stirred up a lot of trouble. The matter is pending."

"Is it going to pend for the duration of the war?" asked Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], a member.

"The next move is up to Press Wireless," said Fly.

FCC WILL ISSUE RADIO STATIONS 3 YEAR LICENSES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—The federal communications commission decided today to issue radio station licenses for a three year period, instead of two years as at present. The three year period is the maximum allowed by the communications act.

Station operators have urged the three year license period, which will not go into effect immediately, however. The commission said initial renewals would be for staggered periods, ranging from one year to two years and nine months. Thereafter all regular licenses will be for three years.

This is being done, the FCC explained, to arrange license expiration dates of stations operating on the same channel so that they will expire at the same time, and to spread the work incident to examination of applications for renewals.

IMPUTE ACTS TO LAGUARDIA THAT COULD OUST HIM

New York, Dec. 15 [Special].—Violations of the city charter, serious enough to entail forfeiture of office, today were imputed to Mayor Fiorello La Guardia and his sanitation commissioner, William F. Carey, in a report by the city council committee investigating the mayor's administration.

The report, first instalment of a series prepared by the council committee, charged that Carey violated the charter and committed a misdemeanor by continuing his private business activities while heading the department of sanitation. La Guardia, the report declared, was as guilty as his subordinates, assuming as true Carey's testimony that he retained his private connections with the mayor's knowledge and consent.

STICKNEY SAILOR HELD FOR AIDING SOLDIER DESERT

Thomas M. Mihalic, 19 years old, of 4515 South Wisconsin avenue, Stickney, was held in $500 bond for further hearing Saturday by Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday on a charge of aiding a Canadian to desert from the British army in North Africa. Mihalic is a member of the merchant marine.

Edward J. Bradley Jr., an assistant United States attorney, said Mihalic and two shipmates, whom he named as Harvey Otto Matt and Red Welton, stowed Thomas D. Dunsmuir aboard their ship and landed him, thru loaned credentials and civilian clothes, at Norfolk, Va. Dunsmuir was arrested in Miami, Fla., and Matt in Milwaukee, Wis. Welton is being sought. All are wanted at Norfolk.

Mihalic admitted to the court that the British deserter was brought aboard his ship at an Algerian port, that he was hidden in the forecastle, and given food and drink during the voyage home, but he denied that he took an active part in the scheme.

FOUR INDIANA CITIES TO FIGHT POLLUTION PLEA

City attorneys for four Indiana cities ordered by the United States Supreme court to show cause why they should not be enjoined from dumping sewage and industrial waste in Lake Michigan will file answers this week opposing the injunction petition, they said last night. The state of Indiana also is a defendant.

The injunction was asked by Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett of Illinois in October and the respondents have until Dec. 20 to file answers. John Roszkowski and Harry Stilley, of Gary and Hammond respectively, will contend that sewage of the cities is adequately treated by disposal plants and deny any pollution.

Lloyd Cohen of East Chicago will contend that the city's disposal plant cannot be completed because of lack of materials; that Illinois industries are polluting the lake. James S. McCarthy of Whiting, said his answer will admit pollution, but argue nothing can be done until the war production board releases essential materials.

BLOOD DONORS ASKED TO GIVE ANOTHER FIFTH

The newly announced 20 per cent national increase in army and navy blood requirements will raise Chicago's weekly quota from 5,000 to 6,000 pints in 1944, Ralph A. Baier, director of the blood donor service of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, announced yesterday.

The national increase of 20 per cent will call for a total of 6 million pints of blood in 1944, the Red Cross national headquarters in Washington, D. C., stated.

Baier said that Chicago will meet its existing quotas if the holidays do not bring a lag in contributions.

MULCAHY NOW SEEMS WINNER OF SHERIFF JOB

Candidacy Tops List of Gambling Developments.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Developments in the campaign against protected gambling, which State's Atty. Courtney said yesterday is going to be continued thruout the winter, were as follows:

M. F. Mulcahy.

1. Michael F. Mulcahy, now Chicago area administrator for the office of price administration, appeared to have been selected for appointment as sheriff next week by the county board.

2. Assistant State's Atty. Joseph Burke said he would ask for the indictment of four more gambling house keepers of the Town Hall police station district tomorrow, making a total of eight handbook operators of that precinct to be accused.

Drury Charges to Be Filed.

3. Police Commissioner James P. Allman said that charges against Acting Capt. William Drury, who was in charge at the Town Hall station until his suspension last month, would be filed today with the civil service commission.

4. Police Capts. Francis J. Malone and Walter Healy obtained continuances when arraigned before the police trial board on charges of having failed to suppress gambling.

5. Eight men accused in previous indictments of conspiring to evade the laws against gambling surrendered and gave bond before Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epstein of Criminal court.

Mulcahy was said by intimates to have agreed to accept the appointment as sheriff, which Mayor Kelly is expected to offer him. The mayor was home ill yesterday and said he couldn't discuss politics, but it was understood he had decided on Mulcahy.

Smith Confirms Offer.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, which has the power to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Sheriff Peter B. Carey, said Mulcahy was under consideration, but had not yet said whether he was willing to take the office. Coroner A. L. Brodie is temporarily in charge of the sheriff's office.

"If Mulcahy wants the job I believe he can have it," Smith said. "I am sure there would be no opposition to his selection."

Mulcahy has not announced his willingness to accept the office, but at OPA headquarters it was understood he was preparing to leave for a new job.

Mulcahy, an attorney, was alderman of the 8th ward from 1935 to 1939. Subsequently, he was president of the board of local improvements and an assistant corporation counsel, then local tire rationing administrator. He is 45 years old, married and has two daughters. He lives at 959 East 84th street.

Sheriff Carey died while a grand jury was investigating gambling. County Chief Hugh McCarthy and several deputies were indicted and others removed because of the disclosures.

The grand jury was said to have considered evidence yesterday concerning gambling houses said to have been operated by Manuel Kemp, Jack Katz, Sam Miller, and William Nichols, all in the Town Hall district.

The alleged gamblers who gave bail were Karl Nemo, Julius Steuben, John Kennedy, Ralph Lang, James Garfield, Henry Bachner, Jack Schwartz, and Edward Gedmin.

"BIG 4" WHISKY FIRMS TO FACE U. S. GRAND JURY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—A federal grand jury will begin an investigation of the liquor industry early next month, it was disclosed today with issuance of subpenas for various records and documents of the industry's "big four."

The subpenas were made returnable Jan. 6 to the regular District of Columbia grand jury.

Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc., Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, Inc., National Distillers Products corporation, and Schenley Distillers corporation were directed to produce their records and documents.

Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, told reporters in mid-November that his division was making a far reaching investigation of the liquor industry, but said at that time it had not been decided whether the evidence would be put before a grand jury.

COURT CHARGES ILLEGAL RAIDS MADE ON HOMES

Sixty per cent of all gambling cases in Racket court during the last six weeks have been based on illegal police raids and arrests in private homes and other noncommercial establishments, Municipal Judge Oscar S. Caplan charged yesterday.

The court added that in the meantime there had been a commensurate absence of cases against known professional bookmakers and others engaged in syndicate and commercialized gaming of all kinds.

Raids on Home Gamblers.

"You may use your own judgment," he added. "The cases as they were presented by the police are on the books and they will show that 60 per cent were arrests in small card games in homes—seven or eight playing in a private dwelling, $2.07 on the table, etc.—such cases as that. Then, of course, there are these two cases today."

The court referred to cases against Mrs. Nellie Schulman, 9915 Calumet avenue, and John Chase, caretaker of Darius-Girenas post 271 of the American Legion, 4416 South Western avenue, both charged with possession of gambling paraphernalia—slot and pinball machines.

Slot Machines Confiscated.

Both defendants were discharged, altho in each case a slot machine was confiscated by the court, who advised the defendants' attorneys they might seek their return with a replevin process against the city custodian.

Mrs. Schulman, wife of Chris Schulman, an electrical contractor, told the court she advertised several slot and pinball machines for sale in a neighborhood newspaper. Police Capt. Harry O'Connell of Burnside station admitted he went to her home in plain clothes and posed as a prospective purchaser, thereby gaining admittance and arresting Mrs. Schulman.

In Chase's case, two policemen had gone to the headquarters maintained by the Legion post.

DECORATE 5 AIR LINE FLYERS FOR SURVEY OF ROUTE FOR ARMY

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—The air medal was presented today by Maj. Gen. Harold George, commander of the army air transport command, to the five members of an American Air Lines crew who made the initial survey flight for the command to North Africa via the Presque Isle, Me., and Newfoundland route.

The men, who made the flight last April 15, were John F. Davidson, Manhasset, N. Y., captain and pilot of the plane; G. W. Smith, Marion, Ind., radio officer; J. E. Brown, Peoria, Ill., navigator; M. G. Beard, Shelton, Conn., flight engineer, and B. Hay, first officer and co-pilot, who is in foreign service and received his medal in absentia.

Their citation read: "For outstanding professional ability in the performance of their duty despite untried navigational facilities and lack of flying aids." The route was flown nonstop in 11 hours.

GARY COUNTRY CLUB BURNED; LOSS IS $70,000

Fire starting in the boiler room last night destroyed the Gary Country club, seven miles south of Gary, Ind. Ben Waddell, the caretaker, was overcome by smoke while attempting to extinguish the fire before the arrival of fire equipment from Gary and Crown Point.

R. A. Hodge, club president, said the loss included $15,000 worth of golf clubs stored in the building, $5,000 worth of liquor, and at least $50,000 to the one story, frame club building, of which $50,000 is covered by insurance.

Hodge said he will announce today the cancellation of the club's annual New Year's party. Reason—no liquor, no club.

Dear Sir,
I have just returned here after a furlough visit to New York where I stayed at the New Yorker. This was also my honeymoon trip. as I married a girl. who has stuck by me through four years of War.

Im an American who has spent most of my life in England- and until I came back from England and the RAF I didnt know too much about America- and.... the simple things that come under the heading of Freedom. the things we think about in combat. little things like hamburgers and ice-cream.

Im darn glad I stayed at the New Yorker- because it has given me a better understanding of things American- and the ways that we live- I will not forget that visit.

There's nowhere in the world where a little guy can be so important as I was at the New Yorker- which was well within my means- and the service- it wasnt all for just "tips" one of your men turned back fifty cents to me with the words- "I cant take anything from one of Uncle Sams boys" Things like- when the bellboy picked up our bag and said- "Is this yours Mrs. [redacted] He was the very first to call her that- The swank room and the cheerfulness of everyone. all these things I will not forget as Im about to leave for overseas again.

I am not writing you just to say "Thanks" but to try and impress all those swell folks who work at the NewYorker with the important job that they are doing in this War. Maybe they dont make tanks, guns or planes, but without them there wouldnt be any New Yorker- and by their efforts and hard work- a system or style of living is preserved under difficult conditions of Wartime shortages of labour- and by so carrying on- they are giving those of us who must fight- a swell time as we say "Goodbye" and some swell memories to think about- to plan about when America- and places like the NewYorker- are a long ways off from the grim surroundings of War such as I have known. So please Sir. bring these thoughts to the little guys and gals of the New Yorker- because perhaps sometimes- they might feel outside of this Big Parade towards Victory- when in reality they are the very heart of it- in the operation of things American- like the Hotel NewYorker- So.... Carry On. We who have stayed under your roof- plan big things there one day. One day when this is all over, and [redacted] our efforts are all towards that end- and while we dream and plan. I know that the NewYorker is doing likewise. To welcome us all back home.

Sincerely.

WPB PRACTICES CALLED PERIL TO AUTO TRANSPORT

Truman Report Warns of Trucking Breakdown.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Scrap drives conducted by the WPB last year contributed in part to a critical situation which transportation systems, particularly the trucking industry, face in 1944, a report of the Truman committee disclosed today.

Sen. James M. Mead.

Terming the lack of adequate facilities for motor transport "the most serious situation with respect to transportation," the Truman committee, which is investigating the national defense program, reviewed in a 43 page report the prospects of the nation's transportation facilities holding out for another year of war.

Warning that the practice of using motor trucks and buses long past their normal life because of lack of sufficient new vehicles makes mandatory a steady supply of replacement parts, the report called on WPB to revamp its parts production program and brought into sharp focus mistakes of WPB in the past.

Parts Supply Depleted.

"Inventories of parts have become depleted," said the report, presented to the senate today by Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.]. "The shortage of replacement parts was further aggravated by a vigorous scrap drive instituted by the war production board in 1942 which resulted in approximately 4 million motor vehicles in the nation's junk yards being broken up and shipped to the steel mills.

A tremendous number of serviceable parts, which in normal times would have been fed back into the motor-transport system, were destroyed and the civilian market was deprived of these reserves.

"The war is not over, and the volume of traffic to be handled in 1944 is expected to exceed substantially the record breaking volume handled in 1943. In the case of many transportation services the volume estimated for 1944 is determined not by the demand, but by the estimated limit of capacity."

Trucks, railroad equipment, rails, buses, and tires are wearing out and must be replaced, Mead said.

A recommendation that the war department study its needs for trucks closely with an eye to allowing more for civilian use was made by the committee, along with a suggestion that airplanes taken from the air lines for war purposes be returned as soon as possible. It also was recommended that the war and navy departments eliminate unnecessary transportation of troops in training.

Locomotive Output Impeded.

Several instances of what were described as poor planning by government bureaus were cited in the report, including:

1. Railroad track maintenance has been hampered by the WPB, the OPA, and the office of defense transportation. ODT and WPB schedules call for monthly deliveries of rails and equipment. "The quantities thus made available are not sufficient to permit their efficient use," the report said, and in another paragraph added, "The supply of ties available for 1944 will be less than needs by a substantial amount. The lumber situation has become critical thru military demands, thru OPA price limitation discouraging lumber operations and thru local labor shortages."

2. Locomotive production has been hampered by various agencies. The committee report contends that WPB priority ratings were such that manufacturers of locomotives could not receive materials at the times and in the quantities required.

The report praises the overcoming of difficulties by the various transportation systems, and the high quality of transportation service.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with queries.]

L. F. T. writes: "About these discharge buttons. I served in the Officers Reserve corps and was released in 1940. Am I entitled to the button?"

ANSWER: Not unless you were discharged while in federal service.

H. C. E. asks: "I am a father and I am in the process of induction. Will I be withdrawn by my board?"

ANSWER: No, not unless you are among the group of fathers in nondeferable activities and then not unless your board has called you out of sequence of order number. In other words, if it is your normal time to go into service—you'll go.

H. W. T. asks: "Can we get the final type physical examinations now at the induction stations before actual induction as provided for in the new law just passed?"

ANSWER: No. The boards have not received either the regulations or instructions as yet and probably will not for several weeks.

H. K. C. asks: "Is there still a chance of getting a commission in the coast guard now by appointment or promotion?"

ANSWER: The coast guard is rapidly approaching its maximum officer compliment, accordingly the reserve officer training classes for male officers is being discontinued. Henceforth all replacements will be made by temporary promotion of warrant and commissioned officers.

W. T. R. writes: "I was an advertising man before entering service. It appears I will be discharged shortly and I know it is going to be tough to get started again. I don't think I'd fit in a war plant. Do you have any suggestions?"

ANSWER: Former advertising men of the Chicago area are invited by Chicago Post 170, Placement Committee, Tribune Tower, Chicago 11, Ill., to get in touch with it before leaving the services. The committee will present the Yank's qualifications to prospective employers.

B. C. A. writes: "I am the divorced wife of a man in service. I have remarried since our divorce and my husband has adopted the child of the first marriage. My ex-husband has written that he named this child as beneficiary of his gratuity pay."

ANSWER: Your ex-husband's intentions are very good but the comptroller general has handed down a decision which states the payment of the said "gratuity on behalf of such adopted children is unauthorized."

J. H. O. writes: "I'm 34 and a father. I heard we will be called by age groups and not order numbers which makes me absolutely safe for at least a year. What I want to know is, is it true?"

ANSWER: Just a rumor. Fathers will be called by order number.

TRUCK GASOLINE TANK EXPLODES; 5 FIREMEN HURT

Five Oak Lawn firemen were burned on the face and hands yesterday when an auxiliary gasoline tank on a produce truck exploded as they were trying to extinguish a fire. The truck, 20 barrels of dressed turkeys and chickens, and 111 crates of eggs were destroyed. The fire started on the truck of Robert Williams of Loda, Iroquois county, at 122d street and Cicero avenue, near Oak Lawn. Those injured were Chief Elmer Harker, Capt. Paul Bruggeman, Leonard Remo, Jack Nemeck, and Edward Schmalen. They were given first aid at the Little Company of Mary hospital.

Dean of Girls Enters Not Guilty Plea; Trial Jan. 4

Pleas of not guilty to charges of adultery and disorderly conduct were entered yesterday in behalf of Mrs. Jeanet Nicol Freckelton, dean of girls at Lindblom High school, and Porter Craig, Harvey bus driver. The charges were preferred by Mrs. Freckelton's estranged husband, William J. Freckelton. Judge J. M. Braude set Jan. 4 as the date of the jury trial requested by Mrs. Freckelton's new lawyer, Emmet F. Byrne. The defendants were not in court.

BRONZE HORSES HERE ARE GIVEN SCULPTORS' O.K.

We Show Generals Riding Mounts They'd Like.

In a recent article in THE TRIBUNE column, Front Views and Profiles, Miss Marcia Winn reported from Washington, D. C., on the state of the nation's bronze horses—those steeds our generals ride in the statues in capital parks. They're no fine chargers, she wrote of the horses. Instead they all appear to be modeled from a ratty little beast that probably would turn tail for home in battle.

That piece moved one Chicagoan to write that this city could do better. We have, the writer said, "a perfect and lifelike image of a beautiful horse." It's the mount Gen. Grant has been sitting on in Lincoln park since 1891.

That led to an investigation of this city's bronze horses on the theory that if they're good, Chicagoans should know about it—in case they ever go to Washington.

Sculptors Approve Ours.

Well, our generals do sit on good horses, in the opinions of two Chicago sculptors, Frederick Hibbard and Albin Polasek. But both said that Grant's perch was too high up for a good look. Polasek said the pedestal dominated the horse, while Hibbard simply noted he didn't know of anything wrong with the horse, but on the other hand wouldn't call it perfect.

Considered more sculptural is the steed Edward C. Potter made for Gen. Washington to ride which commands the entrance to Washington park. A monumental horse, it seems, has to be oversize so his legs won't disappear into spindles or nothingness in the landscape.

Finds Views Differ.

And what sculptors like, a veterinary may criticize, Hibbard found in a year spent studying horses at the stock yards preparatory to making a Gen. Grant statue for Vicksburg, Miss. He found that one piece of horse sculpture he'd been taught was good was a victim of every disease a horse could have—from a veterinarian's view.

GROWERS SCORE OPA PROCEDURE IN RULE MAKING

Vigorous protest against what it described as the practice of the office of price administration in making rules and regulations and setting prices without the advice of practical men in the industry involved was voiced by the Vegetable Growers Association of America at the closing session of its convention in Hotel Sherman yesterday.

In other resolutions, the association opposed all subsidies on fresh vegetables as inflationary; urged removal of ceiling prices on vegetables, and demanded that sufficient farm machinery be made available to help in growing and marketing next season's crops.

Leo J. Hagemann of Peoria was elected president.

ABSOLVE SLAYER OF AGED UNCLES IN TEXAS HOME

Victoria, Tex., Dec. 15 [Special].—Sheriff R. A. Rogan said today a coroner's jury has found that Earl Walker, 47 year old veterar of the World war, killed two aged uncles in self-defense yesterday after they had wounded him in the head and had shot and killed his father, J. H. Walker, 85. The uncles are Oliver Walker, 79, and Alonzo Walker, 81, bachelors.

The sheriff said Walker told authorities he and his father were in the main farm house when Oliver and Alonzo walked in carrying pistols and began firing at them.

After being wounded, Earl seized a hammer, with which he attacked one of his uncles and disarmed him, he said. He then shot both men.

"No further proceedings or prosecution is planned," the sheriff said.

Do you know ... WHY YOUR DOG EATS GREEN GRASS?

It's because instinct tells him he needs something he is not getting in his food. That something is Vitamin "A". The element he gets from green grass is carotene and carotene is transformed into Vitamin "A" activity when taken into the dog's system.

IDEAL RETAINS "A" VITAMINS INDEFINITELY

Putting Vitamin "A" into a food and having it stay there are two very different things. Chemical analyses prove that Vitamin "A" is fugitive, fleeting—that in time it escapes—disappears—evaporates—from even the tightest container.

To experienced Dog Food Nutritionists the absolute need for potent "A" Vitamins in the canine diet is an accepted fact. As a result of years of research, Wilson & Co. offers in Ideal a dog food which retains these otherwise fugitive potent "A" Vitamins indefinitely.

YOUR DOG IS COLOR-BLIND
He sees shades of gray only. Ideal Dog Food looks about the same to him, in color, as red meat.

GET YOUR DOG STARTED WITH THE "BOLUS" METHOD
Form moist Ideal into a bolus or large pill. Call your dog as for a special treat. Put the bolus in his mouth and then gently stroke his throat, to induce swallowing. Once swallowed, Ideal will be enjoyed by his stomach. Do this several times and put a few boluses on top of Ideal in his dish and he will soon get used to eating it freely from the dish. Ask your dealer today for the interesting new Wilson & Co. booklet on dog feeding.
WILSON & CO.

A Complete All-In-One Mixed Diet
This food is the result of years of dog food manufacturing experience and of a specific laboratory search for the best food Dog Nutritionists could produce. War or no war, it was bound to come.
Some dogs like Ideal moist, some soupy, some dry. Find your dog's preference. Any way you feed it, it's a complete food—even better than fresh meat alone. See your dealer.

FORM MOISTENED IDEAL INTO A "BOLUS" OR LARGE PILL, AND PLACE IN YOUR DOG'S MOUTH. REPEAT SEVERAL TIMES.
TO INDUCE SWALLOWING, HOLD LOWER JAW UP, WHILE YOU GENTLY STROKE THROAT DOWNWARDS.
ONCE IT IS IN HIS STOMACH, HE WILL ENJOY IDEAL AND BEGIN TO DEVELOP INTEREST.

CIVILIANS TO GET MORE GOODS IN '44, SAYS NELSON

Increase of 15% Foreseen in Consumer Articles.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Civilians will get an increasingly larger share of industry's output in 1944 as war requirements diminish, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, said today in an interview.

"We are committed to a policy of full utilization of our industrial resources and labor force," Nelson said. "As rapidly as we can permit, always giving the war program the right of way, we will expand civilian production of essential goods."

The WPB chief said the civilian requirements program for the first three months of 1944 will be announced soon and will allocate materials for the production of hundreds of consumer goods. The WPB office of civilian requirements has indicated the program for the 1944 quarter provides 15 per cent more goods than were scheduled for October, November, and December this year. More than 700 different classes of consumer goods were made this quarter.

Results of Survey.

Revisions in the first quarter civilian requirements program for 1944 are being made as the result of new information gathered by a nation wide census bureau survey among 7,000 households to determine actual needs of about 115 types of civilian goods, it was learned.

Unavoidable dislocations and temporary unemployment will occur in the changeover from munitions to civilian production, Nelson said. He was confident, however, the reconversion would be gradual and that idle facilities and man power would be absorbed rapidly as civilian operations are resumed.

Nelson said raw materials such as steel are available in more ample supply but production of more civilian goods involves numerous other factors, such as the supply of component parts. These include electric motors, pumps, ball bearings, tires, and axles. A major limiting factor, he noted, is the supply of man power.

Enough Ingot Steel.

"It's true that we have enough ingot steel but we can't throw away our controls over the steel supply and let manufacturers resume civilian production without restraint," Nelson said. "For example, a factory in one community might have facilities for making a civilian item. But in that community there might be a war plant desperately in need of man power and manufacturing a critically needed war item such as ball bearings. We can't let one plant use the available steel to make some civilian article while the other can't meet its war production schedule."

Release of civilian goods production will be arranged on a selective basis by the office of civilian requirements working with the WPB program office, Nelson asserted.

He said studies are being conducted to determine which needed civilian goods such as electric irons, washing machines, refrigerators, trucks, and automobiles can be made and how many. Also, he said, decisions will have to be made as to which plants will participate in the program and how much each will make.

Need Many Things.

"I for one want to go into civilian production as quickly as our resources will allow," he said. "We need many things, such as low cost automobiles for war workers, trucks for farmers and industry, railroad cars and locomotives, buses, and, of course, many household items."

Asked about reports he was planning to resign from his WPB post and take a high executive position in private industry, Nelson said:

"I have talked to no one about a new job and have no intention of leaving WPB so long as there is a war job to be done."

Nelson said a reorganization of WPB will be effected shortly to readjust the agency for the approaching reconversion problems. He said the office of civilian requirements will play an increasingly important rôle, eventually becoming the key unit as war production needs recede.

Green Urges Citizens to Limit Use of Utilities

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15 (AP).—Gov. Dwight Green today issued a proclamation urging citizens to limit use of coal, electricity, fuel oil, gas, water, transportation, and communications "to the absolute minimum in accordance with health and safety."

COAL CEILING PUTS DEALERS ON EVEN BASIS

Flat maximum prices for coal and coke delivered in Chicago and Cook county were established yesterday by the regional office of price administration. It was the last major official act of Raymond S. McKeough, administrator, who has resigned to become a CIO official.

Under the new price setup, the consumer will pay the same price no matter from whom he buys. Under the old system, the buyer might get five different prices from as many dealers.

The OPA order fixes the price of Pocahontas stove, nut, and range at $12.70 per ton up to three tons, and $12.20 per ton above three tons. Mine run is $10.60 per ton up to three tons, and $10.10 per ton above three tons. Hiking charges from 60 to 85 cents a ton are extra. The prices fixed are ceilings only, and do not bar lower prices.

FIRE BUROCRATS IN TIME OF WAR? NO! SAYS SABATH

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Those who wonder why the administration seldom fires a burocrat got the New Deal's explanation today from Rep. Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.].

In answer to Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.], who asked why inefficient burocrats aren't weeded out, Sabath told the house "the middle of the war is no time to fire anybody." Sabath said Republicans should direct some of their criticism at Republicans in government administrative jobs, as well as Democrats. Martin said, if such Republicans are inefficient, the President should get rid of them.

The exchange was touched off by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], who charged New Deal burocrats are usurping powers not authorized by congress. He cited, as an example, orders by the war labor board which, he said, impose labor contracts requiring workers to join unions as a condition of employment.

Printers' Union Rejects AFL by 1,225 Majority

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 15 (AP).—Official tabulation of a referendum held by the International Typographical union on reaffiliation with the American Federation of Labor showed the proposal defeated by a majority of 1,225, Woodruff Randolph, secretary-treasurer, announced today. The vote was 23,366 to 24,591. The union voted 26,947 to 21,440 for an increase of 10 cents in the per capita tax for the upkeep of the printers' home at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Christmas Reunions
MEAN SO MUCH TO OUR BOYS THIS YEAR!

LET THEM HAVE THE COACH SEATS, BERTHS, ROOMS—

December 17 to January 3

—FOR HOLIDAY HOMECOMINGS

We all know many of these boys will be going overseas soon—"invasion day" is not far away. Naturally, they want to spend every hour possible with those near and dear to them.

Now, there isn't enough train equipment to take care of civilians who usually go away over the holidays and homecoming boys and girls in uniform. So why not, in the good old Christmas spirit, give up any plans you may be making to travel between DECEMBER 17 and JANUARY 3? Let the soldiers, the sailors, the marines, the coast guardsmen—the girls in the Services—have what coach seats and Pullman accommodations are available for the period specified. That's a "present" they'll appreciate!

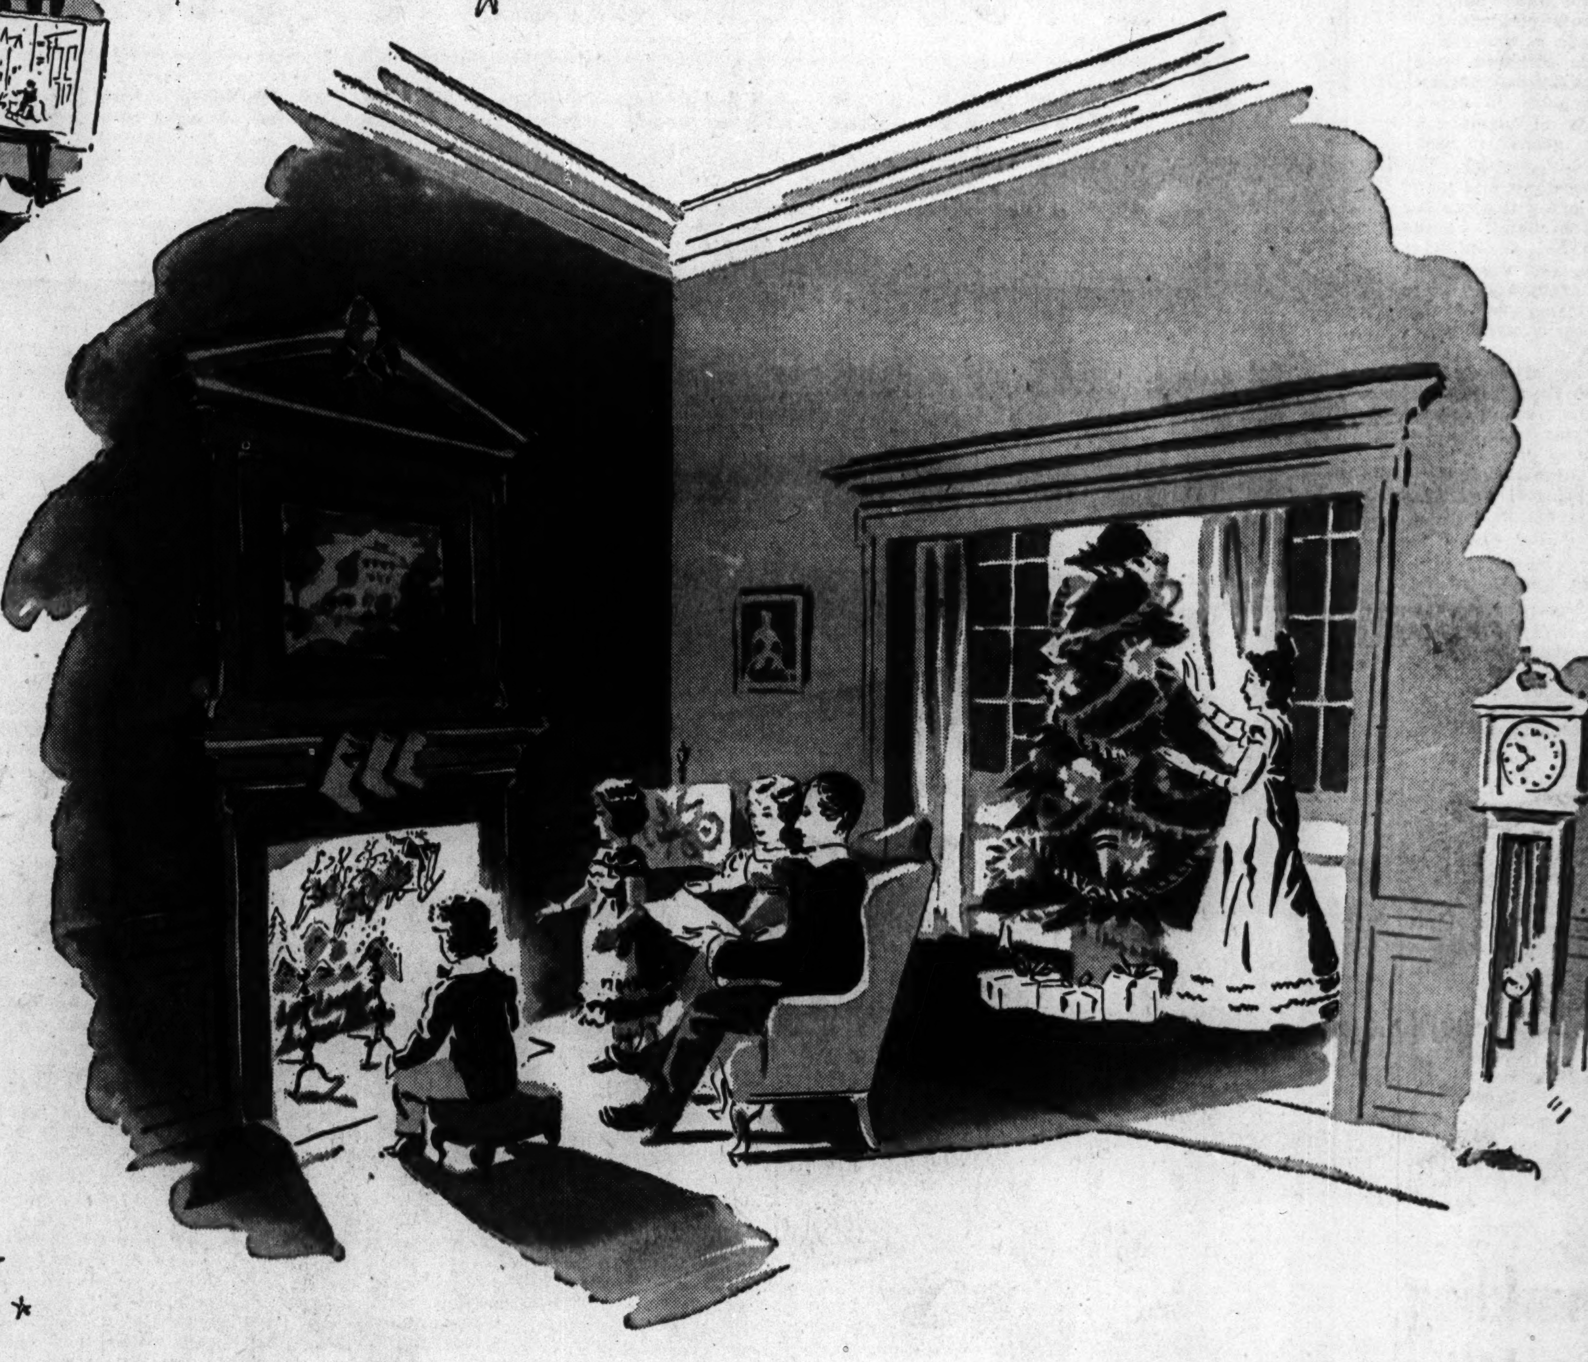
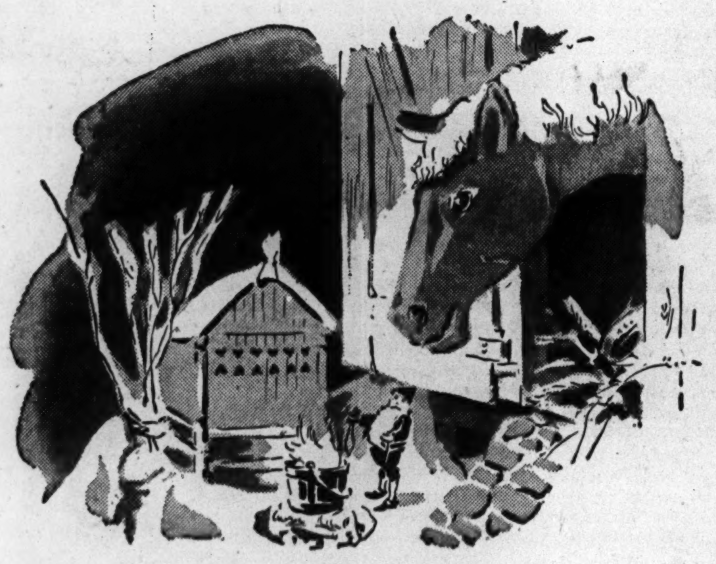
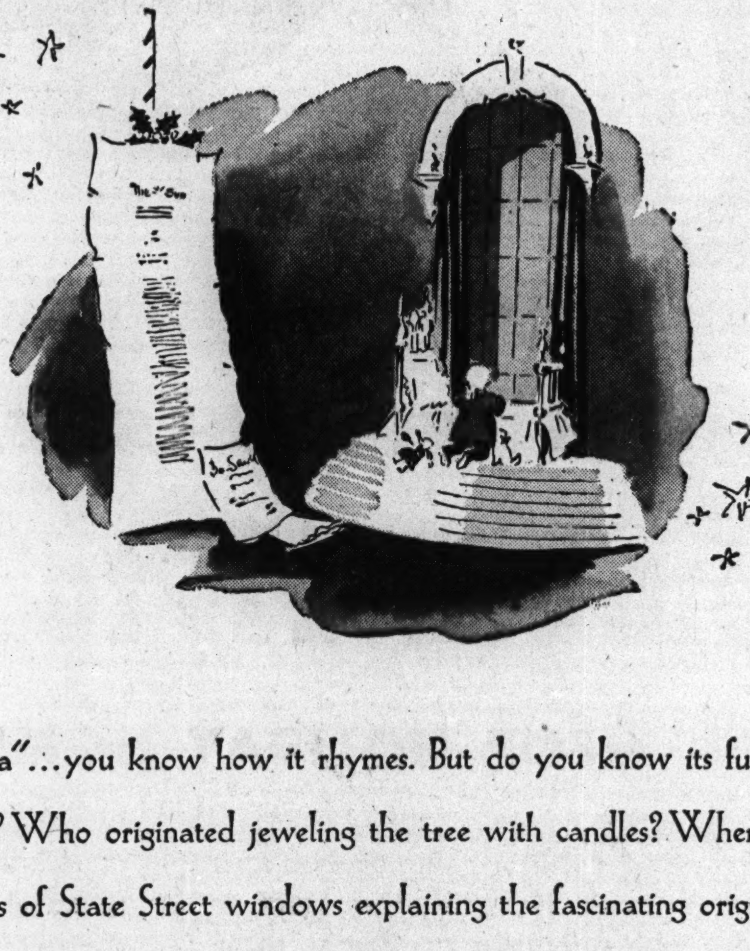
What does Santa look like?
This window-scene shows the first picture of Santa Claus sketched by T. C. Boyd to illustrate Clement Moore's "The Night Before Christmas"





Where did Santa get help to make toys?
This window-scene tells of Jul Tomten, an ancient Scandinavian elf who lived with the animals and brought toys on Christmas. He's Santa's helper

How does Santa arrive?
This window-scene shows Clement Moore reciting his ballad to his family. From it we gained our conception of Santa's actions on Christmas Eve



Is there a Santa Claus?
This window-scene, based on the famous New York Sun editorial "Yes Virginia, There Is a Santa Claus", illustrates America's faith in Christmas

"When all through the house, not a"...you know how it rhymes. But do you know its full meaning? This year Clement Moore's century-old ballad set Carson's puzzling. Why isn't Santa's suit purple? Who originated jeweling the tree with candles? Where did we get the mistletoe idea...why not gardenias? Our intrigue culminated in a wondrous series of State Street windows explaining the fascinating origins of America's Yuletide lore. They're executed in cunning doll-house proportions, so the youngest cherub will gurgle with glee. And rendered in such exquisite detail that Grandpapas will become absorbed with the sensitive craftsmanship. In reality, here's the whole Christmas story in the nature of museum miniatures. We urge you to enjoy the panorama...in its entirety, soon and often. Perhaps you'll be stirred to quote Clement Moore's "To all Merry Christmas" right out loud. MUSTERING-OUT PAY OF $1 DAY URGED IN HOUSE

Extra for Combat Duty and Wounds Asked.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Two new approaches to the problem of aiding service men after the war were suggested in congress today, one providing for as much as $1,900 to a veteran wounded in combat.

The lawmakers are considering a plan to provide mustering out pay ranging from $200 to $500, depending on length and kind of service.

Rep. Overton Brooks [D., La.], introduced in the house a bill providing $1 a day for each day of active service, up to $1,000; an extra 25 per cent for combat service and $100 for each battle wound for which a decoration was prescribed. There would be a maximum of $1,500 for service credit and $400 for wounds, for all men except officers whose base pay exceeded $2,400 a year.

$100 on Discharge.

The veterans would get $100 in cash when discharged, with a certificate for the amount due. The certificate would mature in 10 years. Any who showed hardship in the meantime would be given part or perhaps all of their credit.

Sen. Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], introduced at the same time legislation to provide as much as $600 mustering out pay, as soon as discharged. One of the main objects of his bill, McCarran said, is to start payments immediately to those already disabled in this war.

McCarran's Plan.

McCarran's plan would pay $150 to veterans of less than three months' service. For services from three to six months, the payment would be $300, six to nine months, $450, more than nine months, $600.

One-sixth of the total would be paid immediately upon discharge and the balance in monthly instalments for six months.

ELSON IS NAMED TEMPORARY OPA REGIONAL CHIEF

Alex Elson, 38 years old, regional attorney of the office of price administration in Chicago, yesterday was appointed acting regional administrator, succeeding Raymond S. McKeough, who resigned to become regional director of the CIO political action committee.

Elson, a member of the National Lawyers guild, has been regional attorney of the OPA here since its inception. He also is an assistant general counsel of the OPA in Washington. Prior to his OPA service, Elson was with the wage and hour division of the department of labor, and in private law practice was with the legal firm of Tolman & Chandler.

McKeough, in his new position, will be an aid of Sidney Hillman, national chairman of the CIO political action committee. His permanent successor as regional OPA director will be named shortly after the first of the year after the civil service commission passes upon applicants.

43 Will Go

Each of the 43 men who will be graduated Saturday from the dental school of Northwestern university will immediately enter the army or navy. This is the first graduating class at the university, since the start of the war, in which every member will enter military service.

Commencement exercises will be held in Scott hall at 3 p. m. Saturday with 434 students from nine schools in the university receiving degrees. Kenneth F. Burgess, president of the university board of trustees, will deliver the commencement address.

SENATE GROUP REJECTS CHANGE IN VICTORY TAX

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—The senate finance committee voted today to retain the present victory tax rather than adopt alternate plans advanced by the house and treasury department for integrating it with the regular individual income tax.

Then, in a two hour and a half open hearing which lasted well into the night, the committee heard representatives of the distilling industry lash out against a proposal to cut the period that whisky may be held in bonded warehouses from eight to four years.

Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chief proponent of the new whisky tax, told them, however: "I'm not convinced by anything that has been said."

Yield Whittled Down.

He indicated he would press the plan tomorrow when the committee will attempt to complete action on the pending tax bill, now whittled down so as to produce less than 2 billion dollars in additional revenue annually.

The house had voted to repeal the victory tax, taking up the slack by increasing the normal tax rate from 6 to 10 per cent, adjusting surtax schedules, and imposing a minimum tax of 3 per cent over new special exemptions to tap erstwhile victory taxpayers who otherwise would escape liability.

Earlier the senators had turned thumbs down on the treasury's proposal to lower the married person exemptions and reduce the credit for dependents, permitting the regular income tax rates to make up the victory tax loss.

Distillers Are Heard.

The victory tax, imposed at the beginning of 1943, is a special 5 per cent levy on net income above $624 a year. Under a revision of the law, however, the tax is withheld only at the rate of 3 per cent, to discount certain, post-war credits. A move was reported on to cut the tax itself to a net 3 per cent.

Seven spokesmen for distillery interests appeared in opposition to the projected cut in the whisky bond period. The substance of their arguments was that distillers would be presented with a heavy financial burden in paying the tax, that brand names of established mature whiskies would lose their value, and that not much additional liquor would become available to consumers.

"Spit on a stove—that's as long as it will last," declared Frank Schwengel, president of Seagram's & Sons. He said "opportunists" probably would grap up the 117 million gallons of whisky 4 years old or more which presumably would be forced out of bond by the tax and would use it to flavor alcoholic concoctions they could sell at big profits.

Sees Weaker Product.

"They could take a good bottle of 8 year old whisky and thin it out to make a case," he said.

Sen. George said 70 per cent of all whisky sold since repeal was 4 years old or younger, and reiterated that in the long run the consumer will pay the tax about which the distillers complained.

Millard F. Cox of Louisville, spokesman for 23 independent Kentucky distilleries, told George he thought congress should "give serious consideration to the danger of flooding the country" with whisky in war time.

Baby-Doll, a tough skinned, rollicking tank, figured in the spearhead of the drive that captured Munda and Arundel in the Solomon Islands. Three Chicago men were among the marines who manned the tank. They are Pvts. Joseph D. Laduca, 1522 Grenshaw street; Emanuel F. Sprinkle, 3806 Union avenue, and Virgil L. Zalewski, 1122 Fry street. The marine corps thought so much of Baby-Doll that it took a picture of the tank for publication.

FOOD FOR ARMY TRAINEES DROPS TO 58c PER DAY

Twenty-five officers of the quartermaster corps and 25 civilian food experts from Washington, D. C., visited food laboratories at the Chicago quartermaster and signal corps depots yesterday, and also at the University of Chicago. They inspected facilities for feeding soldiers in the army specialized training program. Figures submitted by Miss Lillian Marshall, supervisor of the Hutchinson Commons mess, showed that during the last six months three meals a day per man cost 63.9 cents, with the October cost dropping to 58 cents. The army allows 70 cents per day for rations. A closed conference will be held today in the Palmer House.

Liquor Dealer Released in License Violation Case

On motion of the government, Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday dismissed charges against Philip Celano, 62 years old, owner of a liquor store at 3763 North Clark street. He was accused of selling wholesale quantities of liquor without a proper license, but his lawyer, Henry L. Balaban, showed that Celano had made only one sale, and that one sale could not stamp him as a wholesaler.

The office of price administration filed suit for triple damages of $24,017 yesterday against the Monroe Wine and Liquor company, 179 Monroe street, on charges of violating price ceilings. The company is accused of an overcharge of $8,005 on a sale to Jerome Natenberg and Jack Harris.

DR. J. H. KELLOGG, FAMOUS HEALTH AUTHORITY, DIES

Physician Was Leader of Meatless Diet Move.

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 15 (AP).—Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, physician, health authority, and head of the Battle Creek sanitarium, died during the night at the age of 91.

Dr. J. H. Kellogg.

Dr. Kellogg had been in failing health for six months and had not been at his office for five months. He was a leader of a health movement that bans meat from the diet, emphasizing the food value of grains, fruits, and vegetables.

A native of Tyrone, N. Y., Dr. Kellogg had made his home in Battle Creek since moving here with his parents when he was a child.

Practiced at 70 Years.

He was a practicing surgeon while still in his seventies and was the author of several books on dietetics. Dr. Kellogg's wife died in 1920. They had no children. He and Mrs. Kellogg, however, provided funds for the education of many boys and girls, virtually rearing 40 children and adopting several of them.

Dr. Kellogg had continued to operate the Battle Creek sanitarium in other quarters after the army established the Percy Jones General hospital more than a year ago in the institution's principal building.

Advocated Fresh Air.

Dr. Kellogg, advocating fresh air for health, slept out of doors for more than half a century, crediting that along with his meatless diet for his prolonged life.

Despite his years, Dr. Kellogg had spent as much as 18 hours a day in recent weeks on research into the causes of high blood pressure, friends said.

Dr. Kellogg is survived by a brother, W. K. Kellogg of Battle Creek, founder and head of the breakfast cereal manufacturing firm bearing his name, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Butler of Battle Creek.

Services will be held Saturday afternoon in the auditorium of Battle Creek sanitarium.

TRIPLE DEADLINE FAILS TO UPSET TAXPAYERS HERE

Approximately 75,000 pieces of mail were received yesterday morning by Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue for the Chicago area, while 50,000 taxpayers went in person to the fourth floor of the United States courthouse to pay income tax.

Yesterday was the deadline for payment of final instalments due on estimated 1943 income tax. It was the deadline also for the filing of amended declarations of estimated 1943 income tax, and for original declarations by farmers and by others not previously required to file.

The collector's office was kept open until midnight for the convenience of taxpayers. The Dec. 15 tax deadline passed smoothly, in contrast to confusion last Sept. 15 when long lines of taxpayers waited for help with the declarations filed at that time, Harrison said.

BOY KILLS SELF; OWED $4, SAYS NOTE TO FATHER

Don Klemm, 15 year old freshman student at the Warren Township High school in Gurnee, ended his life last night by shooting himself in the head with a .348 deer rifle.

He left a note which read: "Good-by, dad. Iowe $4 to the school. Got to pay it. So long, dad."

The boy's father, Arthur Klemm, is a war worker. The body was found in the Klemm home by the boy's step-mother. The Klemms live half a mile northwest of Gurnee.

D. W. Thompson, principal of the high school, said the boy had been questioned yesterday about money he owed for tickets to a school play by Merl Thomas, science teacher, and told to tie a string around his finger to remind him to bring the money with him this morning.

Travelers Aid 'Pop' Concert Will Draw Crowd Saturday

BY JUDITH CASS.

A SHORT evening dress with giddy accessories seems to be the unanimous choice among women who will be attending the benefit that the woman's board of the Travelers Aid society is giving Saturday night at the Drake hotel. Having decided on something different in the way of entertainment, the board is presenting a "pop" concert, with duo-pianists as the artists, followed by supper and dancing. And since evening benefits have been scarce this year, the tickets have been selling like the proverbial hot cakes at benefit headquarters in the Drake. In fact, most of those that remain for sale already have been sold once, and later returned because of illness or absence from the city.

The evening, which will be one of the gayest of the winter, will begin for a large portion of the guests with dinner at the Casino, where dinner will be served buffet style. The nearly 200 who will be dining there early enough to be on time for the concert have been invited for 6:30. Their hosts will be the William Popes, the Paul Butlers, the William Feltons, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr., the John Churches, the Edward Benninghovens, Mrs. Errett Van Nice, Mr. and Mrs. D. Wendell Fentress, and the Newton Tobeys.

The concert will start at 8:30, with Druke and Shaw at the pianos, and refreshments will be served during the four intermissions. Mrs. Butler, who designed the smart scarlet invitations to the party, also designed the "pop" concert menus that will be placed on the tables. Five pretty debutantes wearing hats from five different shops will be introduced in one intermission and at the end of the evening five other lucky persons will carry—or wear—the hats home. Hugo Vogel will serve as master of ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morgan and the Robert Wolfs are giving dinners at home before the benefit. Its co-chairmen are Miss Myrtle and Miss Lillian Lampert, whose engagements to Capt. George E. Rose Jr. and William S. Friedeman, respectively, were announced Monday.

Here and There.

A Christmas day event that will be greatly missed by the Ayres Boals' Winnetka neighbors is their annual at home. Mr. and Mrs. Boal, who are spending the winter in Tucson, had planned to return for the holidays and to have their Christmas party, but those plans were changed the other day and the Boals will remain in the west, to the regret of their family and many friends who annually looked forward to a cup of cheer at the Boals' hospitable home on Christmas.

Mrs. Boal's sister, Mrs. Raymond W. Hardenbergh, and Col. Hardenbergh have arrived to spend a few weeks in Lake Forest with their daughters, Mrs. John F. R. Seitz [Helen Hardenbergh] and Mrs. Walter A. Butkus [Sue Hardenbergh], en route to their permanent home in Montecito, Cal. Col. Seitz is overseas with the 1st division, with which members of Mrs. Hardenbergh's family have served for genertions, and Capt. Butkus is in Italy with the army medical corps. Raymond Hardenbergh Jr. is engaged

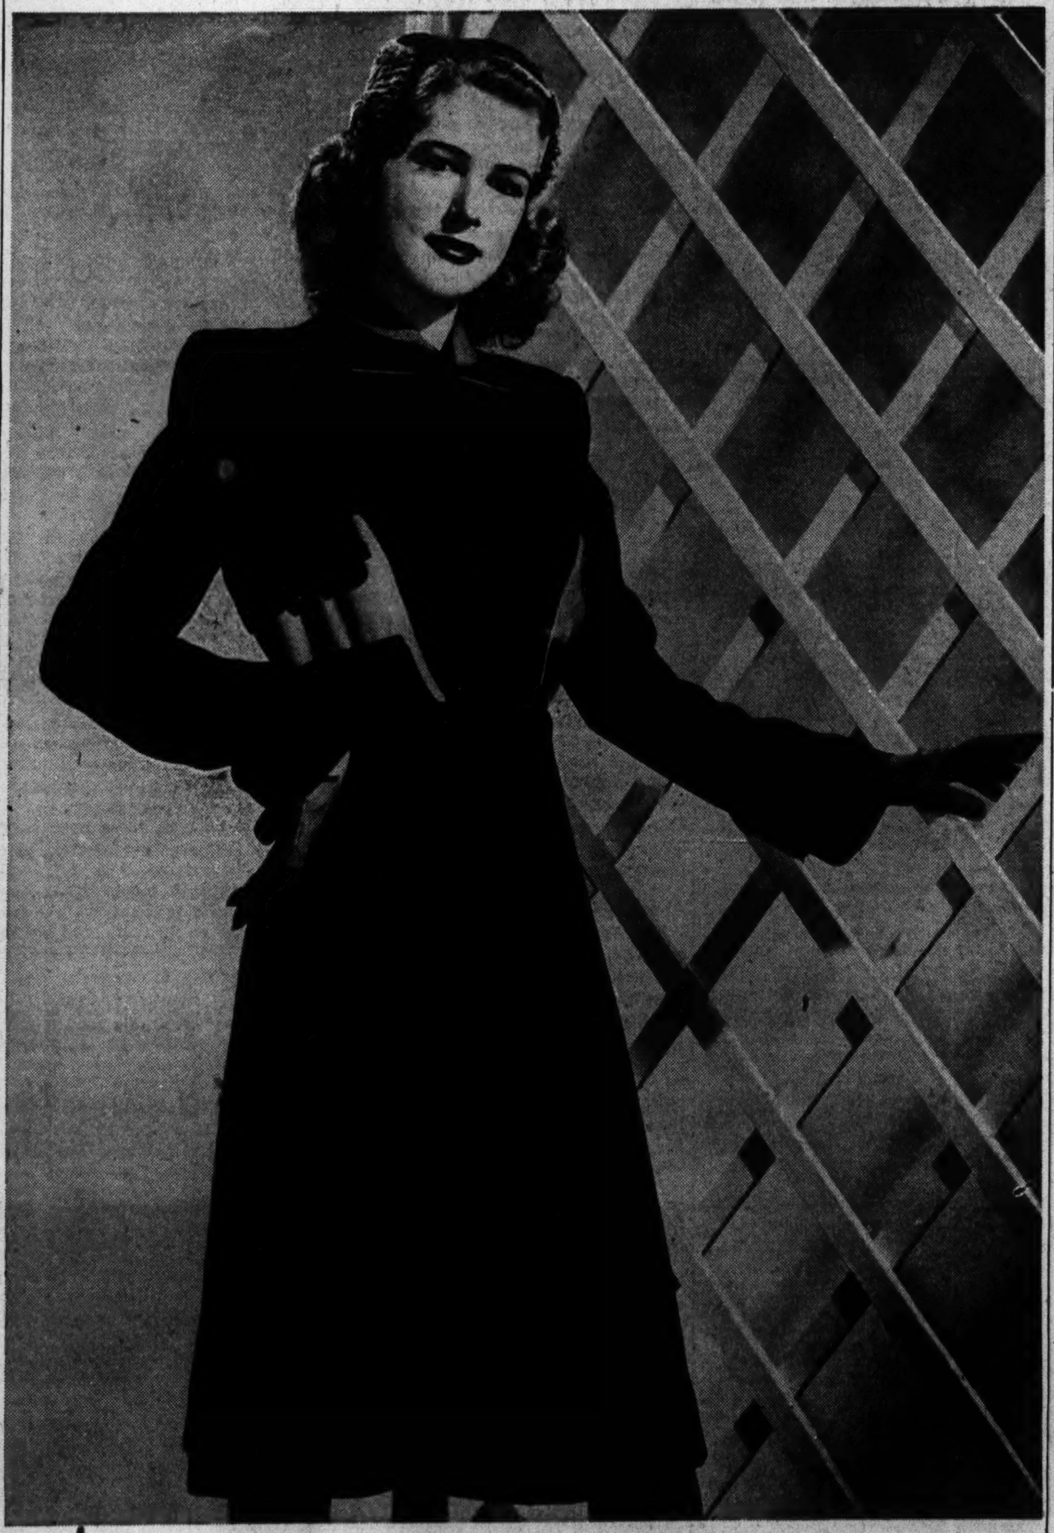
Costume Combines Black and Vermilion



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

This charcoal black wool day time coat, an Adrian original, has for contrast vermilion insets in the chest section and at the neckline. The tiny hat is of black vermilion, and so are slipon gloves. The costume is available in a Chicago store.

Thru the Looking Glass

As you must certainly know by this time the alcohol, or old fashioned, variety of cologne is not so easy to find nowadays. And women's little hearts yearn for those colognes, apparently, as they never yearned before. It's the old, old story of the lure of what's hard to get!

There are a few of these colognes around, tho. There is even one new one. We can't figure out how come, but there it is—brand new to us and as nice as can be. If you want a little Christmas present that is valuable in a woman's eyes and that is uniquely and beautifully scented, we suggest this newcomer, in a bright yellow box splashed with waving green leaves. The stunning, simple bottle has a tall stopper sheathed in linen in the same yellow and green tropical print.

* * *

The fragrance is one that all of our guinea pigs went quite mad over. It's more sophisticated than simple, and just a smidge on the exotic side. But it has a tremendous amount of appeal, perhaps because it's so different, perhaps because it's plenty beautiful. It struck us all as one of the most intriguing of the fragrances that have been launched this year. It has just a suggestion of amber that we think is elegant.

This perfume has been quite generously added to the cologne; the scent lingers for a long time and, at least to our way of thinking, gets better and better as it is worn. The cologne itself is refreshing, as the good alcohol cologne invariably is.

The perfumed cologne isn't expensive, but it's nicely packaged and it's truly good. The women who just can't cotton to the war time substitutes — the creamy liquids — will undoubtedly be crazy about it. In these times, it's a find.

These Dresses and Suits Have Dash and Color

BY REA SEEGER.

Adrian originals are especially noteworthy for distinctive detail and their unusual color combinations. Dresses, suits, and some of the coats freshly unpacked for holiday shoppers flash with color. Unusual contrasts are introduced with binds, circles, geometric designs, and varied Chinese patterns. Most of these are cleverly fashioned with the material of the dress suit or coat not appliqued. And the color combinations used are far from ordinary. These Adrian originals are unquestionably the tops in American designs.

* * *

You'll find, now, festive dinner clothes for the holiday parties—slim, divinely flattering sheaths of crepe and soft wool with high necklines, Adrian's inimitable ingenious contrast of color, and definitely different designs. There are afternoon dresses with cleverly tied tape in long bows, the tape bands made of the same crepe as the dress. These are suave, comparatively simple looking costumes, the very essence of sophistication.

* * *

Very simple suits still proclaim the genius of Adrian with models, using the striped material for complete suit, even the geometric trim details and bias cut sections. Slim charcoal black dress parade suits combine such interesting colors as lime, sulphur yellow, orange, vermilion, or jade green with black. The jackets are originals with special emphasis on the shoulders and the exceedingly comfortable outline and fit of the sleeves. All the suit skirts are alike, simple straight or slightly flared affairs that fit like skin over the hips.

Volunteer Program to Fill Nurse Need, Rep. Bolton Asserts

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—There will be no conscription of the nation's women to meet nursing needs of the military services, Rep. Frances Bolton [R., O.] said today after conferences with war department officials.

Mrs. Bolton, author of recently enacted legislation providing for a volunteer nurse program, said she sought the army's views as a result of widespread reports the drafting of women nurses was being considered.

"There is no reason to feel the needs of the services for nurses will not be met thru the volunteer program," Mrs. Bolton asserted.

Before the conscription of nurses could be resorted to, she added, it would be necessary for congress to enact legislation permitting the drafting of all women because, she said, "you cannot draft one group of women without drafting all groups."

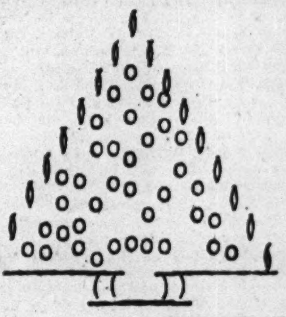
White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

Typewriter Drawing.

Am I too early to wish you a Merry Christmas with a Christmas tree lighted with candles?



REGINA MORAN.

Wanderlust.

Thirty days, net 2 per cent . . .
[Some day I'll see the Orient!]

Making claim, and we regret . . .
[Perhaps I'll visit old Tibet!]

Advising you, as per our file . . .
[O, for a boat ride down the Nile!]

My mind travels far to spots picturesque
But my feet remain right under my desk!

EDITH ZITTLER.

Surpassing Wonder.

Do you doubt that the modern white collar girl is the surpassing wonder of all the ages?

Yet, can this accomplished creature get off a street car the correct way? Nay, my masters, she can not.

"Face forward when alighting" is not an explicit phrase. But why does the w. c. g. always have to do it the wrong way?

The car is going north on the east track. Face forward means face north. Then what? Stand on the lower step. Swing the right foot outward easily in an arc and alight on your toes. The left foot will come right along—smoothly and naturally. And you'll be there, balanced and poised. You won't have to run—and you won't come down ka-lumpp!

But what does our white collar girl do?

She faces forward—east! Then steps down with any foot handy—if you follow me—and with what result? She comes close to spinning off the car onto her lovely ivory shell-like ear.

What a gal! HB.

A divorce case in Hamilton, Ont., in which women lawyers represented both sides, is believed to mark the first instance in history that two women barristers have appeared against each other in a divorce action. . . . The first women on the island of Attu since June, 1942, are eight nurses, headed by Lt. Judy Wilson. . . . The first woman "traffic cop" of the air that I've heard about is WAC Corp. Nelle E. 1,000 Meet to Mark 70th Anniversary of Anshe Emet Temple

Members of the Congregation Anshe Emet, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street, last night observed the 70th anniversary of the temple's founding in a celebration at the Palmer House. More than 1,000 persons were present.

Guest of honor and principal speaker was Prof. Louis Ginzberg of the Jewish Theological seminary of New York, outstanding leader in the Jewish religion. A document was presented to him signifying that a grove of trees would be planted in his honor in Palestine after the war.

Religious leaders of all denominations in the Chicago area attended the celebration, which also marked the 15th anniversary as spiritual leader of the congregation of Rabbi Solomon Goldman. Rabbi Goldman presided at a mortgage burning ceremony, when the flame of a candle was touched to a $68,000 mortgage, now completely paid.

The occasion was of special significance to an elderly Rogers Park couple, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cohen, 1246 Pratt boulevard. They were the first couple married in the temple 70 years ago.

Blanket, Bed Among Needs Listed by Sally

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If any reader has an extra blanket or comforter we would like to have it for an elderly woman. She lives alone in one room and is unable to afford the extra covering which she needs. Further information will be supplied to interested readers.

Mrs. S., who lives on the north side, is very much in need of a single folding bed. Due to illness, she is on relief, and she and her only child live in two furnished rooms. Altho the quarters are very small, another bed is imperative. If any reader can donate one of the folding type, it would be of great help to this woman.

Perhaps some south side reader has a twin buggy to donate to Mrs. Y. She has twin babies and it is quite difficult for her to keep them outdoors for any length of time. Her husband is a service man stationed overseas.

We have had numerous requests for women's clothing in large sizes, including 44 to 48. The appeals come from all sections of the city, and we would be grateful for offers of clothing in these sizes.

NOTE: May we ask that readers who intend providing Christmas help for needy families make their plans immediately? We cannot provide names and addresses after Dec. 18.

There will be candy and other gifts for all the children, as well as the traditional tree, and for mothers and friends in the community who have been invited there will be a tea afterward.

Mme. de King, who will be a special guest at a preliminary dinner, will illustrate her talk on typical Christmas celebrations of Spain with songs and dances.

Contract According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

The extravagant use of sevens and eights for signaling to one's partner has cost defenders millions of points. For example:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♥ J 9 8
♦ 10 8 5 4 2
♣ A 10 6 4

WEST
♠ Q J 9 8 7 4
♥ 6 3 2
♦ Q J 7
♣ J

EAST
♠ 6 5 2
♥ Q 7
♦ A K 6 3

SOUTH
♠ K 10 3
♥ A K 10 5 4
♦ 9
♣ 9 7 5 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	2 diamonds	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	4 hearts	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

West's one spade overcall was no thing of beauty, and East's failure to raise spades was equally hard to understand. However, it is true that these actions resulted in a contract that should have been favorable to the East-West pair.

West led his singleton club. The ace won and East carefully selected the club eight to tell his partner that all was well in the club department. The spade ace was cashed, a trump was led to the ace, and declarer ruffed his low spade. Now the trumps still outstanding were drawn, and a low club was led to the ten. East won and laid down the ace and king of diamonds. Declarer ruffed, gave East his other club trick, and claimed the balance and his doubled contract.

The hand might have been made regardless of East's conservation of the club eight, but it is extremely doubtful that it would have been made. Declarer probably would have played just as he did, and at the point when a club was led to the ten, East would win and exit with diamonds. Now declarer, back in his own hand, would have to lead from his 9-7 of clubs into East's K-8, and the contract would go down one trick.

Pillsbury's HOLIDAY TWIRL

(It looks good—tastes good—is good . . . with the stepped-up wartime nourishment of Pillsbury's Best!

TEMPERATURE: 375° F. Makes 1 Coffee Cake. TIME: about 35 minutes

- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- ¾ cup milk, scalded
- 1 cake compressed yeast
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2¾ cups sifted PILLSBURY'S BEST Enriched FLOUR
- 1 teaspoon ground cardamon (optional)
- 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
- 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon

1. Add 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, and shortening to milk; cool to lukewarm. 2. Soften yeast in small amount of milk mixture. Add to rest of milk mixture. Add egg. 3. Sift flour once; measure. Add cardamon and rind; blend. Add to yeast mixture in about two portions; mixing well to make a soft dough. 4. Knead on floured board until smooth, about 5 minutes. 5. Place in greased bowl. Cover and allow to rise in a warm place (80° to 85° F.) until double in bulk (about 1¾ hours). 6. Roll out into a 13x10-inch rectangle. Brush lightly with melted butter. Sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon sugar and cinnamon, combined. 7. Starting at each end (long way of the dough) roll, as for jelly roll, until two rolls meet at center. 8. Place on well-greased baking sheet. With scissors make deep cuts into outer side of each roll of dough, about 2 inches apart. Turn or twist each slice cut side up; press down slightly. 9. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk (about ½ hour). Bake in moderate oven. 10. Spread with a thin confectioner's sugar icing, if desired. Fill center area with fruit conserve, jam or marmalade.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

JIMMY KNEW THE ANSWER

Ever hear the story about the teacher who asked her class to name the three most important foods? Said Jimmy: "Yer breakfast, yer lunch, and yer dinner." Come to think of it, that's probably as good an answer as any providing, of course, they are three square meals . . . well balanced, nutritious, and appetizing. To plan such meals under rationing requires real "homework" of any homemaker. I hope my weekly suggestions are helping.

Company Menu
Veal "Chops"
Mashed Potatoes
"Margarined" Carrots
Cinnamon Apples
Cole Slaw
Enriched Rolls Olives
Cream Pie
Coffee Milk

A POINTER ON POINT ECONOMY

If you're looking for an extra-special meat for few points, here's one of my favorites. Get a 3-lb. Gela Seald Veal Shank—that's about as large as they come at "shank point value"—simmer in salted water about one hour and let cool. (Save the broth, of course, to use for soup.) Cut the veal into slices about ¼-inch thick, shaping them to resemble chops as much as possible. (You'll get at least six good servings.) Dip "chops" in a beaten Clear Brook Egg and in bread crumbs and brown on both sides in a small amount of bacon drippings or Bake-Rite Shortening, cooking just long enough to heat the meat through. What a treat! And what a point bargain.

To give the gravy a rich meat flavor, add 1 tsp. Wilson's B-V for each cupful of liquid used. That's all it takes to transform a flavorless gravy to one so delicious everyone will want your secret. No points needed for B-V.

"Margarined" Carrots

No, this isn't a fancy foreign dish . . . just common, garden variety carrots made more nutritious and tasty with Wilson's Certified Margarine. This fine, wholesome margarine, which is fortified with Vitamin A, tastes something like the dewy-fresh, not too salty butter you get in fine hotels and restaurants. It's a wise budgeteer who uses Wilson's Certified Margarine generously these days.

HELPFUL TRICKS

Cinnamon drops scarce? Flavor the syrup in which you cook the apples with stick cinnamon and add red vegetable coloring to get the right degree of blush.

Just for variety, why not sprinkle bits of sweet chocolate through the cream pie filling?—after the filling has cooled, of course. Cooling the filling before putting on the meringue will prevent the meringue from sliding out of place when cut, too.

Be sure to use Bake-Rite Shortening in the pie crust. Its blandness will give you a pastry you'll really appreciate . . . and its low point value will enable you to serve pie more frequently.

Point-savingly yours,
George Rector

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Helen A. Robertson, who was 20 years old Dec. 3, celebrated her birthday by enlisting in the WAVES. Her father, Warner A. Robertson, signed the parents' consent forms necessary because of her age. The date also marked the 26th anniversary of Mr. Robertson's induction into the army. Helen, a graduate of Providence High school, was employed at Butler Brothers before her enlistment.

Warner A. Robertson, aided by Yeoman Hannah Sommer, signing consent for enlistment of daughter, Helen (right), in WAVES.

If you're a woman interested in joining the WAVES but have a few minor doubts about your eligibility, here's a simple test you can give yourself at home. Other things being equal, you should be eligible for enlistment in the women's reserve of the navy if you can answer "aye, aye" to these ten questions:

1. Can you prove you are a citizen of the United States, native born or naturalized?

2. Are you between 20 and 36 years of age? [If 20, written consent of parents or guardian is necessary.]

3. Are you single, or married and without children under 18? [Wives of enlisted men are eligible, but not wives of naval officers from the rank of ensign up.]

4. Can you provide three character references?

5. Have you attended high school or business school for at least two years?

6. Are you at least 5 feet tall, and do you weigh at least 95 pounds, with weight in proportion to general body build?

7. Can you read with either eye at six feet, and with both eyes at 12 feet, what perfect eyes can read at 20 feet?

8. Can you hear whispered words at 15 feet?

9. Are your teeth sound? [Dental replacements are no barrier.]

10. Will your physician give you a statement that you are in good health? [A thoro examination by navy doctors is given later.]

Women who answer "yes" to these questions, and wish to inquire about WAVES enlistment, should apply at the Chicago WAVES procurement office, Room 300, Board of Trade building. The telephone number is Wabash 2900, extension 279. Lt. Margaret Harding Cecil is senior WAVES recruiting officer in the Chicago area.

The Chicago unit of the Women's Overseas Service league will have a Christmas meeting Monday in the library of the Alliance Francaise, 410 South Michigan avenue. This is the third annual holiday toy project of the league, whose president is Miss Celia Howard. Miss Sara Frances Jones is national president.

168 Newly Enrolled WAVES Leave for Their Boot Training

One hundred sixty-eight newly enlisted members of the WAVES left Chicago yesterday for boot training at Hunter college in New York City. They were from all parts of the 9th naval district. In the group was Seaman Laraine Tramontin of Chisholm, Minn., whose husband, Seaman William Tramontin, was at the Union station to bid her farewell. He is taking motor machinist training at Navy pier. Mrs. Tramontin said she hoped eventually to be trained to calibrate aircraft instruments. The training school for that is in Chicago, she explained.

Mrs. Tom K., Milwaukee, Wis.—I decided two years ago a dark closet on a lower floor is better than the attic for storage of fabrics. The heat in summer in the attic seemed to cause deterioration of sheets, woolens, etc., and certainly the cottons yellowed. Now I am glad to read the United States department of agriculture says the same thing!

Fill Children's Yule Stockings with Surprises

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

What your Christmas stocking hung up on Christmas eve meant to you when you were a child I don't know, but to some children it is one of the biggest thrills of the great day. My son said to me when he was about 10, "You know, mom, I sometimes think when I look back that I used to enjoy my stocking more than anything else I got on Christmas day."

◆

It all started when one December his aunt said, "Let's not fill the stockings with things like oranges and nuts and popcorn and candy. Let's put in some interesting, cunning little surprises." So we did, and it proved a great success, for the small boy would hop out of bed, lift the knobby stocking from its place, scurry back into bed, and gloat over its little surprises. Here are some of the sorts of things we put in:

All sorts of tiny, inexpensive toys, such as trains, trucks, animals for farm yards or wild ones for the young animal lover.

◆

If you have a little girl, put in tiny dolls, doll's furniture, doll's clothes, and the like.

Other gifts might be a specially desired tool, penknife, little flashlight, pair of small, blunt scissors, set of small pads of paper, box of crayons, set of drawing pencils, paint brush, lollypop, or tiny, chamois, homemade money bag filled with bright gold pennies for the stocking's toe.

You may be able to fill a stocking in addition to many other gifts, or you may have to put fewer things under the tree in order to prepare this kind of Christmas stocking. In any case I'm suggesting it, if you have the time and energy, because we found it paid great dividends of pleasure.

War's Ordeal May Help Restore Faith, De Paul Class Told

The ordeal of war thru which civilization is passing may be necessary since it may be the only way in which modern man can recover the faith by which free and civilized people must live, the Rev. J. G. Phoenix, C. M., head of De Paul university's department of education, said last night. He addressed 67 graduates receiving degrees at the fall commencement exercises in St. Vincent's church, 1010 Webster street.

"The decay of decency, the rebellion against law, the treatment of human beings as things, as the mere instruments of power and ambition, are without question the result of the loss of the idea of the dignity of human kind," Father Phoenix declared.

The degrees were conferred by the Very Rev. Michael J. O'Connell, C. M., S. T. D., president of the university.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

NEAL ACCUSED.

"Where was Miller headin' for?" Neal asked.

"He didn't send me word." Carson's voice was dry and noncommittal. MacGowan laughed, without mirth. "I'm certainly left holding the sack."

"You're not to blame," Carson said.

"Tell that to Cross and Manson and Jackman and the other members of the association. See how far you'll get."

Neal remembered the bitter warning of Cross, that if he let Miller escape from jail they would know he was in with the rustlers all the way. He could hear in imagination the harsh strident voice of Cross demanding why he had taken the rustler to the Sheridan prison except to arrange a getaway for him.

Allan Dunn came out of the store in front of which Carson and MacGowan were standing.

"I hear one of yore prisoners has done escaped," he said.

"Not one of mine," Neal corrected. "He quit being mine when the sheriff of Sheridan county signed for him."

"Not anybody's now." There was a jubilant note in Dunn's voice. "I reckon Cross and some of his friends will froth at the mouth."

"Know any particulars of the jail break, Allan?" asked Neal.

"Seems he stuck up the jailer with a gun somebody slipped him from the outside, and there just happened to be a saddled horse waiting in the cottonwoods 50 yards away. Now I wonder who could have given him the pistol?"

There was such a smooth triumphant purr to Dunn's wonder that MacGowan's gaze held fast to the lank puncher's brown face.

"Miller's friend went quite a way to help him," Neal said evenly.

"You're right, he did." The rustler corrected that.

Brick Carson looked up the street. "Be seeing you again, boys. I got to get back to business."

Four men were coming down the sidewalk, all abreast. Cross and Manson were two of them. Nearest the wall was Brock, and on the outside a fattish man in blue levis with curly hair and rolling gait. This was Christy, manager of the Blue Bell.

"Brick ran out on us," the mordant puncher commented. "Well, I don't blame him. When you are in business a fellow like I am is kinda poison to trade. It will be all right with me if you beat it too, MacGowan. They won't like the company you keep, not right after the Sheridan episode."

Neal said quietly: "I'm not keeping company with you, Dunn, but it is all the same to me what they think. I'm not making apologies or explanations."

Without any preliminaries Cross flung a question at the man from Rustlers' Gap. "Where were you this morning at 8 o'clock, Dunn?"

"At 8 o'clock? Why, I was eating breakfast at a camp on Skunk Creek."

"You were seen at Sheridan half an hour before that time. We've just been talking to Sheriff Alcott over long distance. He tells me you were recognized by a man who knows you when you were eating breakfast at the Bon Ton restaurant."

"Some other man or some other day," Dunn drawled.

"Where were you at that time, MacGowan?" asked Manson.

"I'll not answer that, Manson, until you have shown a right to ask it," Neal replied.

"I expect Dunn has been reporting to you how he fixed it up for yore friend Miller to escape," Cross leered at him.

"You're giving me too much credit, Mr. Cross." Dunn showed his teeth in a defiant grin.

Austin Reynolds walked out of Gibson's New York emporium and turned down the street toward the Journey's End corral. Cross called to him.

"Mebbe you haven't heard the news, Reynolds," Cross said, a strident anger riding in the words. "That thief Miller has escaped from jail. Somebody gave Miller a pistol for to hold up the jailer. Somebody had a horse waiting for him outside. Miller lit out. So did Dunn. He must of done some traveling, since he was in Sheridan at 8 this morning and now he's here having a nice cheery talk with friend Marshal MacGowan. Like enough Dunn didn't have to tell his friend the news. He may have been right with him all the time."

"Not possible," Reynolds demurred. "MacGowan was at my ranch at 11 o'clock this morning."

Christy laughed ironically. "Mr. MacGowan wouldn't pull his own chestnuts outa the fire while he has a handy man like Dunn to do it."

"Why would I care whether Miller got out of the jail or not?" Neal asked.

The curly headed man in the levis did not lift his eyes of gunmetal blue from the owner of the K-B outfit. Neal did not move, but a tense wariness advertised that he was ready.

"Maybe you didn't want Miller to talk. Maybe he could tell too much."

"Tell what?" MacGowan's voice was as cold as wind blowing over a glacier.

"How would I know?" Christy jeered. "He might tell who robbed the Sheridan stage and killed Cole Tracy."

"Or the inside story of how you come to rub out Blackburn," snapped Manson.

"Wait a minute." The strong figure of Reynolds moved forward. "Don't get on the prod too fast. MacGowan had nothing to do with the stage holdup. He killed one of the men in it."

"I wonder why," Brock murmured, just loud enough to be heard.

The lanky rustler had something to say about that. "I can tell you why. Lane was his friend. He had reason to think Blackburn killed him. So he came up into the gap to arrest Jess, who resisted and was killed. I was there and saw it."

"That's right, Mr. Dunn." Derision rode in Christy's voice. "So you were. And now you are with him again."

"Tim Owen was also present." Reynolds reminded the Blue Bell manager.

"One of MacGowan's hired hands," Brock suggested.

"Whose hired hand are you?" Dunn demanded, turning on Brock. "Before you do any talking tell us how much the association paid you for murdering Thorne and Norwood from the brush."

Reynolds caught Brock's wrist as the man's revolver flashed out and pushed his arm down. Dunn crouched, snarling, gun out and close to his hip.

"Don't shoot, Allan," MacGowan cried.

Irish Potatoes Pay Dividends in Nutrition

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Most of that potato surplus has found its way into bins, basements, and warehouses, but potatoes still are plentiful, and we may eat them often.

The economical and most vitamin saving way to eat potatoes is skin and all, steaming hot from the oven. Potatoes should be baked at 400 degrees, and served as soon as they are tender. If they have to wait for their appearance at the table they'll become soggy, and the crisp baked skin will toughen. When your baked potatoes are tender, make a lengthwise and cross-wise gash in the top of each of them, and gently press each potato at the sides so that the mealy interior may let off steam thru the gashes. Serve the freshly baked vegetable with margarine or milk.

Here's how a well-known chef prepares "rosti" or Swiss pan-fried potatoes: Chop baked or boiled potatoes fine, or grate them. Season with salt and pepper. Cover the bottom of a skillet with lard, heat it, and add potatoes. In another skillet, brown sliced onions in a little more lard. Turn potatoes with wide spatula when browned. Turn over and over until thoroly browned.

◆

Milk supplies are decreasing due to a lot of factors, such as man power shortage on dairy farms, shortage of feed, and the sale of many dairy cattle to butchers. At the same time, the public, with more money than ever for buying milk, has increased its demand tremendously. Military and lend-lease drains also help reduce the supply. We must use milk carefully, and waste not a drop. Babies and children come first, of course, and if rationing is necessary, they will have first consideration. It is better, in my opinion, to cut down on the milk used in cooking than to limit the amount drunk from the glass.

◆

Sugar supplies seem to be satisfactory, and again there are rumors that rationing of sugar may be dropped, or the ration increased in amount. . . . Honey bees went all out this year and produced a record crop of honey. . . . Tea is more plentiful because of mounting stockpiles in India, and increased shipping space available for bringing it to our shores. . . . Cocoa and chocolate are being allowed more shipping space these days, too. Huge quantities of chocolate are needed by our service men, for chocolate is a quick-energy food, and also is the best tasting carrier for those heavy doses of vitamins, minerals, and protein which make up the emergency rations of our soldiers.

◆

Among the most plentiful vegetables right now are rutabagas, squashes, celery, cauliflower, turnip tops, peppers, beets. The citrus famine of a few months back has been forgotten with the rush of oranges and grapefruit from Florida. Apples, juicy winter pears, and grapes are other plentiful fruits.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 15.—When Loretta Young and Alan Ladd played in "China" together, he swore he'd never make another picture with her. That's all forgotten now, and they're already working in "And Now Tomorrow" in which Loretta is deaf and he is the doctor who cures her. It's Rachel Field's last story. . . . Rita Hayworth can get herself into more trouble. I hear Columbia has suspended her because she won't leave Husband Orson Welles back east and return for her next picture, which had been planned months ago for her. . . . Fritz Lang is wearing a smile that won't come off. Many New York critics voted his "Hangmen Also Die" as the best of the year. . . . The Dick Hylands are basinette shopping. . . . Jane Withers broke Oriental theater records in Chicago during her personal appearance.

Loretta Young.

Alan Ladd.

Rita Hayworth.

Giving Her All.

Humphrey Bogart's wife is doing a strip-tease act for men in North Africa, with Humphrey standing by to give her a hand. . . . When Joan Blondell did her stuff in Iceland, a sergeant said to her, "When you were in the middle of your act, you reminded me of my girl." "So what does she do?" "She's a stripper, too." Then he showed her a picture, and, by golly, she sure was! . . . Eddie Sutherland wanted Zorina and George Raft to do a jitterbug dance in "Three Cheers for the Boys," but George settled for a ballroom routine. Time sure creeps up. . . . Norman Krasna's original "Practically Yours" was bought for Fred MacMurray. If he does it, it will be his last for Paramount.

And So It Goes.

It's a cinch Paul Lukas will get the award for the best male supporting role of the year in "Watch on the Rhine." The female supporting award will be won either by Katina Paxinou in "For Whom the Bell Tolls," or Lucile Watson in "Watch on the Rhine." The first two winners may be Ingrid Bergman in "Casablanca" or "Bell," and Walter Pidgeon in "Madame Curie." I'm told Ginger Rogers has a chance for "Tender Comrade." Haven't seen that yet.

This Is Hollywood.

Charlie Foy told little Jane Barton to go out and get herself an agent. He suggested Ken Dolan. Two weeks later Ken came around to see Charlie and said, "If you want to keep Jane working here, you'll have to double her salary!" . . . Marcel Lerner, who played in "Address Unknown" on Broadway with Mady Christians, will appear at the Hollywood theater in "Love Is a Mirage" next Tuesday. . . . Benny Goodman wires to say his song, "The Lady in the Tutti Frutti Hat," was dedicated to me, and it's in "The Gang's All Here." . . . Spike Jones would like a copy of "My Last Shot Got 'Em," which is out of print. Anybody got one?

This and That.

K. T. Stevens had a phone call from Victor Mature from an eastern hospital. He's being checked up after a mission at sea. He was homesick for some local chit-chat, and she was the only gal who happened to be in. . . . All this talk about K. T. marrying Al Vanderbilt on his next leave is pretty embarrassing to young Vanderbilt. I happen to know the size of the check he sent west to a friend to buy her a Christmas present, and boy, from a millionaire, that doesn't spell love! . . . Betty Hutton is sure putting dynamite in some of the old tunes such as "Ragtime Cowboy Joe." . . . Billie Burke will launch the Liberty ship John Drew Saturday with, she hopes, Lionel Barrymore standing by. . . . They'll use Bing Crosby's Nevada ranch for some location shots for "Road to Utopia." . . . At the Clover club Jean and Frank Hubert did a comedy drunk routine for Louise Allbritton which got 'em two jobs. The club signed them and so did Boris Morros. . . . Pat O'Brien gave a luncheon for his stand-in, Bert Kennedy, to celebrate 10 years of being together. Their first picture was "Devil Dogs of the Air."

COFFEE JELLY NEEDS NO CREAM NEW KNOX WAY

Now coffee's back, you'll want Coffee Jelly for dessert again. And how you'll enjoy this old favorite the new Knox Gelatine way! No whipped cream is needed. You won't miss it, wouldn't want it! Not with such a delicious, egg-fluffy topping. This Coffee Jelly-Sponge is a complete treat in itself. Clip the recipe, and serve it...soon!

KNOX SPARKLING GELATINE

USE KNOX IN RECIPES TO STRETCH MEAT AND OTHER RATIONED FOODS. NO POINTS NEEDED

RECIPE

COFFEE JELLY-SPONGE
(6 servings)

1 envelope Knox Gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups clear strong boiled coffee (fresh or left over)
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoonfuls lemon juice
¼ teaspoonful salt
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add sugar, salt and hot coffee, and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Save out ½ cup of mixture. Turn remainder into sherbet glasses that have been rinsed out in cold water. Chill both quantities. When the ½ cup mixture begins to thicken, whip with rotary egg beater and fold in one stiffly beaten egg white to which 2 teaspoonfuls sugar have been added. New Spy Film's Story Is Bit on the Stupid Side

"THE ADVENTURES OF TARTU."

An M-G-M picture, directed by Harold S. Bucquet, starring Robert Donat, and presented at the Woods.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Slapstick spy stuff.

ACTING: Robert Donat, so capable, so brilliant, when he has a suitable rôle, plays the preposterous spy in this number with tongue in the cheek and technique that might be described as la de da. . . Valerie Hobson, as his heart throb, is charming if not credible. Some of the other players please.

DIRECTION: As good as the story warrants.

STORY: A bit on the stupid side. . . . "Tartu," in search for the "underground," tells all to a lovely lady, known to associate with gestapo officials, on the occasion of his first date with her. . . . In the latter part of the action he scoots about planting bombs, is cornered by Nazis at every turn, eludes them, is shot at continuously, but never gets hit. . . . Locale is Czecho-Slovakia and Mr. Donat, as Capt. Stevenson, impersonates one Jan Tartu, a Rumanian who is wanted by the Rumanian police for his activities with the Rumanian Nazi iron guard. . . . Bearing Tartu's papers, Stevenson is able to convince the German consul that he's a refugee from the police. . . . Thus he gets an introduction to Nazis in Czecho-Slovakia, at last contacts the "underground," and is able to fulfill his mission of sabotage. . . .

AUDIENCE APPEAL: One audience viewed this movie with great hilarity.

See you soon.

For it's a hearty meat-feast that brings good beef flavor back to your table without straining your ration stamp budget! And that's because you can serve 5 or 6 meat-hungry persons heartily . . . and still have enough left for a generous meat pie later on. You can fix two meals for the point-cost of one!

Get 2½ lbs. of Star Beef round, cut 1½ inches thick. Be sure to specify Armour's Star Beef . . . for Star Beef is tender and delicious . . . has the wonderful beef flavor that makes any meal a rousing success!

Cut small piece of fat from meat and try out in frying pan. Meanwhile, mix ½ cup flour, 3 tsps. salt and ¼ tsp. pepper and pound into both sides of meat with dull edge of saucer. Brown meat very slowly in fat. When well browned, add 1 onion and seasonings. Add 1 cup water, cover tightly and simmer 1-1½ hours or until tender, adding water as needed. Serve in the gravy with baked stuffed potatoes.

★ ARMOUR AND COMPANY

On the Aisle By Claudia Cassidy

Quack! Quack!

There is no discouraging John Golden. When he was spreading "Claudia" the length and breadth of the theater land, he and his advisers hit upon many a trick to publicize it. One was to form the "Claudia" club of women so named, persuading me to be its president by assurance that the job was entirely honorary. Have you any idea how many women are named Claudia? Thousands of them, and most of them wrote me letters. If you think Mr. Golden provided a secretary, you are mistaken. But he did have to provide a lawyer when he broadcast cards suggesting a date with "Claudia" and one of them plagued a man whose wife couldn't see the joke.

Charles Burrows as Dr. Bartell.

◆

He isn't cured, tho. Even now some 5,000 Chicago doctors are getting some curious correspondence. First in the bombardment was a letter from William Bartell, M. D., care of John Golden, New York. The doctor describes himself as nearly 80, with failing eyesight, back in practice because so many young doctors are in the army.

"As you will see by my letterhead," he writes, "I am a practicing physician. I specialize in the cure of melancholia. In this line I am effecting many remarkable cures. In fact, by my own scientific use of laugh vitamins I am, according to the press and public, performing a valuable service to mankind. In your opinion, is there a field for me in your city?"

◆

Well, it serves Mr. Golden right. Of the replies pouring in, a few have tongue in cheek to prove their writers have some notion of the identity of that august mogul of theater fame. On the other hand . . .

The American Medical association sent Dr. Bartell an information blank for verification of his data in the next American Medical directory. One doctor asks for more information, stating, "I would be very much interested to try your vitamins in my practice and am sure there is a great field for something like that in Chicago." Another suggests that laugh vitamins be made compulsory for bankers.

◆

Still another mentions Dunning and takes a flippant view of the whole business. A fifth is more severe. "Melancholia is not a disease but a symptom of many different ailments," he reproves. "Your so-called laugh vitamins are applied quack treatments because there is no diagnosis behind them. If you care to let me put your vitamin preparation to a special test of radio activity which is the only way to determine the curative value, forward a small sample and I shall let you know."

The least Mr. Golden can do for that man is to send him a couple of tickets. By this time he and the other 4,999 will have the second item in the correspondence, a postal card identifying "Dr. Bartell" as the venerable Charles Burrows, who plays the doddering old doctor in "Three Is a Family," which Mr. Golden opens at the Civic theater Christmas night.

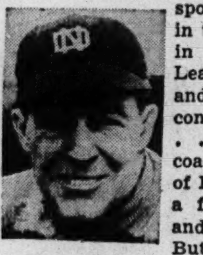
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

ONE of the most interesting characters among college football coaches is Wally Butts of the University of Georgia. . . . Deliberate in speech and possessed of a thick southern drawl, Wally affects a hillbilly lingo in the company of fellow coaches. . . . After the annual banquet of the Quarter Back club of Birmingham, Ala., last Friday night 15 or 20 of the most widely known gridiron leaders, sports writers, and civic celebrities in the deep south were congregated in the suite occupied by Frank Leahy of Notre Dame. . . . Leahy and Butts were engaged in lengthy conversation in a corner of a room. . . . One of the other southern coaches interrupted them to inquire of Butts if he was trying to arrange a football series between Georgia and Notre Dame. . . . This was Butts' answer: "No, siree, I ain't gonna bother Notre Dame about no football game. I saw Notre Dame play the Iowa Seahawks and visited the team's dressing room after the game. I saw them things that walk and talk for Leahy and I don't want no part of them nohow." . . . Representatives of universities in the Southeastern conference predict that all members, with the possible exception of Florida, will resume football in 1944. . . . Georgia and Louisiana State, the only schools without navy help which operated this year, had successful seasons competitively and financially under the circumstances. . . . Frank Thomas of Alabama said he had tentatively scheduled six games for the 1944 Crimson Tide.



Frank Leahy.

Wally Butts.

Seldom has midwest football, scholastic and collegiate, enjoyed the standing it had this fall. . . . Notre Dame was the nation's No. 1 college eleven. . . . Iowa Seahawks, Michigan, Purdue, and Northwestern were rated among the first 10. . . . St. George High school of Evanston, scholastic champion of Chicago, added to this section's prestige by defeating the unbeaten schoolboy champions of New York. . . . Sharkey Colledge, White Sox clubhouse boss, is still confined to a hospital room as the result of burns suffered from a defective steam pipe three months ago. . . . George Toporcer, successor to Herb Pennock as head of the Red Sox farms, was the first major league infielder to wear spectacles while playing. . . . Pacific coast friends say Ty Cobb is worth nearer five million than a million dollars. . . . The 38 monograms awarded to the Wisconsin football squad was a record for the university. . . . This was due in part to the fact that some players did not remain for the entire season because of transfers in navy personnel. . . . Nine were not on the campus when the winners were announced. . . . Mrs. George S. Patton and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower sat near each other at the Army-Navy game. . . . Both were visiting their sons at West Point. . . . Clyde LaForce, star back of the Tulsa eleven which will play Georgia Tech in the Sugar bowl New Year's day, attributes his accurate record as a place kicker on the try for point to the early practice he received under his father, coach at Bristow, Okla.

A Grip of the Hand.

Just a grip of the hand in the battle of life,
When you're pressed by the surging throng,
Just a grip but it helps you in playing your part,
In the struggle of right against wrong.
Just a grip in the clash and the clamor and din,
Just a grip but it helps you to fight and to win,
Just a grip of the hand.

Just a grip of the hand when it's time to go,
A grip that is firm and true.
But the task you are doing seems lighter by far,
And the sky has a cheerier hue.
And the cares that annoyed have all vanished away,
When you pause to look back at the close of the day.
Just a grip of the hand.

Sport Goods Workers Get War Awards

The essential position of sports in the war picture was recognized again yesterday during a ceremony in Lane Technical High school auditorium, where the Army-Navy E award was presented to the men and women of the Wilson Athletic Goods Manufacturing Co., Inc., for excellence in war production.

The employes of the firm, who packed the auditorium, heard themselves praised by army and navy officials, who presented officials of the Wilson company with an E pennant and 10 representative employes with the lapel pins which they and their fellows will be privileged to wear as long as they continue to maintain the standards of production excellence which earned them yesterday's presentation.

Workers Are Praised.

Lt. Col. George W. Lee of the army's quartermaster depot in Kansas City, which is charged with the assembly and distribution of athletic equipment for service men at home and overseas, paid tribute to the audience in making the emblem presentation by pointing out that guns, tanks, food, and clothing are weapons of war, but that athletic equipment deserves to be included in the same classification as a direct factor in the war.

Lt. Comdr. Alfred I. Christie of the 4th naval reserve area presented the pins and emphasized the part that the men and women present were playing in the war by producing sports equipment.

Thomas E. Wilson Speaks.

Other speakers included Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of the board of governors of the firm; L. B. Icely, its president, and Wayne Hall, the employes' representative. In addition to Hall, the workers who were direct recipients of the lapel pins were Michael Barnett, Anthony J. Marach, Mrs. Antoinette Wojciechowski, Roy Bennett, Alex Tomaszewski, Emil W. Krueger, Albert Johnston, Stephen Schurak, and Mrs. Mary Murphy. All have sons in uniform.

The Great Lakes Negro basketball team was beaten by the Dr. Goff Collegians for the second time, 48 to 42, at Great Lakes last night. Agis Bray led the Collegians with 13 points altho Charles Harmon of Great Lakes took personal honors for the evening with 17 points.

DE LA SALLE TO OPEN TOURNEY AT ST. GEORGE

Champions Depend on New Lineup.

Tonight's Schedule

7 p. m.—De La Salle vs. St. Rita.
8 p. m.—St. Michael vs. St. Patrick.
9 p. m.—St. Gregory vs. Loyola.

BY FRANK NORRIS.

De La Salle, defending champion in the annual St. George High school pre-season senior basketball tournament, will be at a decided disadvantage tonight when it opens the 10th annual tourney by meeting St. Rita. Coach Joe Gleason's championship team will attempt to retain its title without any of the regulars who performed last year.

De La Salle and St. Rita are paired in the first game tonight in the upper bracket. The game is scheduled to start at 7 o'clock in the St. George gymnasium, 350 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Two more upper bracket games will send St. Michael against St. Patrick at 8 p. m., and one hour later St. Gregory and Loyola will meet in the evening's final contest.

The tourney drew entries from 12 Catholic league members including that of Mount Carmel, defending league and city-wide titlist after its victory over Kelvyn Park of the City league, 48 to 24, last March in the Stadium. Others from the Catholic league entered are: St. Philip, St. Mel, Fenwick of Oak Park, Catholic High of Joliet, St. Ignatius, Leo, and St. George, the host team. Nonleague entries from St. Michael, a free lance team, and St. Gregory, a member of the Parish High school league, round out the list of participants in the meet.

Leo Draws a Bye.

Leo draws a bye in the upper bracket and St. Ignatius is accorded a similar rating in the lower bracket. The lower bracket will swing into action tomorrow night with Catholic High of Joliet opposing Fenwick at 7 p. m., St. George and St. Philip meeting one hour later, and Mount Carmel and St. Mel tangling in the windup at 9 o'clock.

Powerful Mount Carmel has been rated the favorite. Coach John Tracy, who took over after John Jordan and Wally Fromhart guided last year's team to the city-wide title, has three letter men from that squad. Capt. George Benigni, star in the route of Kelvyn Park, will be back at center and will team up with Ed Rose and Frank Lake at forwards and Jack O'Leary and Fred O'Neill, guards. O'Leary and O'Neill were members of the junior championship team last season. Jordan is now a lieutenant in the navy and Fromhart is concentrating on coaching the football team which plays Jesuit High of New Orleans on Dec. 26 in the southern city.

Promise Traveling Trophy.

Only two teams have ever succeeded in taking the tourney championship twice in a row. St. Patrick turned the trick in 1935 and 1936 and Mount Carmel duplicated the feat the following two years. Other tourney winners were: 1934—St. Mel; 1939—Fenwick; 1940—Catholic High of Joliet; 1941—Leo, and 1942—De La Salle.

Brother Julius, athletic director of St. George, announced a traveling trophy will be presented to any school that is successful in winning the tournament championship three years in a row.

CONTINUANCE OF FOOTBALL URGED

90 Per Cent of Fans Like This Year's Brand.

College football fans in 1943 saw 90 per cent as much football as they watched on an average in previous years and they were almost unanimous in the opinion that:

1. They enjoyed the brand of football seen in 1943.
2. That college football should be played in 1944, and
3. That college administrations should exert every effort to continue intercollegiate sports programs for the duration.

These conclusions were revealed yesterday by Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner for the Western conference and president of the Athletic Institute, Inc., who made known an analysis of the second annual poll of college football spectators, which was conducted to get a public opinion appraisal of football in 1943.

The poll revealed, Maj. Griffith said, that 98 per cent of football fans were in agreement with the navy policy which allows V-12 students in colleges to play with varsity teams, while, altho there was no question on the subject, many of the fans offered the opinion that the army should have relaxed its ruling which denied soldiers in colleges opportunity to play varsity football.

Urge Football in 1944.

Ninety-eight per cent feel that college football should be played in 1944 and the same percentage want college administrations to keep intercollegiate programs going for the duration. Ninety-seven and three-tenths per cent enjoyed the college football seen in 1943.

The poll revealed that 14 per cent of the fans traveled by train to the games. Forty-eight per cent traveled by automobile; 25 per cent used public conveyances, and 13 per cent walked.

Those fans in favor of football for the duration were of the opinion that football better fits young men for armed service and that it is a part of American life that should not be abandoned. A mother of three soldiers wrote. "Public needs relaxation from worry and war news . . . football makes them fit, teaches coöperation and acceptance of discipline."

Contributes to National Spirit.

A major in the air corps stated: "All sports are a contribution to a better manhood and national spirit." One fellow wrote "the show must go on." One dissenter declared that college football was "an unnecessary expenditure of gasoline, tires, money and automobiles."

Another fan wrote: "The policy of the army and the navy should be the same. It is not fair for some schools to use navy trainees, while others are denied the use of army trainees. The army should change its policy to conform with the present navy policy."

While 97.3 per cent of the fans enjoyed football in 1943, some asked for the elimination of the offside kick-off, others said they missed the bands.

Maj. Griffith said poll questionnaires were mailed to 10 schools for distribution at the last game of the season. Questionnaires were returned from 12 states.

Representative Opinion.

"We'll admit the poll was a sample of opinion from a group sympathetic to football," Maj. Griffith explained, "but since some 50 million Americans are sympathetic to football, as evidenced by the attendance at games thruout the country each fall, we believe that these people have a right to express their opinion and that their opinion is representative of public opinion in general.

"We were further gratified by the fact that the public in general seems to agree with military and naval leaders in the battle areas, who have repeatedly voiced the opinion that fellows who have played football and other rough-and-tumble American games are better fighting men as a result."

RED WINGS CALL THREE PLAYERS UP FROM FARM

IRISH SEEK 6TH IN ROW OVER N. U.

They'll Meet Saturday Night in Stadium.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

When Notre Dame's basketball team meets Northwestern in the opening game of the Stadium double header Saturday night, the Irish will seek a sixth consecutive victory over the Wildcats in the 17 year old series between these midwestern athletic rivals. The second contest Saturday matches the undefeated De Paul quintet against Indiana university.

Notre Dame divided the 1940 series with Northwestern, losing a New Year's eve game 46 to 36 and winning two weeks later, 47 to 36. Since then the Irish have added four games.

The Wildcats would be a natural choice over Notre Dame Saturday night except for the record of consistently closely fought games and the recent illness of Capt. Otto Graham, who resumed practice this week but who probably can not play 40 minutes against the Irish. Seventeen games between these teams have been decided by four points or less. Three times the victor's margin has been one point and in four games the margin has been two points.

Lose to Western Michigan.

The common factor for Saturday's game is that both Notre Dame and Northwestern have been defeated by Western Michigan. Without detracting from the performance of this fine midwestern team, Northwestern lost a 47 to 45 decision without the services of Graham and because the Wildcats noticeably were not ready for 40 minutes of rugged basketball. Notre Dame, by the statement of its coach, Ed Krause, has improved.

Coach Krause will start a team which, in general, lacks experience altho two players, transfer students, saw limited service last season. The others are Notre Dame men. Two of them played a total of six minutes last year and the other is a sophomore. Notre Dame's starting team Saturday night will be:

N. U. Lineup Undecided.

Leo Klier, junior, and Ernie Kivisto, transfer from Marquette university, forwards; Mike Todorovich, marine transfer from Washington university, St. Louis, center; Bernie Rutledge, junior, and John Kelly, sophomore, guards.

Northwestern's coach, Dutch Lonborg, still is undecided on two places on his starting lineup. Graham, Nick Vodick, and George Felt are definitely named, however. Felt, who was ineligible last season, will be the center and Lonborg expects him to control the rebounds from both back boards.

MARTY MARION'S MOTHER DIES IN RICHBURG, S. C.

Richburg, S. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Mrs. J. W. Marion, 53, mother of three baseball players, died at her home here today after a long illness.

She is survived by four sons, Martin Marion, infielder of the St. Louis Cardinals; John W., of the St. Paul club of the American association; Roy C., of the Nashville club of the Southern association, and Charles R., of the navy air corps.

The funeral will be held Friday in Richburg, S. C.

CROWD OF 9,517 PUTS $442,830 THRU MUTUELS

Fans Go By Auto; OPA Checks Up.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 15 (AP).—A crowd of 9,517, less than a thousand under the track's first day high, attended the opening of the Florida racing season at Tropical Park today and established a first day pari-mutuel wagering record of $442,830.

The previous winter inaugural betting mark was $276,058, set in 1940, and the attendance record of 10,481 was established Dec. 20, 1941. The new figures prompted Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the Gables Racing association, to declare "we have no fears as to the season's success."

Harvard Square Wins.

Surging fans cheered Allen T. Simmons' Harvard Square as he delivered a stirring finish to win the first division of the $2,500 inaugural handicap. Woolford farm's Pig Tails, the favorite, and J. B. Partridge's Minee-Mo sped beside the winner to finish in that order. Harvard Square's backers collected $14.10.

The second division of the handicap, a six furlong event for 3 year olds and up, went to Brolite farm's Roman Sox, with the Christopher ranch entry, K. Dorko, and W. Gullatt's Navy following for place and show positions. Roman Sox paid $15.30 for $2.

The nine races on the opening card inaugurated 100 days of competition here and at Hialeah Park, the longest Florida season by four days. Tropical will operate for 20 days, Hialeah for 50, and then Tropical again for 30 days.

OPA Checks Cars.

Automobiles brought practically all the first day crowd and Tropical's parking lots were filled nearly to capacity. Office of price administration agents kept watch for taxicabs or hired vehicles, but the pleasure driving ban which caused Tropical to close after 15 days last year no longer applies to private cars.

The first race of the season went to W. F. Mannagh's Liberty Flight which won by a head over Wise Decision to pay $12.40. Wise Decision awarded place money of $3.70, and the show horse, Knight's Quest II, paid $6.40.

Lou Novikoff Suspended by Judge Landis

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 15 (AP).—Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis has suspended Lou Novikoff, Chicago Cubs outfielder, for failure to answer a questionnaire about his winter baseball playing in southern California.

Novikoff is the only one of 20 or more major leaguers participating in winter games to be suspended, Los Angeles baseball club officials said, altho Andy Pafko, Los Angeles outfielder who was sent to the Cubs late last season, has been informed by Landis that he will be fined for his activities.

Commissioner Landis has given major leaguers permission to play winter baseball only if they perform for companies by whom they are employed, and then only if the proceeds of games are donated to charities and the players themselves receive no compensation for their services.

Novikoff said tonight he had written Landis, giving full explanation of his activities in winter baseball. He said he had taken part in only one game and had notified Jimmy Gallagher of the Cubs that he had submitted his case to Landis.

"That's the last I heard of it until I found out today I had been suspended," Novikoff told reporters.

REHIRE COACH JOHNSON.

Roy Johnson was rehired yesterday by the Cubs as a coach but in reality will instruct in the kindergarten class of Jim Wilson's baseball institution next summer.

The Cubs, without allowing for further inroads by the draft before next spring, will be heavily sprinkled with kid material and it is among these that Johnson is expected to put his experiences to good use.

3 RECORDS SET AS IOWA WINS 82 TO 34 GAME

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 15 [Special].—Led by a 17 year old freshman, the University of Iowa Hawkeyes broke three records tonight, defeating Macomb Teachers college, 82 to 34, before 600 fans.

The youthful pace setter was Dick Ives of Diagonal, Ia., who scored 37 points for a new fieldhouse scoring mark and a new Iowa individual scoring high. The Iowans also erased the old team total record of 75 points made against Monmouth college in 1940.

LUCKMAN SETS RECORDS; BAUGH GETS THE HONOR

Sammy Is Rated First on Passing Average.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

They're calling Sammy Baugh the forward passing champion of the National Football league in this season of 1943. This must bring a quiet chuckle to the Bears' Sid Luckman.

Baugh rates the honor, according to the league statistical ruler, because his average of completions is .557 to Luckman's .545. But there the superiority stops. In completing 110 passes, Luckman's yardage was 2,194, a new league record. Baugh's 133 passes were good for 1,754 yards. Sid pitched 28 touchdown passes in 10 games, knocking out Cecil Isbell's year old league standard of 24 in 11 games. Baugh had 23 touchdown passes. Nineteen of Baugh's passes were intercepted, while only 12 of Sid's went into alien hands. These are final statistics, since the play-off game figures are not counted.

How About a Petersen System?

Yet Baugh is the champion, the league apparently granting the honor on the basis of per cent of completions. It would seem that the yardage and touchdown production would be worth something. Perhaps a sort of Petersen system, such as used in bowling, could be devised. Certainly, with all passing angles considered, the champion is Luckman and not Baugh.

Luckman will be among those Bears present at 10 o'clock this morning in Wrigley field when the team's stop-and-go practice sessions are resumed. The players thought the coaches' idea of a 72 hour armistice was wise indeed, the lull coming in the midst of the coldest weather of the month.

Bears' Offense Superior.

Final team statistics indicate that the Bears are far superior on offense than the Giants or Redskins, who will play Sunday in New York, the winner to meet the Bears in Wrigley field the day after Christmas. The Giants made 102 first downs, in 10 games and gained 2,180 yards. The Redskins made 112 and 2,925 yards. The Bears had 161 first downs and 4,045 yards. They averaged 3.9 for each ball carrying attempt to 3.7 for the Giants and 3.4 for the Redskins.

The Bears successfully defended their penalty championship, with 748 yards. The Giants were assessed only 293 yards and the Redskins 499.

More First Downs Against Giants.

Here's a quick defensive comparison of the three title aspirants:

The Giants yielded 170 first downs, the Bears 157, and the Redskins 137. Yet opponents found it harder to gain against the Bears than the other two. The Bears gave up only 2,262 yards. The Redskins were frisked for 2,358 and the Giants 2,738. The Bears had the best defense against pass plays, the Giants the best against running plays.

Opponents completed only slightly more than three out of 10 passes against the western champions. The figure was .315. The percentage of completions against Washington was .399 and against New York .520.

FOLEY TO PLAY IN FOUR MORE ILLINOIS GAMES

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 15 [Special]. —Dick Foley, Illinois freshman guard from Paris, today informed Coach Doug Mills he will play the next four games with his team. Inducted into the army yesterday in Chicago, Foley said he would return to play during a 21 day furlough against Missouri, Kentucky, Great Lakes, and Wisconsin.

Calumet led at the half, 16 to 12, by coming up with a 14 point second quarter. Lindblom made it 19 to 19 at the start of the last quarter and went in front, 23 to 21, but with five seconds to go Howie Schoen popped a field goal to tie the score for Calumet.

Scoreless First Overtime.

The rivals were scoreless the first overtime and midway in the second extra session George Klupchak scored the winning field goal. Lindblom also won the junior game by a 23 to 21 score.

Howie Nierman scored 17 points to lead the Von Steuben juniors to a 40 to 34 victory over Wells for their third straight triumph on the Von Steuben court.

Weber Juniors Win 10th

Tonight.

I try each day to write a line
To some soldier or sailor friend of mine;
A word of courage and acclaim—
Citing his bravery and undying fame.

We folks at home will never know
What all our boys have to undergo
That we are kept at peace and rest,
While they absorb a terrific test.

I know—because I have
Two sons beneath that flag
Whose stars and stripes will always be,
The champion of the true and free.

So pledge yourself to write tonight
To cheer some lonesome, gallant knight;
And ask our Lord to speed the day,
To return our boys to the U. S. A.

"WOW!—THERMOMETER'S BUSTED!"
"CAR'S RADIATOR AIN'T!"
FIERCE COLD?....Be safe with this Anti-Freeze battling the HIGH HEAT!

66 degrees below zero, in Yellowstone Park, on February 9, 1933, is the lowest official U. S. temperature on record. You could easily put in enough Super Pyro anti-freeze—or almost any other anti-freeze—to save your car's radiator at 66 below, if you didn't drive!

But when driven—even in severe outside temperature—most cars run up around 160 degrees hot. Every stop means quite a spell when the engine's even HOTTER. And that all adds up to lots of Winter HOTNESS!

HEAT-resistance—instead of mere cold-resistance alone, you can see that's what your anti-freeze needs. And Super Pyro anti-freeze overcomes the effects of heat so well, that it isn't apt to be mostly missing when time comes to outdo COLD.

You can put in just enough Super Pyro for the worst cold due here, knowing that you'll still have a large measure of your original Super Pyro protection after quite a bit of Winter WARMTH. That's how well Super Pyro lasts. Again and again you find your radiator needing no more. Yet the first cost isn't high. Get Super Pyro for the car you can't replace. You'll get Super Pyro's special rust-protection too, at no added cost. Go now, while there's still a supply at your dealer's.

ST. GEORGE TEAM ELECTS TACKLES '44 CO-CAPTAINS

Vainisi, Pantera Named; Wendell Most Valuable.

Jack Vainisi and Leroy Pantera, both tackles, were elected co-captains of the 1944 St. George High school football team of Evanston last night at a dinner given in honor of the city-wide co-champions by the Fathers' club of Evanston at the Belden-Stratford hotel.

At the same time, Marty Wendell, the team's quarter back and co-captain this fall, was named the most valuable player on the squad which tied with Mount Carmel for the Catholic league title, defeated Phillips High school for the city-wide crown in Mayor Kelly's bowl game and then went on to New York and defeated the New York City champions last Sunday.

Sports Leaders Speak.

Among the principal speakers on last night's program which was attended by approximately 500, were Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, Ed McKeever, back field coach at Notre Dame, and the Rev. James McDonnell, president of the Chicago Catholic High School Athletic association. Norman Barry, former Notre Dame football star, was toastmaster.

Other notables present included Pete Miller, director of the C. Y. O.; Mayor S. G. Ingraham of Evanston; Ed Bell, Evanston city clerk; Freddy Lindstrom, Evanston postmaster; Brother Patrick, director of St. George High school; Brother Julius, athletic director; Coach Max Burnell; Robert Donahue and Les Schreiber, assistant coaches.

FETE MT. CARMEL TONIGHT

The Mount Carmel High school football team will be given a banquet at 7 o'clock this evening in the school's gymnasium by the Fathers' club. Five hundred are expected. The Caravan tied St. George of Evanston for the Catholic league title and earned equal recognition as city wide champions when the Dragons defeated the City league titlist, Phillips, 19 to 12. Mount Carmel will play Jesuit High of New Orleans in a charity game on Dec. 26 in the southern city.

Awards to 45 players will be made tonight by Father Terence Fitzgerald, athletic director of the school. James Order will present the Catholic Order of Foresters trophy and Father James McDonnell, president of the Catholic league, will give the co-championship trophy to Capt. George Benigni. The James Whalen trophy will be awarded to the player voted the most valuable. The player with the highest scholastic average will receive an award from the Fathers' club.

Skate Classes to Open Monday Night in Parks

The Chicago Sports association in coöperation with the Illinois Skating association will conduct a series of coaching schools starting Monday night, to teach the fundamentals of ice skating to boys and girls. Classes will be held weekly, with the opening session at Pierce playground, 1457 Bryn Mawr avenue. Classes will be held at Mozart park, Avers and Armitage avenues, Tuesday night and at Gage park, 2415 West 55th street, Thursday night.

SCHOLARSHIP FOR YOUNG

Claude [Buddy] Young, star back of the Wendell Phillips eleven, City High School league champion, was presented a scholarship to the University of Illinois last night by State Sen. George D. Mills as more than 800 south side citizens gathered in the Parkway ballroom at a banquet honoring the title winners.

Among the speakers were Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois, and the Rev. Archibald Carey, pastor of the Woodlawn A. M. E. church.

C. D. G. A. NAMES RUTHERFORD ITS 1944 PRESIDENT

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago District Golf association, which concluded its most successful campaign during the last season, last night held its 30th annual meeting and election of officers in the grand ballroom of the La Salle hotel, with a majority of the officials of the 64 member clubs attending.

Lowell D. [Larry] Rutherford of Medinah, one of the busiest officers of the organization since 1932, was elected president for the 1944 season. He succeeds Thomas G. McMahon of Skokie, under whose leadership the C. D. G. A. in the last two years has become the No. 1 golf association of the country. Other officers included Robert S. Hulbert of Brookwood, vice president; Frederick M. [Ted] Quinn of Big Foot, secretary, and Leslie F. Muter of Calumet, treasurer.

Board of Directors Named.

The board of directors for 1944 includes Melville Keim of Northmoor, Ross H. Kidston of Glen View, John T. Montgomery of Westmoreland, Jerome P. Bowes Jr. of Exmoor, William M. Hillborn of Oak Park, David W. Lamoreaux of Flossmoor, Dr. George E. Le Mire of North Shore, Walter F. Mullady of Bob o' Link, J. Liston Nau of Sunset Ridge, Walter E. Olson of Ridgemoor, Alex G. Shennan of Westward-Ho, and Frank M. Whiston of Edgewater. McMahon is an ex-officio member of the board and Charles J. Morgan of Park Ridge is the new general counsel.

The above officers and board were submitted by a nominating committee composed of Chairman Maynard G. [Scotty] Fessenden of Bob o' Link; Elmer A. Eulass of Calumet, and Walter G. Leininger of Oak Park. Next year's nominating committee will consist of Chairman McMahon, Fessenden, and Leininger.

Outstanding Accomplishments.

Outstanding in the association's 1943 achievements, aside from its adherence to a full tournament schedule, were the Dime-A-Round campaign and the Chicago Victory National tournament at Beverly. Thru the latter event, won by Sam Byrd, a total of more than $6,400 was directed to a special fund for pitch and putt courses and other recreation facilities for wounded veterans of World War II, now recuperating at Hines and Downey hospitals. The Dime-A-Round campaign, whereby each golfer was asked to donate 10 cents before beginning a round, netted more than $10,800 for the Chicago Service Men's centers.

MARINES PLAY BASKETBALL.

The Hallicrafters Radio company basketball team will play the 87th Street Marines in the Grand Crossing playground gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock.

South Byfield, Mass., Dec. 15 [Special].—B. Botsford Young Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Botsford Young of 944 Sheridan road, Lake Forest, has been elected captain of Governor Dummer academy's 1944 football team, it was announced tonight at the academy's annual Christmas dinner.

Big round coming up...

THIS is the biggest fight we Americans have ever been in, Mr. Jones. And the final round is just coming up.

There's your personal opponent in the far corner... the Jap civilian. It's you against him in the home front battle that backs up the fighting forces.

We mustn't be fooled by his size. He's small but he's tough and he's tricky. He'll live on rice... work fourteen hours a day, seven days a week, to beat us. We'd better throw everything we've got into this final round to beat him.

Let's beat him to the punch... by reaching to the bottom of our pockets for more and more money for war bonds.

Let's back him on the ropes... by conserving our resources and not wasting food, gasoline, metals, fats and other war materials.

Let's land the knockout... by making our every effort count, in speeding up war work, in aiding the war at home.

There's no referee in this war... no winning on points. Somebody is going to be out cold before it's over.

So let's attack... make the enemy home front cry "enough." That will be the end of this war... just as it was the last time.

THIS is published by The Texas Company to acknowledge the importance of YOU, the American citizen, in winning this war. Even before the war it was YOU who built the strongest military asset America had — our productive capacity. Today it serves us well.

DO YOU PLAN TO BUY LIQUOR FOR THE HOLIDAYS?

.. then heed this advice from SCHENLEY

ALONG with many another time-honored holiday treat, fine whiskey won't be as plentiful this year as any of us would like. We're doing our best to see that you get some SCHENLEY Royal Reserve (from precious pre-war reserves) to brighten the season. But please remember — SCHENLEY distilleries have made no whiskey for 14 months — our vast facilities are producing alcohol for war use by the government. Here are six suggestions to help you plan your holiday purchases:

SIX SUGGESTIONS FOR HOLIDAY BUYERS

1. Plan your purchases as far ahead as possible.
2. If you cannot fill all your requirements for whiskey, supplement with well-chosen wines or fine domestic brandy.
3. Avoid shopping during rush hours—remember, your retailer is short-handed these days. Take packages with you.
4. If your dealer is out of SCHENLEY Royal Reserve today, ask again tomorrow. Carton and glass shortages and transportation difficulties often delay shipments.
5. Don't blame your retailer when shortages occur — he's doing his best to supply you.
6. AND PAY NO MORE THAN O. P. A. CEILING PRICE

COURT TO STUDY SLUM CLEARING ACT'S VALIDITY

Dual Benefits Provided, Attorney Argues.

BY AL CHASE.

Judge Julius Miner of the Circuit court yesterday took under advisement the question of constitutionality of the Illinois neighborhood redevelopment corporation act after an all day hearing of arguments supporting the law advanced by William Wilson of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin & Ellis, attorney for the city of Chicago.

Wilson's argument was a reply to statements by Bernard Nath, attorney for John F. Zurn, a realtor, who sought to prevent the city from spending $1,000 appropriated by the council to pay the expenses of the municipal supervisory commission provided by the act.

Wilson said the fact that corporations may receive profits in operating under the act did not preclude the law's having "public use."

Double Benefits Possible.

"Each case must be decided with reference to the object sought and to be accomplished and to the degree and manner in which that object affects the public welfare," he said.

"Frequently an object presents a double aspect in that it may in some respects result in conferring a benefit upon the public and in other respects may result in conferring a benefit upon, or in paying money to private individuals.

"It is plain that an expenditure isn't necessarily barred because individuals as such may profit, nor is it necessarily valid because of incidental benefit to the public."

Would Restore Tax Income.

Wilson balanced the question of "public benefits" against any possible profits to the corporation. He said tax delinquent properties would be replaced by new tax paying ones, thus enabling the financing of various public services.

"Profits may be insignificant compared with the vast amount of benefits which would accrue to the neighborhood from the building of housing by development corporations," Wilson said. "Such improvements would help the city morally, socially, and financially."

He declared condemnation was absolutely necessary in order to assemble the land needed for a large housing project. He added that the redevelopment act provides for restrictions in the deed which will keep the land in "public use."

E. F. WIEBOLDT FETED BY GROUP OF ASSOCIATES

Elmer F. Wieboldt was the guest of fellow executives of Wieboldt Stores, Inc., yesterday at a luncheon in the Edgewater Beach hotel honoring him for 31 years of active association with the company and leadership in Chicago merchandising.

One of his associates' gifts—a Dalmatian coach dog—will accompany Wieboldt to his Virginia farm when his retirement as president becomes effective Jan. 1. He will remain with the company as director, and will be available to the officers in a consulting capacity.

The group of 25 members of the Wieboldt executives' club attending the luncheon included Werner A. Wieboldt, chairman of the board; Samuel L. Hypes, who was elected president last month, and L. W. Stratton, merchandising manager, who arranged the event. The Wieboldts are sons of the company's founder, William A. Wieboldt.

BUILDERS TELL HARDSHIPS OF 48 HOUR WEEK

Extra Time Costs Double, They Say.

The war man power commission's recent order lengthening the work week of Chicago building trades from 40 to 48 hours not only is unnecessary but will cause great harm to the industry, heads of both the workers' and contractors' organizations told Lester Brown, WMC area director, at a closed meeting yesterday in headquarters of the Building Construction Employers' association, 228 North La Salle street.

Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, pointed out that in accordance with long standing agreements between nearly all the building trades unions and the employers' groups, the additional eight hours weekly must be paid for at double time rates on all so-called "private" construction jobs, which are all those in which federal money is not involved.

By federal order, only time and a half is allowed for such overtime on construction jobs paid for in whole or part with government funds.

Unemployment Feared.

Sullivan, representing the 90,000 union building trade workers in the Chicago area, charged that the WMC directive, which goes in effect Jan. 16, would:

1. Boost construction costs, particularly on homes, "possibly as much as 25 per cent."

2. Greatly cut down the volume of home building, as a result of the increased costs, "thus aggravating the already bad situation caused by a scarcity of housing facilities."

3. Cause consequent unemployment among members of the building trades unions here, which he predicted might run as "high as 20 or 25 per cent."

Declaring that he "couldn't see how the WMC directive was going to accomplish its ostensible purpose of persuading building trades workers to go to work on war plant assembly lines," Sullivan reminded Brown that "most building trades workers are middle-aged men who have spent years perfecting themselves at their trades."

Loath to Quit Homes.

"Eighty per cent of them are married men with families, who own their homes here," Sullivan said. "You can't expect them to leave their families here and go to some west coast shipyard to work or to adapt themselves to working on a war plant assembly line at less money than they can make at their trades."

Brown admitted that "personally" he thought "about all the building trades workers who would enter war plants already had done so."

"Priorities have been granted so far for construction of 3,500 new homes, and for modernization of 1,500 additional dwelling units," Sullivan said. "At least 3,500 more housing units are needed. However, it is lack of priorities, and not a labor scarcity that is barring additional remedial construction.

Reminding the meeting that "the interpretation of the directive for this area is entirely up to" him, Brown explained the order exempts "establishments" or construction jobs on which fewer than eight workmen are employed. However, he pointed out that if a single contractor builds several adjoining houses, the several "would be considered one job."

Contractual Problem Cited.

Oscar A. Reum, president of the Chicago Building Construction Employers association and chairman of the meeting, asserted that the exemption clause would, in effect, set up two different labor cost bases for contractors. He said this would force contractors to figure costs on both bases, and to insert a clause in all contracts to protect themselves financially "in case a plea for exemption under the directive was denied."

Brown explained that the contractors had 60 days in which to complete existing contracts, under the pre-directive status.

CRIBBEN, SEXTON WINS 'E' FLAG FOR WAR WORK

George D. Wilkinson, president of the Cribben & Sexton company, Chicago, announced yesterday his company has been awarded the army-navy "E" for excellence in war production. Normally a producer of gas ranges, the company is making aircraft subassemblies, armor plate for tanks, and high explosive shells. Other war products include hospital tables for the army and bomb and ammunition boxes.

The Chicago Bridge and Iron company said its shipbuilding division in Seneca, Ill., has received another army-navy citation for excellence in war production.

House Inquiry in Insurance Rates Sought

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—A congressional investigation of the fire insurance business was proposed today by Rep. Walter A. Lynch [D., N. Y.], who declared the companies as well as the public ought to know how and by whom fire insurance rates are fixed.

Requesting appointment of a special committee to conduct the inquiry, Lynch said a senate subcommittee hearing on legislation to exempt the insurance business from federal anti-trust laws has developed testimony which would justify the investigation.

Chicagoan Testifies.

He quoted Louis H. Pink, insurance executive, as saying that a survey of fire insurance rating systems disclosed a lack of proper statistical information and that rating methods are not supported by statistical experience.

At the senate subcommittee hearing today Thomas C. McConnell, Chicago lawyer for an insurance brokers association, warned that exemption of the insurance business from anti-trust laws eventually would lead to public demands for strict federal regulation of the industry.

Sumners Supports Bill.

"The only thing now safeguarding the individual is the anti-trust laws," he said.

Meanwhile, Rep. Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee, urged the rules committee to approve the insurance bill. The committee ordered further hearings tomorrow.

Asserting regulation of insurance traditionally was reserved to the states, Sumners declared that states rights must be protected "if we are going to preserve a system of democratic government."

HEAVIER TAXES CUT NET PROFIT OF A. O. SMITH

Federal and state income taxes took 86.9 per cent of the earnings of A. O. Smith corporation and wholly owned subsidiaries in the three months ended Oct. 31, the company reported yesterday. Net profit was $1,220,178, after deducting $8,611,635 for income and excess profits taxes, compared with $1,421,817 in the 1942 period after provision for federal and state income taxes of $8,556,883, or 85.7 per cent of earnings. Earnings per share for the respective periods were $2.46 and $2.86.

MUNICIPAL PENSION.

I receive a pension from the Chicago Municipal Employes' Pension fund. My husband paid into this fund, and the balance of the fund is contributed by the city of Chicago. I have been told that because the fund is made up of tax money, the pensions are not subject to income tax, for a tax upon a tax is illegal. Some individuals are declaring their pension while others are not. What is the correct thing to do? R. R.

The wages, salary, pensions, or other compensation received by employes of the federal, state, or local governments, even tho paid out of tax revenues, are subject to the federal income tax.

Since your husband contributed to the retirement income you receive, the benefits are classified as annuity income, for income tax purposes. Amounts received as an annuity each year are taxable only to the extent of 3 per cent of the aggregate premium or amounts paid by the beneficiary until such time as the untaxed annual balances equal the total premium payments. Thereafter the full amount of the annuity income is taxable.

4 WAR BOND TYPES AVAILABLE TO BANKS IN 4TH LOAN DRIVE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury, announced today that commercial banks holding savings deposits will be permitted to subscribe during the fourth war loan drive, beginning Jan. 18, to the 2½ and 2¼ per cent war bonds. Such banks also will be permitted to subscribe to series F and series G savings bonds on and after Jan. 1, 1944, he said.

Morgenthau asserted that any bank holding savings deposits may subscribe to any or all of the four mentioned bonds in an amount not to exceed in the aggregate 10 per cent of its deposits, as shown by the most recent bank call prior to its subscribing, or $200,000, whichever is less.

In no circumstances, Morgenthau said, will a bank be permitted to hold more than $100,000 [issue price] of series F and series G savings bonds of the 1944 series, combined.

Eastern Risk Firm's Agent Will Dissolve

The Whitehall Insurance agency, 141 West Jackson boulevard, which was said to have obtained business from the state administration, is being dissolved, its president, Richard E. Hall, announced yesterday. The agency was organized by Hall and Richard Searles, both close friends of Gilbert Keebler, former administrative auditor for Gov. Green.

Morris Alexander, attorney for the agency, said yesterday that Keebler drew some commissions from the agency, altho he didn't know how much. This was denied by Keebler.

Keebler Denies Connection.

"I never had anything to do with the insurance company," Keebler said. "I am in the real estate business. Because I am Gov. Green's friend, there is a lot of loose talk."

Insurance men have estimated that the agency must have netted at least $200,000 a year, but Hall said it never took in anything like that amount.

Among other things, the agency represented the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, which bonds all state officials and employes in the code offices under Gov. Green's control.

Writes Contract, Sureties.

Premiums on these bonds cost the state $13,483 this year, according to George B. McKibbin, state director of finance. In addition, the Fidelity and Deposit company gets much of the business originating from state road building and maintenance contracts. Insurance men said contractors getting state road work usually received blanks from the Whitehall agency in the mail from the state acknowledging awarding of the contract. The blanks were described as applications for performance bonds to be written by the Fidelity and Deposit company.

Searles some time ago severed his relationship with the agency and went to Arizona where he bought a ranch which he is stocking with blooded cattle and horses.

GRAIN FUTURES ADVANCE AGAIN; SHORTS COVER

Prices of grain futures generally were higher yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. There was some opposition to the upturns from profit taking longs and also a tendency to reduce open commitments in wheat on the belief the ceiling on hard wheat will be about the same as the current open market price.

Wheat futures closed ⅝ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ cent lower. December wheat went to a new 17 year peak. There were no sales of December oats, with other oats futures ¼ cent lower. Rye was ⅜ to 1⅜ cents higher and barley gained ⅝ to ¾ cent.

Short covering was responsible for the upturn in wheat and rye.

Jones Ruling Held Curb on Midwest Gas

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—A "joker" clause in a ruling by Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, is preventing prompt expansion of gasoline supplies in the Chicago area, officials in the petroleum administration for war disclosed today.

Forty thousand barrels of crude oil from west Texas fields could be used daily by the idle facilities of midwestern refiners if the Defense Supplies corporation headed by Jones would eliminate or modify the "joker" clause, they said.

Jones' ruling prohibits the reimbursement by DSC of added transportation costs to midwestern oil companies which have earned excess profits under federal revenue laws.

Encouraged "Sour" Crude.

The transportation subsidy became effective Dec. 4 and was designed to encourage the movement of "sour" [high sulphur content] crude oil from west Texas by compensating the refiners for the extra cost of shipping the oil by tank car from pipe line terminals.

The refiners have not drawn upon west Texas oil in the past because of the higher transportation costs which would not have been covered by current price ceilings. The transportation subsidy was requested by the industry to enable it to employ its idle capacity in processing this sour crude oil without loss. The arrangement was approved by PAW and recommended to DSC.

Seek Way Around Ruling.

DSC, PAW, and industry officials are now attempting to work out some arrangement for paying the transportation subsidy by determining which of about 20 available midwest companies have not earned excess profits.

The office of defense transportation said 2,000 tank cars a day would be necessary to move 40,000 barrels of sour crude from the pipe line terminus at Midland, Tex., to midwestern refineries. Approximately 3,000 tank care were assigned today by ODT to move 39,000 barrels of the west Texas crude daily to east coast refiners.

ASK FOREIGN POLICY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Two of the five senators who recently inspected allied war fronts told the senate today this nation should formulate a foreign oil policy as a guarantee of adequate future supplies.

Sen. James Mead [D., N. Y.], said the policy should be adopted at once to encourage American nationals to develop foreign reserves and relieve the drain on domestic supplies.

This view was supported by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.].

Mead mentioned a letter he had received from Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator, in which Ickes said statements to the effect that British controled oil supplies were being drawn upon less than those of the United States were factually correct.

"I believe it will be shown ultimately that we are putting up 95 per cent of the aviation gasoline which is being used to blast the Hitlers and the Tojos off the map," Ickes said.

MILLER & HART PROFIT LOWER, THO SALES RISE

Net sales of Miller & Hart, Inc., during the fiscal year ended Oct. 30 increased to $23,231,507 from $21,631,806 in the preceding 12 months but net income declined to $278,242 from $381,714, the pork packer reported yesterday. Reserve for federal taxes amounted to $730,000 net, compared with $721,000. The profit was equal to 78 cents a common share, against $1.20 in the 1942 period, without allowance for back dividends on the prior preferred and convertible preference stocks.

People and Events

Transcontinental and Western Air yesterday announced the appointment of Lyman Hoffine as Chicago personnel manager to replace Robert Ramey, who has been appointed system personnel manager. Hoffine formerly was personnel representative in Kansas City, Mo., and has served as system chief clerk and personnel supervisor of T. W. A.'s modification center.

Wade Fetzer Jr. has been elected president of W. A. Alexander & Co., general insurance agency, replacing his father, chief executive officer for 40 years, who has been elected board chairman.

T. W. Bowers has been elected a director of the Buda company, Harvey, Ill., succeeding James D. Tew. Bowers formerly was manager of the Bank of Manhattan, New York.

WHISKY SHARES LEAP AGAIN AT BARGAIN TREAT

Other Issues Drift in Short Range.

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—The hunt for scarce whisky was resumed with vigor on the floor of the New York Stock exchange today after American Distilling company announced how it would distribute its liquor holdings to shareholders at prices well below ceiling and going market quotations.

A bargain counter rush to buy the shares boosted the stock from last night's closing price of $112.50 a share to $128. The closing price of $121 represented a net rise on the day of $8.50. A few months ago the stock was quoted around $30.

A similar demonstration of bullish ardor on the part of Wall street brokers and their clients appeared in the shares of Park & Tilford, Inc., following reports this company would transfer to shareholders a part of its whisky inventory at cost. The stock soared $8.62 to a closing price of $66.25.

Steels, Motors Steady.

Steels, motors, and most other key groups showed small variations. Union Pacific, the preferred stocks of Alleghany corporation, Pepsi-Cola, Oliver Farm, and American Sugar registered advances ranging from fractions to 2½ points. Sears Roebuck and J. C. Penney dropped a point or more.

Of 807 stocks traded, 302 advanced, 281 declined, and 224 were unchanged. The Associated Press 60 stock composite, reflecting the selective strength of rails, was up .1 of a point at 48.9, and the industrial and utility averages were unchanged. Dealings totaled 664,130 shares, compared with 683,070 Tuesday.

CHICAGO STOCKS DOWN.

Price changes were mostly downward again yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange, with some increase in activity. Most volume leaders, however, were firm. Chicago corporation, Midland Utilities 7 per cent prior lien, and Wisconsin Bankshares were unchanged, and Potter company was up ⅛. Miller & Hart lost a small fraction. Alfred Decker & Cohn sold at a new high for the year.

CATTLE 'CEILING' TOPPED IN SALE OF BEST STEERS

Top grades of steers yesterday sold at $17 a hundred pounds in the Chicago stock yards, $1 above the "ceiling" established by the government in its new cattle price control program which became effective yesterday. The "approved" price range for choice cattle is $15 to $16, altho under the complicated arrangement it is possible for packers to pay well above this level and protect their government subsidies by paying below the "floors" in others.

Conditions in the hog market were unchanged. Packers bought what hogs they could handle at steady prices and left about 9,000 in farmers' hands at the close. All except the best 230 to 270 pounders sold well below the $13.75 floor.

Strong to 15 cent higher prices were paid for most lambs.

URGES GRANTING AIR PERMITS ON 'SERVICE' BASIS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines, asserted today the civil aeronautics board should be governed exclusively by an air line's ability to provide superior public service in granting additional air routes. A witness at a CAB hearing on applications by Eastern and five other air lines for new routes in the midwest and south, Rickenbacker read from a prepared statement:

"When a new route is under consideration between two or more cities, we believe the first inquiry should be: What carrier can render the service best suited to the public need?

"We have never felt the board could lawfully override or disregard the right of the public to service best adapted to its needs in order to favor the private ambitions of either a large carrier or a small one."

Dairy Man Assails New Deal Flouting of Economic Laws

The sharing of scarcity—"a sparerib economy"—will not give the American public more dairy products or meat, Owen M. Richards, general manager of the American Dairy association, told members of the American Butter institute yesterday in the La Salle hotel.

"The basic business law of supply and demand so essential to the American way of doing business is locked up for the duration," Richards asserted. "Instead of production to meet demand, we have today the economic philosophy of 'sharing scarcity.'

Assails "Sparerib Economy."

"We can't have more butter, more beef, more cheese, more eggs, more milk, and the various products processed from these foods thru distribution of scarcity. Price ceilings may be a wedge against inflation, but not a solution of shortage. Rationing may equalize distribution, but it can lead only to sharing scarcity—a sparerib economy that is out of keeping with the American way of doing business."

The butter industry was advised by Richards to protect its trade names, retailer relationship, and public acceptance of its products in planning for after the war.

Larger Supplies Needed.

The country can use a far larger quantity of butter and milk products than is being produced, N. R. Clark, vice president of Swift & Co., declared. He asked that every one help the producer "make the most of the tools we all have and strive to see that he gets a fair return for his efforts."

Lt. Robert J. Remaley, subsistance laboratory, quartermaster depot, appealed for the development of a butter spread for the army which would withstand tropic heat and arctic cold from a morale as well as nutrition standpoint. The men fight better when they get butter, he said.

"Unremitting opposition" to the removal of federal controls over the manufacture, sale, and distribution of oleomargarine was pledged in a resolution adopted at the closing session for the "protection of the consuming public from fraud."

War Workers Bid for Rare Art Objects

War workers with overtime dollars in their pockets are bidding for expensive art objects, proprietors of several large Chicago art galleries said yesterday.

One dealer asserted that increasing numbers of persons who had not previously patronized his gallery "are sauntering in to buy rare paintings, fine china, porcelains, and glassware, choice silver, and antique furniture." He said these buyers "purchase whatever strikes their fancy and do not quibble about price."

Pays Cash for Rare Set.

The dealer told of a denim clad customer who recently bought an 83 piece English service set, made in 1872, for which "he paid $850 cash without batting an eye." The dealer confided that the set had been "around the gallery for seven or eight years."

Dealers agreed that because the war in Europe has dried up sources of many kinds of art objects and because a surplus of war dollars has opened up a new consumer market for these items, demand is far in excess of supply. They said that consignments from private collections constitute their principal supply.

Increased luxury taxes and the "influx of refugee money in the New York market" was reported to have boosted prices on rare paintings, statuary, and silver to levels that "are much higher than they were during the peak prosperity years of the '20s."

Many Items Getting Scarce.

Among art items that are getting scarce, dealers said, are imported silver, china, porcelain, prints, and statuary from France, Bavaria, England, and the Balkans. Contemporary American paintings are holding at about the same price as a year ago, they said.

The proprietor of one large Chicago gallery said: "I am trying to hold prices to levels that our established customers have a right to expect," He added, however, that altho prices on many objects of art are not yet prohibitive, they are likely to become so as demand exceeds supply."

WAR SPENDING SETS $229,800,000 DAILY PEAK IN NOVEMBER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—War spending set a new peak of $7,794,000,000 in November, the war production board reported today, an increase of nearly 10 per cent above October outlays. The average daily expenditure was $299,800,000, based on the 26 days of the month on which the treasury cleared checks.

November's record spending brought the total for war purposes to 146 billion since the beginning of the "defense" program July 1, 1940. Fifty-three per cent of the total, or 78 billion, was spent in 1943 alone. The figures cover checks cleared by the treasury and payable from war appropriations, together with war outlays by the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries.

PAWNSHOPS REPORT LOAN VOLUME CUT AS JOBS AND WAGES RISE

Pawnshop lending has decreased because of increased employment and higher wages, and the traditional "hockers" still do most of the borrowing, a survey of Chicago pawnbrokers disclosed yesterday.

Service men do only a small percentage of the pledging and in most instances are quick redeemers. They usually borrow on week-ends, leaving a watch or ring to secure loans of $5 to $25.

Loans to all types of customers have dropped 40 to 75 per cent from pre-war days. One shop which ordinarily made at least 100 loans a day now makes about 15, it reported.

Reductions in the loan business have been offset by increased sales of unredeemed merchandise and items purchased thru other sources, such as auction sales. This business has increased 25 to 50 per cent, with one proprietor reporting a 300 per cent increase.

From 90 to 97 per cent of all items pledged are redeemed, compared with only 60 to 70 per cent before the war, it was said.

ICC TURNS DOWN C. & O. PLAN FOR STOCK DIVIDEND

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—The interstate commerce commission today denied the Chesapeake and Ohio railway permission to issue $76,573,700 in preferred stock as a dividend to its common stockholders. The ICC said the railroad would not have the required surplus remaining uncapitalized should the preference stock be issued.

The commission also said the proposed capitalization of surplus in preferred stock for distribution as a dividend on common stock was not "necessary or appropriate."

The commission said it had consistently held that a substantial surplus should remain uncapitalized to support the applicant's credit, provide for emergency needs, offset obsolescence and necessary investments in nonrevenue producing property and serve as a general financial balance wheel.

Meanwhile, in Cleveland the C. & O. directors declared an extra dividend of 50 cents a share on common stock.

Small Firms to Share War Contracts Sought

Big Chicago area war contractors continue to seek smaller companies with which to share their business, D. W. Walters, regional manager of the Smaller War Plants corporation, said yesterday. "This office can quickly find firms to make parts under subcontracting agreements," he said. "Many plants have taken advantage of this service in the last few weeks and much work has been spread as the result."

TAFT PROPOSES SUBSIDIES CUT TO 600 MILLION

Would Free Butter, Beef, and Milk.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] sought to break the senate deadlock on food subsidies today thru a compromise bill to eliminate government payments to roll back beef, milk, and butter prices, but retain most other price controls. The Taft amendment, proposing to slash subsidy outlays from their current billion dollars a year level to 600 millions in 1944, was offered formally in the senate after the senate banking committee put off until tomorrow a decisive vote on pending legislation to repeal the entire subsidy program.

Taft expressed belief his proposal might be accepted by a majority of the banking committee, even tho conceding it was unacceptable either to administration price control officials or farm bloc spokesmen.

Purchases in Support.

Under the Taft plan the government would guarantee support prices to farmers on selected commodities to encourage production, and pay subsidies to processors and distributors where otherwise it would be necessary for them to raise retail prices. The guaranteed prices would be supported by direct government purchases where necessary.

"The net effect would be to eliminate the present 200 million a year subsidy on beef and the 200 million milk subsidy in the form of a dairy feed payment to producers," Taft said. "The butter rollback also would be eliminated, but the same purpose could be accomplished thru a supported price.

"Milk might go up a cent a quart, and beef might go up, but generally speaking other prices could be held stable and the effect on the cost of living would be negligible."

Many Subsidies Retained.

Existing subsidies which Taft said would be retained under his plan are those to curtail pork prices, at an estimated cost of 200 million yearly; the 100 million wheat flour payments to control bread prices, and those on soybeans, prunes, and raisins, canned fruits, and vegetables, cheese, dried beans, potatoes, peanuts, sugar beets, truck crops, shortening, and feed wheat.

The Taft bill provides maximum prices established for farm products shall not be below the government support price. If the market price fell below the support price, the government, thru the Commodity Credit corporation, would be authorized to buy for resale to processors.

In its executive session today the banking committee considered the Taft amendment, but took no vote on it. It is to be considered in the reconvened session tomorrow along with a bill by Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] to eliminate subsidies and require upward price adjustments.

Difference in Time.

The Bankhead measure is similar to the house subsidy repealer except that it would permit liquidation of existing subsidies up to June 30, 1944, whereas the house bill would cut off the payments Jan. 1.

Taft said Marvin Jones, war food administrator, and Chester Bowles, price administrator, both had indicated opposition to his proposal in a conference.

COUNCIL BICKERS AS IT HIKES FEES $968,000 A YEAR

Juke Boxes and Currency Exchanges to Pay.

The city council, in a four and a half hour session marked by such bickering as seldom has been heard at a meeting during the administration of Mayor Kelly, yesterday passed ordinances that will raise an estimated $968,000 a year from new and increased license fees.

The ordinances were recommended by the license committee headed by Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski [32d], and those providing fees for the first time for currency exchanges and juke boxes provoked long, acrimonious debate. Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] initiated the most heated clash, however, when he asked permission to discuss a proposed amendment to an ordinance.

Bowler Challenges Duffy.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], an administration spokesman, insisted that Duffy state in writing what he proposed to discuss. Duffy said it concerned a proposal to raise a certain fee from $5 to $10, but gave only the number of the bill.

"Well, what is the bill?" Bowler demanded. "You have got to make it plain what you want to discuss."

"Are we getting Gestapo rule in this council?" Duffy asked. "I want to make a motion to suspend the rules and talk about this ordinance."

When it developed that Duffy proposed to double the fees of bowling alleys—now $5 an alley—Rostenkowski and Ald. John G. Grealis [44th] shouted, "refer it to the license committee," but Duffy was given the floor and he and Bowler debated the proposal. The $10 fee originally was considered by the finance committee subcommittee but no action was taken. Mayor Kelly, who was absent from the meeting, is reported to have opposed the heavier tax.

Bowling Alleys Unchanged.

Later Duffy sought the floor again and when Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [42d], who presided in the mayor's absence, asked if Duffy would waive a roll call vote, he said:

"I agree I'm stymied. The only reason I am not asking for a roll call is because I don't want to put my colleagues on record."

On a voice vote, with Bowler's "No" rolling out over a loudspeaker, Duffy's request for the floor was defeated and the council then voted 28 to 10 to leave the fee at $5.

The debate over the fee for juke boxes, finally fixed at $50 a box, featured Grealis, who charged they were responsible for much juvenile delinquency and should be taxed heavily, and Ald. Frank O. Hilburn [47th], who asserted a $50 tax on the boxes was unfair and unreasonable in view of the $20 tax on motion picture coin machines.

Ald. Joseph F. Ropa [21st] said he feared the tavern owner and the ice cream parlor proprietor would have to bear the brunt of the tax instead of the box owners, thus squeezing out the little neighborhood businesses, but the ordinance passed 29 to 15.

CHARGES KELLY SCARES SURFACE LINES OWNERS

Dr. Harry G. Guthmann, professor of finance at Northwestern university, last night charged that Mayor Kelly was "attempting to sandbag the security holders of the Chicago Surface Lines" in his effort to bring about municipal ownership of the city's transportation system.

Dr. Guthmann spoke at a dinner meeting of the Chicago chapter of the American Statistical association at 57 West Randolph street. He said the mayor had warned surface lines security holders not to bid up the market price of their bonds "because he wants to buy them for the city and does not intend to pay fancy prices."

He urged immediate separate reorganization of the surface lines and elevated properties. "To hold these properties in receivership longer and keep their securities depressed in value is playing the mayor's game. It is immoral for the city to attempt to rob investors for the benefit of a municipality," he said.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Raymond W. Carr, 1016 17th street, Parkersburg, W. Va.]

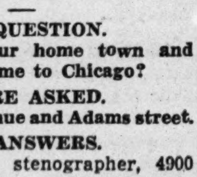
THE QUESTION.

Where is your home town and why did you come to Chicago?

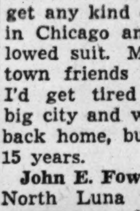
WHERE ASKED.

Michigan avenue and Adams street.

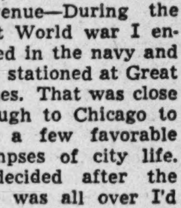
THE ANSWERS.



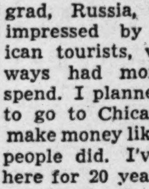
Irma Jansen, stenographer, 4900 Blackstone avenue—My younger sister was the trail blazer in our family. She left Kankakee to get any kind of a job in Chicago and I followed suit. My home town friends thought I'd get tired of the big city and would be back home, but I've been here for 15 years.



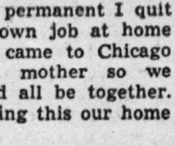
John E. Fowler, mail carrier, 1700 North Luna avenue—During the first World war I enlisted in the navy and was stationed at Great Lakes. That was close enough to Chicago to get a few favorable glimpses of city life. I decided after the war was all over I'd leave Baraboo, Wis., and make Chicago my home.



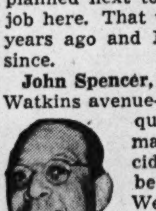
Nick Bezroukoff, barber, 1021 North Richmond street—When I was living in Stalingrad, Russia, I was impressed by American tourists, who always had money to spend. I planned then to go to Chicago and make money like those people did. I've been here for 20 years now and am still working hard at my first ambition.



Virginia Douglas, 2656 East 73d street—About two years ago my father was transferred from New Canaan, Conn., to this city. As soon as I knew his job was permanent I quit my own job at home and came to Chicago with mother so we could all be together. We'll soon be calling this our home town.



Seva Fofi, clerk, 1648 Juneway terrace—The first time I came to Chicago I came only to visit. When I went back to my small home town, La Salle, it seemed deserted and I longed for the city life again. I planned next to get a job here. That was 14 years ago and I've been here ever since.



John Spencer, demonstrator, 11436 Watkins avenue—I was singing in a quartet when the right man heard us and decided that we should be singing over W-G-N. We came to Chicago then and for six years we were on the air. We liked the city from the very beginning and decided it was the place for us. So here we are.

EXPERTS PUZZLE OVER DECLINE IN TRACTION FARES

Fewer Persons Ride Street Cars and L.

Something strange and unaccounted for has occurred in Chicago's traction affairs.

So far in December, the elevated and surface lines have carried fewer passengers than they carried in the first 14 days of December, 1942. This is regarded as particularly difficult to explain in the case of the "L," which picked up 40,000 rides a day when the subway went into operation on Oct. 17.

Feel Effects of Rationing.

Harry Roberts, engineer for the elevated lines, said a big "bulge" in traffic occurred when gasoline rationing went into effect on Dec. 1 last year. Later this flattened out so that the average increase in revenue fares was about 4 per cent above 1942. The subway added about 4 or 5 per cent more.

"We still are handling more than 500,000 passengers a day," Roberts said. "We don't know why no increase came this month."

E. J. McIlrath, staff engineer for the surface lines, said there is no data on which to interpret the December figures, but that some routes showed a definite decline in patronage.

Other Answers Offered.

Others guessed at reasons for the current drop. Among possibilities suggested were that group riding plans may have diverted many to auto riding; that Christmas shopping may have been done earlier this year; that there may have been shifts in employment from territory served by mass transportation to areas served best by cars, and that the draft may have taken many riders.

RECEIVER BIDS IN 3 HOTELS TO SETTLE TAXES

Final action on a settlement of the delinquent tax bill of the Lott Hotels, Inc., was completed yesterday when Byron Cain, receiver of the properties, bid them in for a group of bondholders with a check for $550,000. The Parkway, Belden-Stratford, and Webster, all on the north side, are the hotels.

The period of tax delinquency was from 1928 thru 1940, and the payment represented about 55 per cent of the unpaid principal of the tax.

Emil F. Meier, counsel for Cain, said that under a provision of the agreed foreclosure 1941 taxes had been paid in full and those for 1942 would be cleared in a few days. He added that the properties probably would be taken out of a federal District court receivership in the next three months.

SERVICE CLUBS TO BE CENTERS OF YULE CHEER

Soldiers and sailors away from home at Christmas will find a "home" in the Chicago and north shore service clubs, where every effort will be made to provide holiday hospitality thru a series of parties that will begin this week-end and reach a climax with turkey dinners Christmas day.

The three Chicago servicemen centers and the United Service organization's center at 131 South Wabash avenue will remain open all night Christmas eve and parties and dinners are planned at Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes naval station.

Mrs. Edward J. Kelly yesterday announced the Christmas plans for the service centers at 176 West Washington street, 430 South Michigan avenue, and 50 East 49th street would begin with a preview of Sonja Henie's 1944 Hollywood Ice revue at the stadium Christmas eve. A full house of 21,300 men and women in uniform will be entertained with Mayor and Mrs. Kelly as hosts.

Dinner at All Hours.

After the show, acts from cafes and clubs will entertain at the loop centers until early morning. Christmas dinner will be ready for the asking from 9 a. m. Christmas day until midnight. The Garden Clubs of Illinois will furnish Yule trees fashioned o ftin cans which can be salvaged later.

There will be gifts for every one, Mrs. Kelly said yesterday that 100,000 are needed and donors may leave them at 430 South Michigan avenue where expert wrappers will decorate them.

At the Fort Sheridan reception center it was announced yesterday that no men will be received on Dec. 24, 25 or 26. Men inducted on those days may stay home. Col. John T. Rhett, post commander, has declared the day a holiday and many men will be granted 36 hour passes.

At the fort Christmas stockings will be passed out at the noon meal Dec. 22. Parties are planned thruout next week. There will be midnight mass in the Catholic chapel Christmas eve and a pageant in the Protestant chapels. All will have services Dec. 25.

Great Lakes Program.

At Great Lakes naval training station festivities begin with a children's party in Ross auditorium Dec. 22. On Christmas day turkey dinner will be ready at 11:30 a. m., with portions unlimited. Mess halls will remain open all afternoon for men to return for "snacks."

All enlisted men and WAVES on the station will receive two "flat fifties" of cigarets and candy. There will be music and caroling Christmas eve and special church service Christmas day.

At the U. S. O. at 1142 South Wabash avenue Christmas parties are scheduled for Dec. 19, 21, 23, 24 and 25. At 131 South Wabash there will be parties Dec. 22, 23 and all night Christmas eve. The Midway center will have events on Dec. 19 and 26 from 3 to 9 p. m. in Ida Noyes hall. There will be a Christmas day party at 203 North Wabash avenue. All centers will have gifts for the men.

Volunteers Help Set Stage.

At the clubs along the north shore—Waukegan, North Chicago, Highwood and Highland Park—service men are participating in the Christmas preparations by helping with the decorating and other chores. Some of those clubs have overnight sleeping facilities which will be used Christmas eve.

All centers report many volunteers who have requested the privilege of working Christmas. At Fort Sheridan there were more invitations to Christmas dinner in private homes than men to fill them.

SEND 5,000 NEW 'ADOPT A YANK' LISTS IN MAIL

The names or numbers of about 5,000 sick, injured, or wounded service men and women were sent out yesterday by THE TRIBUNE'S Adopt a Yank in Sick Bay editor to Tribune readers who have "adopted" Yanks for Christmas and undertaken to provide them with gifts. This was the second day of large scale mailing. Readers who have registered in the campaign and have not yet received the names of their Yanks are asked to be patient for a few more days.

Thru this campaign, made possible by the generosity of Tribune readers, thousands of men and women in the army, navy, merchant marine, and veterans' hospitals of the middle west will be heartened at Christmas by remembrances from persons who are strangers to them but who are sensible of the debt of gratitude civilians owe to the fighting forces.

Readers who receive the names of men or women in veterans' hospitals may be puzzled by the occasional appearance of articles of clothing on the patients' gift lists. It is civilian clothing these people want. They will not be returning to service.

EXPECT $350,000 CUT IN PAY ROLL FOR FEE OFFICES

Circuit court judges, meeting today to determine the number of employes to be retained in the 13 county fee offices during the coming year, are expected to make some substantial reductions.

The court's committee on help, composed of Judges John Prystalski, Dennis J. Normoyle, and Julius H. Miner, is reported ready to recommend reductions in personnel to pare more than $350,000 from county pay rolls. One of the biggest cuts is expected to affect the county highway police force, now composed of 178 persons. This figure may be halved.

Divisions of the county government supervised entirely by the county board have requested $13,889,000 for next year, compared with $11,341,000 budgeted this year.

ONE DAY BUS STRIKE ENDED; SERVICE IN 8 SUBURBS IS RESUMED

A bus drivers' strike, which left war workers and school pupils of eight west and northwest suburbs without service in zero weather, was settled last night and regular transportation schedules were resumed immediately. Thirty drivers of the Leyden Motor Coach company, Franklin Park, had walked out at 5 a. m. and tied up 21 buses during the day while the company and the drivers' union were deadlocked over a contract disagreement.

An agreement was reached and the strike terminated after William G. Murray, United States conciliation service commissioner, intervened. C. Norman Elsy, president and general manager of the company, said the company agreed to accept the contract proposed by local No. 1260, Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America [AFL]. When it expires Feb. 15, a new contract will be negotiated and will contain an arbitration clause offered by the union. The company sought a year's contract beginning yesterday, Elsy said.

The strike affected service in Franklin Park, Elmwood Park, River Grove, Schiller Park, Elmhurst, Bensenville, Itasca, and Wooddale. Special routes transport workers to the Douglas Aircraft company plant and the Buick aviation engine plant.

"I GOT MY START LAST CHRISTMAS," SAYS SUE . . .

"I was so anxious to get started in the right job when I graduated," said Sue. "I had heard a great deal about the opportunity offered at Montgomery Ward and during my Christmas vacation I decided to have a talk with them . . . and I did."

"From a friendly Ward interviewer I learned about the many advancements that you could get . . . learned that Wards pay the HIGHEST STARTING salaries for comparable work in CHICAGO and that wage increases were regular. I was thrilled to learn that Wards would willingly train me at FULL PAY and I could start the day after I graduated."

"You can do this, too," says Sue. . . . "Why not go down this vacation yourself and find out about the many openings."
